Tomokan 1989

Transformations

Country Club

ROLLINS COLLEGE
FIAT LUX
WINTER PARK, FLA.
MDCCCLXXXV

Tennis Anyone? Matt Rose walks back to his room in Ward Hall after a long team practice at the new Martin Tennis Complex. Photo by W. Carney

CONTENTS

Opening ..... 2
Campus Life ..... 8
.....272
Fall Sports..... 32
Organizations..... 64
Underclassmen .....132
Seniors .....176
Faculty / Staff .....206
Spring Sports.....240
Closing.....288

Transformations

With new social awareness, students were

Making the Effort

"People are just a little bit more considerate to others, a little bit more conscious of others, and a little bit more willing to admit that these problems exist. When I was a freshman and a new Phi Delt pledge, I couldn't go in to an X-Club party. It would start out as a whisper, a quiet chant until finally everyone was screaming, "No Delts! No Delts!" over and over again until we left. Now that stuff doesn't happen," said Keith Finney. With the Summit came a new wave of openness about the social quirks in student life that before were evident, but not acknowledged, much more than in private confidence. The problems accounted for a 44 percent attrition rate that was quite out of place in a physically beautiful and academically stern institution. Although drastic changes in student life and attitude were not apparent, the general feeling was that the tide was changing for the better.

"Rollins has made great strides this year towards a better social environment for students, but we need more cooperation and interest from the faculty and administration to make this a more pleasant place to go to school," said Cameron Forbes. "When it comes to faculty and students, you get judged on their preconceived ideas and notions. It's getting a little better, but we have a long way to go from here."

Tori Bonnelli said, "People didn't want to admit that they were excited by the Summit. They can be very proud; they tell themselves they don't care about the social life here so they don't have to deal with it, but they do care. They want to make a contribution and it's beginning to show."

PssssT! Student Government representatives Woody Nash and Gene Ramsey quietly confer during an S. G. A. meeting after the freshman elections at the beginning of the year. Photo by W. Carney

Gator bait Tim Barney lifts the sail of a sailboard and heads toward the bank of Lake Virginia. Sunfish and sailboards were available for student use provided that the student proved that they were able to swim. Photo by J. Sloan

Horsing around Marlynn Cone gets a piggy back ride to the bookstore from her boyfriend Steve Mortimer. Photo by H. Hughes

Please send money Bill Kinney, Lynn Coletti, and Ann Smith read over their mail in back of the Mills building after lunch. Photo by H. Hughes

No class inside Dan Getschow walks with his buddy Steve Ferruci behind McKean Hall to Ferruci's class at the boathouse. Photo by J. Sloan

Playing for a grade Students wait on the dock behind Ward Hall on Lake Virginia for the waterskiing instructor's boat. Waterskiing was offered as a physical education class. Photo by J. Sloan

Stern! No waves today dude! Mark Campbell throws a frisbee across Mills lawn to Tom Fiersten. Students were often out on the lawn throwing around a frisbee or a football. Photo J. Sloan

Three pairs of loafers Members of the Housing Review Board, Christine Faas, Tom Curran, Steve Eckna, and Chris Heckscher, sit in on an S. G. A. meeting. Photo by W. Carney

Where's the cafe? Mike Dicembre, Nina Turpin, Greg Mann, and Kim Peterson look over a program for the dedication of the new Cornell building. Photo by W. Carney

Fitting in anywhere, it's all

Coming Together

"The school is still in a transitional stage socially. There are keg parties now, but people are getting involved and doing other things to a greater extent. They are finding out that the non-alcohol functions are a lot of fun too, " said Eva Davis. It wasn't difficult to see the increase in school sponsored activities that did not revolve around beer, though it was still a large part of the scene. At the parties and activities there was a new feeling of unity and camraderie.

"It seems like it's a larger group of people mingling at the parties. It isn't as cliquey as it used to be," said Julie Sloan. "For example, you used to never see Phi Delts and Clubbers hanging out." At the same time the barriers between Greek and independent students fizzled away.

"There's a great deal more student participation in functions than in previous years altogether," said Jackie Colross. "To take it one step further, Greeks and independents were at all of these functions together mixing comfortably and enjoying themselves." With more all campus activities and support for them coming from all directions, the social scene as a result of the Summit opened up and variety moved in.

Kick back and relax Jennifer Rhodes, Laura Jones, and John Pickorny sit on the patio behind the Student Center listening to the band at the St. Patrick's Day party. Photo by W. Carney

867-5309 Jeff Scarlatta makes a call for pizza from the courtesy phone by Orlando Hall. Photo by H. Hughes

Hot sun, cool water Steve Kendell coasts past the boathouse on Lake Virginia with basketball teammates Todd Murphy and Terry North. Rollins had boats available to students for recreational use. Photo J. Sloan

Beyond the red door Like their counterparts up the road, X-Club, Sig-Ep's are often seen hanging around on the front deck of Chase Hall talking and cutting up. Photo by J. Sloan

Finding team play and fellowship important and

Getting Involved

"After the Summit people became more aware of the importance of the student activities offered on campus. Being involved is a necessary learning tool. When I came here, people were a little apathetic, and they still are to a certain extent, but things are starting to swing the other way. Rollins is a good school, with good people and a good reputation, but they need to get out there and interact more than just when they're intoxicated, I think they are starting to realize this," said Louis Ross. Most organizations before were trying to run with a few people doing all the work. Lately, they have felt an increase in participation from the students.

"I've seen much more attendance at the basketball games this year," said Gus Ramsey. "Men's intermurals had excellent support, though the women were just average." From the yearbook, to the Greek system, to the sports programs, and especially in the new groups created, everyone was feeling the rush.

It's better in the Bahamas Chi Psi representatives, Cesar Crespo and Cedric Gaskin, listen skeptically to the business of the day at an S. G. A. meeting in the Mills Galloway Room. Photo by W. Carney

Campus Life

With Rollins ranked as a top-ten college by Time, Newsweek, and other publications, academics has become more important to both students and administrators. But college is college, and social life is just as, if not sometimes more, important than studying. Rollins students enjoy the unique privilege of year-round balmy temperatures and proximity to beaches and lakes. Although the theme of the 1989 Tomakan is Transformations, one thing will always remain the same here: Fiat Lux sometimes still means, "Blow it off!"

No fake bake, this is Florida Lissa Pyfrom, Kim Peterson, Amber Werny, and Noelle Neilson spend a weekday afternoon in the grandstand beside the pool laying out in the sun. Photo by H. Hughes

Transformations

Cracking the Books

INSIDE, ANYWHERE

If studying were dropped from a student's list of things to do, there probably woudn't be too many complaints. However, as that wasn't likely to be a part of the changes due to the Summit, students found a few ways to make the situation a little more pleasant. Pool side, lake side, dorm rooms, or the library were spots of choice. The fourth floor of the Olin Library, having the usual tables and carrels, featured a multi-level pillow room and a fifth story tower room. "The fourth floor is a place where I can go and really concentrate on my work," said Brian White. Large pillows on wide carpeted steps let students cat-nap while the windows in the tower offered a 360 degree bird's- eye view of campus.

"When I go to the library, I go to the second floor or the basement," said Laurel Zepp. "It's just far enough away from the noise of the main floor. Generally, I do most of my studying in my room because I have a single." Everyone found their own place to study.

Study session M Kevin Luck takes advantage of a bench at the new Cornell Social Science building to do a little homework. Photo by H. Hughes

Last minute rush Gretchen Miller does some quick reviewing between classes at a table on the patio behind the old Student Center. Photo by H. Hughes

Off campus hours Lisa Feola and Stella Scodnik study on the steps of the off-campus student's lounge in back of the Mills building. Photo by H. Hughes

Olin what? Doug Lubin, in the classic Rollins manner, works on his books while he works on his tan at the Alfond pool. Photo by S. Sloan

Time out In the all too comfortable pillowroom on the fourth floor of the Olin Library, Dave Carpenter takes a break from his environmental studies reading. Photo by H. Hughes

Isn't it cool in pink Preferring to drink from her own cup, preventing too many trips to the Carlsberg truck, Julie Sloan raises her glass and supports Students Against Multiple Sclerosis. Photo by W. Carney

St. Patrick's Day Tim Broderson, David Rotenberg, and John Amos take advantage of the fifty-cent Carlsberg beers at the party sponsored by S. A. M. S. Photo by W. Carney

Me and Bobby McGee Good Karma, a band composed of Rollins students, was one of the featured groups at the S. A. M. S. St. Patrick's Day benefit. Photo by W. Carney

Parties, Fun in the Sun

OCTOBERFEST, PATTY'S DAY

Posters around campus announced half-priced hair cuts, nickel beers, or guest speakers regularly, but the signs that received the best response were for all campus parties. The Interfraternity Council sponsored an Octoberfest, Students Against Multiple Sclerosis sponsored a 46 keg St. Patrick's Day bash, and other various open parties were held. "Octoberfest was a great time because there was good food, good music, a lot of beer, and a lot of people," said Andy Holman. "I liked the fact that it was away from campus at the baseball field. A really good turn out continued all afternoon and into the night. Unfortunately, the beer ran out, but they went and got more."

Cedric Gaskin said of a normal weekend, "You can't figure out who's partying or who isn't. Some parties are closed and it's just stupid. The all campus parties need to be more constant, not just a sporadic thing. Every weekend needs at least one all campus party even if the Greeks have to get together to do it!"

Cookie break At the Fun in the Sun party out on the Sandspur field, Cliff Reeves takes time out from his frisbee to have a snack. Photo by W. Carney

Just a moment On top of the grand stand by the Alfond pool, Lisa Huffman watches the windsurfers in the distance on Lake Virginia. Photo by H. Hughes

Daily laps Jill Wood and Kim Steinberg chat on the side of the pool before jumping in. Photo by H.Hughes

Sun Rent, Pool Bound

NO CLASS — KIDS WERE

"It's where all the intelligent people go," said Kevin Kapusta. The one place on campus that drew students from all directions was the pool. On a good day, Florida's hot sun, warm breezes, and cool waters were irresistable.

"It's a place to go to catch the rays and escape the everyday routine of classes," said Chris Brooke. After a wild, crazy night, the pool was the perfect place to drag a tired body to and crash. The dedicated were out there kicking laps while other students caught up on the gossip of the night before or studied.

The die-hard sun junkies spent most weekends and any other free hours basking in the rays working on that perfect bronze. "The pool is the only place to really relax on campus. When I'm there, I'm glad that I went to school in Florida," said Donna Brinkman.

Though it was possible to lay out almost all year long, some students rarely set foot on the pool deck, choosing to take their sun elsewhere. "I really never go. I only went a couple times over Spring Break and even then it was to swim," said Gina Paduano. Whether entertaining visiting friends from the North or just looking for something to do and someone to chat with, on a good day there was alays a crowd at the pool.

Killing Time David Cookson leans over the rail to talk to friends on the top of the grandstand at the pool. Photo by H. Hughes

Sun Study Karen Weingold studies and suns beside the pool with a view of Lake Virginia. Photo by J. Sloan

Half in, half out Rod Armstrong dangles his feet while sitting on the edge of the pool talking to Steve Appell, who preferred to stay in the water. Photo by J. Sloan

It's not just an education "A four year vacation" describes the Rollins career on the back of Dave Morris's t-shirt. Rollins t-shirts like this and others were big sellers at the bookstore. Photo by J. Sloan

Shades and tails Brett Freeman waits for some friends by the lake side. The pony tail and the Ray-Ban sunglasses were trends on campus among the fashionable males. Photo by J. Sloan

What they wore

Trying for cool or comfort

A barefoot junior from Connecticut wearing a ratty white oxford with sleeves pushed up to her elbows and men's bermudas that hang on her hips, stopping just above her knees stood talking with a freshman dressed to the nines in a navy blue sports jacket, loafers and argyle socks that match his freshly pressed shirt. Strange to a newcomer, but odd combinations like these were seen day in and day out. Although, someone dressed like a "granola" one day might have turned up the next day like a Ralph Lauren poster child, with shops like Gap, Ann Taylor, the Limited Express, Ralph Lauren and the multitude of small specialty shops all along Park Avenue within five minutes from campus it was easy to guess what sort of cuts and colors would walk into the classrooms.

T-shirts reigned King. Whether beer logos, or vacation spots, Greek letters or tie-dyed, white or multi-colored, t-shirts were the threads of choice seen on even the most persnickety of dressers at times.

Do you have a license for that thing? Robert Hartley stops to talk for a moment while on his way to his next class across campus. Photo by A. Abril.

Inside the cause A key particular of the Student Life Summit was increased faculty involvement with the students. Photo by A. Abril.

Under the big top Michele Artiles, Gregg Mann, Phil Zeiss and Brad Neifus crowd around in front of the stage for lack of seating due to the generous turn out. Photo by A. Abril.

Don't worry, be happy With a break for lunch, sun and a minute's rest, President Seymour relaxes on the lawn with a few colleagues. Photo by A. Abril.

Where's the party? A few Phi Delts take their batches of balloons to the tent on Mills lawn to release them at the closing of the Summit. Photo by A. Abril.

Theta Theta Kappa Later on in the day, Tawn and Britt Larson and Deb Ralton sit through the student presentations under the tent on Mills lawn. Photo by A. Abril.

Student Life Summit

Faculty, students and staff together for the

Food, fun, faculty, living area, playing space, breathing room, study time, snots, geeks, jocks, throw it all into a mold spelling Rollins. One bright September day almost one hundred faculty members and seven to eight hundred students gathered on the lawn in front of the Mills Memorial Center under a giant tent to openly debate student life issues creating ill feeling and contributing to a forty-four percent attrition rate. While some problems were more significant than others to this or that group, each obstacle to a healthy social environment was handled with sincerity and dedication, not kid gloves. Those who attended wanted to see things changed for the better.

Before breaking down into ten small groups for the day, participants listened to opening remarks from President Thaddeus Seymour, Dean Steve Neilson, Dean David Erdman, Judy Provost and Dr. Hoyt Edge. Assembled in rooms all over campus, the groups discussed aspects from alcohol abuse, to dormitory conditions, to the dating scene. At lunch time everyone met back at the tent to listen to guest speaker Dr. David Warren of Ohio Wesleyan University, who, five years earlier, had similar problems and experiences at O.W.U.

The group's conclusions and ideas were reviewed by a committee comprised of student, faculty, and staff members from the Campus Life Committee and the Student Life Summit Steering Committee. A list of recommendations and suggestions was drawn up specifically addressing the positions of concern taken by Summit attendants. A commission on alcohol was recommended to deal with substance abuse and treatment pro

(continued on page 20)

Just say hello

A step towards community

. . . blems. New residence halls were requested, hoping for small ones with more single rooms and courtesy desks. Refurbishing the halls presently in use was also mentioned. They wanted to give the Student Government Association more independence and power. Faculty/student interaction involved in forming new and revitalizing the already existing student organizations was recommended along with the creation of a position for a Director of Student Organizations and Activities. A College Center was requested, possibly joining together the Mills Center and Rose Skillman Hall. Until then a board to monitor the efficient use of the Student Center and Mills Center was thought necessary. They wanted to revamp the Student Publications Union's policies and procedures, as well as the programming of campus radio station, WPRK. More all-campus events were requested. Encouraging fraternal and independent organizations to meet their goals, and promoting Greek/Independent interaction was felt necessary. They asked for a Student Leadership Program, a review of the bookstore, a review of the Alfond Pool, a review of parking problems that included student input, an Academic Advising Program, a Consumer Board to review suggestions and complaints, computer centers in residence halls and a student on the Board of Trustees. The committee suggested a review of telecommunications, that furniture, lighting, fumigation improvements be made, establishing better procedures for House Associations, better screening for Resident Assistant selection, creating a Floor Council System, more inter-hall competitions, a faculty forum on student issues, increasing communication with off-campus students, efforts to increase school spirit, incentives for participation in intramurals and the erection of a large central billboard or calendar. Other suggestions were moving Difference and Dignity Week to early fall term, a review of the Code of Students Rights and Responsibilities, the establishment of a suggestion and Campus newspaper boxes and a staff day care center, installing change machines, considering transportation options for freshmen, inviting students to departmental me

(continued on page 23)

Cool is the rule Dan Salick and Phil DeAmazola share a mutual joke while watching a couple other students horse around at the Summit. Photo by A. Abril.

That there is mustard Affectionately referred to as Thad, President Seymour lightheartedly talks about his tie with student representatives Woody Hicks and Sam Stark at a reception in the back room of the Beannery. Photo by A. Abril.

Designer student In one of the small group meetings inside the Mills Galloway room, Bill Blass shares his ideas on the social structure with other faculty, staff and students. Photo by A. Abril.

How do you spell relief? Before taking to the stage, Kristen Dellinger lists her group's ideas on improving dorm life and activities through sports and cultural events on campus. Photo by A. Abril.

Down under but not quite Australia Grabbing a snack when Beans is closed, Kim Mazo, Michelle Throm and Joleen Furmen chat and watch T.V. in Down Under. Photo by H. Hughes.

In your face! Freshman Noelle Nielson screams from the sidelines during a home basketball game as Andy Holman makes a fast break. Photo by R. Hartly.

Choice view Graham Kimpton, Jen Jensen, and Stephanie Harris survey the mob at the St. Patrick's Day party. Photo by H. Hughes.

Close to the edge

Bringing the community

. . . etings and opening faculty colloquia to students and staff or changing it to campus colloquia. All of the recommendations and suggestions were aimed at changing student life, hopefully forcing a change in student attitude.

Whether or not the Summit would be a success was entirely up to the students. They were asked to open up, to express themselves without self-consciousness and to extend themselves to the Rollins community, risking whispers and side-ways glances form the cool people more concerned with themselves and their images than the greater good.

The Summit needed to be the pebble that snowballed clearing the air, showing kids that they weren't alone in disliking having to cop an attitude to get by and then uniting them in spirit and action to change things. The first affirmative step taken that day was an agreement by those attending the Summit to put themselves on the line, doing something uncool and uncharacteristic of the old Rollins, and say a simple hello to each other. It was something small, something trivial, bringing them closer to the edge of something great.

Double jeopardy Taking a break from play money and gambling tables, Amber Werny takes a seat on Mike Hernandez and Dan Wolf. Photo by H. Hughes.

Fountain of youth At most parties, there is never a short supply of empty glasses, however, the beer did not always last through the night. Photo by H. Hughes.

Social animal at work Taking advantage of an empty keg, Chase Fergeson has a seat on the house while talking with Emily Janec at a party on the Student Center Patio. Photo by H. Hughes.

Making a come back

After the Summit, kegs were

A Friday night beer meant sticking your hand shoulder deep into a huge trash can full of ice water and fishing around for a can before the feeling left and while the fingers still moved properly. After November 1, kegs were allowed back for Friday and Saturday night affairs, meaning no more ice water, just long lines. While there were always those who found something to complain about, the new policy went over with almost unanimous support from the student body.

The new policy was not a free license to drink as some assumed. Certain rules and regulations were developed for any instance where kegs would be found. First, there could only be four kegs for a single event, and at least two "tapmasters" monitoring the single tap. The tapmaster title was only available to students at least 21 years old who went thorugh a training session given by Campus Safety officials. Tapmasters were supposed to keep an eye on the drinking party-goers, not touching a drop themselves, making sure that those sufficiently intoxicated were not given further service and those without proper I.D. were not served at all.

Kegs received a warm welcome, being less expensive than canned or bottle beer and making much less of a mess to clean up afterwards. Empty or full, they served as impromptu seats at parties or bases for a frisbee keg at afternoon functions. Most importantly they served as concrete proof of an administraiton willing to work with students in the spirit of the Student Life Summit.

But you don't look 27 Skeptically looking over an out of state driver's license, tapmaster Grant Thayer, not seeing a problem, reaches down to pass out a couple of glasses of cold beer. Photo by A. Abril.

First Aid Clowning around at a party in the Phi Mu courtyard, tap master Jackie Colross gives Bill Cowart an upside-down Bud Light. Photo by H. Hughes.

Beach sport of kings Empty kegs don't die, they get moved to the grass for a game of Frisbee Keg. Photo by J. Sloan.

Only 20 pages to go Camped out in the Mills Writing Center, Nicole Hurtwig finishes her term paper on a computer disk. Photo by H. Hughes.

What's happening On their way to lunch, Chris Connelly and Dave Carpenter stop for a moment to check out the notices on the kiosk in front of Beans. Photo by H. Hughes

Chi Psi in the sun Looking over his notes one more time, Brad Cornelius does some last minute cramming on the front patio of the new Cornell Social Sciences building. Photo by H. Hughes.

New sites for old eyes

As the campus gets a mini-facelift

Just as the Summit brought about internal changes, a simple walk around campus showed new places popping up too, for instance the appearance of a great lot of dirt where the Park Avenue building once stood. Renovation and remodeling costing more, they opted to tear it down without definite future plans for the area.

The classes and offices of the old building moved at the end of fall term, calling the new 3.5 million dollar Cornell Social Science building home. A particularly popular new spot in the building was the Cornell Cafe, just off the front entrance. The hours of the cafe were set to accommodate commuting and night students who couldn't always make it to Beans. With only five tables, the cafe offered a quick bite between classes such as coffee, cookies, salads, soups, sandwiches, fruit, juice, doughnuts or bagels and cream cheese.

The Bert Martin Tennis Complex, six courts exclusively for the men's and women's teams, were opened up. Over Spring Break a kiosk for campus information and ticket sales was erected, but not completed, in front of Beans as result of the Summit.

The Court of Champions Keeping up with his game, Dan Selnick hits a ball around with teammate Graham Kimpton one afternon during finals week. Photo by H. Hughes.

The big review

The homeless, the hopeful and the happy

Housing turnovers close to final exams had a good portion of the student body stirred up or at least interested in the turmoil. The actions of a couple of groups on campus raised a ruckus big enough to attract newspaper and television coverage from local media sources.

Some groups were pleased with the decisions made by the Campus Life Committee, comprised of faculty members Pat Polley, Karl Peters, Mary Decker, and Harry Kypraios, Student Government Association Senators Chris Hechsher, Steve Eckna and Christine Faas, and administration representative Diane Whaley. Alpha Tau Omega and Kappa Kappa Gamma were placed in new prime housing. Chi Psi only gave up six rooms while Greenhouse added Pflug to its credit. Chi Omega, Pinehurst and ROC were not even up for review due to commendable behavior from the previous review. Phi Delta Theta and X-Club, on the other hand, both received recommendations from the Committee urging Dean Steve Neilson to move them out of the houses that their organizations had held for years.

The decision to oust Phi Delt and X-Club sparked a flood of appeals and complaints from some students, parents and alumni. Posters were slapped up all over campus and a petition was started, attempting to show student support for the issue. Conflicting stories were flying through the grapevine at lightning speed. The administration, after considering the matter both privately and in forum, stood firmly behind the Committee's decisions.

Sign o' the times Small posters and stickers materialized all over campus on walls, windows and doors in an effort to generate student support. Photos by H. Hughes.

Listening with intent With all the different stories flying around, Shannon Geosler, Liza Smith and Jessica Tate take time out to hear individual opinions from speakers on Mills lawn. Photo by A. Abril.

ROLLINS COLLEGE IT'S NOT DEAD ISSUE!

It's a dog's life. At a housing review gathering on Mills lawn in the early afternoon, Grant Thayer listens to the student and faculty speakers with his walking billboard, Rusty. Photo by A. Abril.

The salad days During one of the meetings in the Mills Galloway room, Dean Steve Neilson and Student Government Vice-President Woody Nash briefly discuss a statement made by the speaker from the floor. Photo by A. Abril.

Say cheese! All the commotion on campus lures local television station, Channel 9 to Mills lawn. Bobby Bowden, one of the day's speakers appeared on the evening news later on. Photo by A. Abril.

In your eyes Having to stay at school because of varsity basketball obligations, Andrews Abril spends time in the dark room with his other hobby, photography. Photo by R. Hartley.

Fosters, Tooheys & VB Accessing available information, Andrew Ross tries to find the major exports of New South Wales for his Australian Economy class while Stephanie Hines watches over his shoulder. Photo by H. Hughes.

Who loves ya baby? Just returned from a year in Paris, Tori Bonelli spends a quiet Winter Term at Rollins, preparing for a presentation on a particular species of owl. Photo by H. Hughes.

Crossfire hurricane In the chaos of late registration, Pete Sieban tries to enroll in a closed economics course. Photo by A. Abril.

The January press

Only one month to cram one course

Christmas vacation was over and second semester hadn't quite begun. It was winter term for the month of January. The students and faculty experienced a term completely different from fall and spring terms. Winter term classes were small for the purpose of discussion. In addition to these unique classes on campus, independent studies, internships and studies abroad were popular choices as well. Alyson Austin spent winter term at the Presidential inauguration in Washington, C.D. "Working for such a short time and learning so much can only be achieved through experiences such as winter term," Austin said. Adventurous off-campus studies varied from year to year. Courses available included an anthropological and cultural study in Mexico, serving in the Third World (a work project experienced in rural Jamaica), USSR 1989 and Education in England to name a few. Visiting faculty from distant places were brought to campus, giving students the opportunity to learn quite unique, international studies without leaving the campus. All in all, in the center of the academic year, the winter term was an essential part of the educational experience.

Expletive deleted Before signing up for a class, Willie Bankhead runs through the required reading for a course at the bookstore. Photo by A. Abril.

FALL SPORTS

The fall and winter proved to be an exciting season for Tar fans — from the installation of lights on the Sandspur to a thrilling overtime victory over Tampa by the basketball team which inspired everyone to flow onto the gym floor cheering wildly, the fans got more than they bargained for this year. Students and faculty showed more support than ever for their teams, and the teams responded by performing their best.

The Men's Soccer team huddles together to discuss strategy for the second half. Photo by W. Carney

Transformations

Soccer

The season for the varsity men's soccer team was characterized by a series of ups and downs. Having lost seven seniors from the previous year's team, the season was going to be a 'rebuilding year' — and this it certainly proved to be.

Notable achievements like the runner-up spot the team earned in the Budweiser Classic Tournament in St. Louis in September and the superb defeat of crosstown rivals UCF in November made the season exciting for both the team and the fans.

A distinctly thrilling change for all was the first ever night game on the Sandspur against Division 1 team University of Jacksonville. The Rollins Tars defeated the opposition 3-1 in front of a near capacity crowd.

The team's thanks and appreciation go to graduating seniors Daegen Duvall, Henry Banda, and co-capatain Mark McKinney for their years of service to the team, together with thanks to Coach Dave Fall and assistant Mike Garvanian for their time and efforts.

(front row L to R): Bubba Scales, Peter Chavannes, Daegan Duvall, Victor Angustia, Chris Dann, Chris Hage, John Gurke, Duncan Birch. (middle row L to R): Simon Illman, Mark McKinney, Pat Howard, Vidar Plaszko, Declan Link, Brad Johnson, Devin Long, Doug Kriska. (back row L to R): Ronnie Meinen, Henry Banda, Gerard Michell, Aaron Kindel, Ted Scheel, David Behrman, Robbie Banker, Colan Vance, Brian Droze.

Daegan Duvall looks for a pass as Doug Kriska dribbles the ball downfield. Photo by A. Abril

Declan Link defends the ball against a Tampa opponent. Photo by A. Abril

The Tars get set for a penalty kick. Photo by E. Janec

John Gurke tells Pete Chavannes to leave his hat on. Photo by E. Janec

Aaron "Superman" Kindel goes for the ball. Photo by A. Abril

High Steppin' — Gerard uses legwork to steal the ball. Photo by A. Abril.

V is for Victory!! Mark McKinney and Devin Long are thrilled with the outcome of the game. Photo by A. Abril

Declan does his Pele imitation! Photo by A. Abril

The Tars are all smiles after a big win over U.C.F.! Photo by A. Abril

What do you mean, we can go home now? Daegen Duvall and Chris Dann can finally relax after a tough game. Photo by A. Abril

I got it — I think! Declan tries to head the ball back to Victor. Photo by A. Abril

Float like a butterfly, sting like a bee, No one can beat the great Hen-ry!! Photo by A. Abril

Look Ma one hand!! Goalie Dave Behrman blocks a shot. Photo by A. Abril

Volleyball

The Volleyball season was another success story. The overall record for the Lady Tars was an impressive 29-12, and under the guidance of first year coach Suzanne Patterson the team finished third in the Sunshine State conference. The Tars opened up the season with a first place finish at the College of Charleston Invitational Tournament and then finished a strong second behind Florida Southern at the Rollins Invitational.

The team lost the talents of four graduating seniors: the quick and smart middle play of Kathy Fields, the southpaw power of Pam Hopkins, the awesome defense and incredible court sense of Donna Konjarvich, and the soft set of Anne Bolling. These players will be missed.

One area which stood out this sense of Donna Konjarevich, and the soft set of Anne Bolling. These players will be missed. team's success and we want to thank them and hope to see them back in the fall.

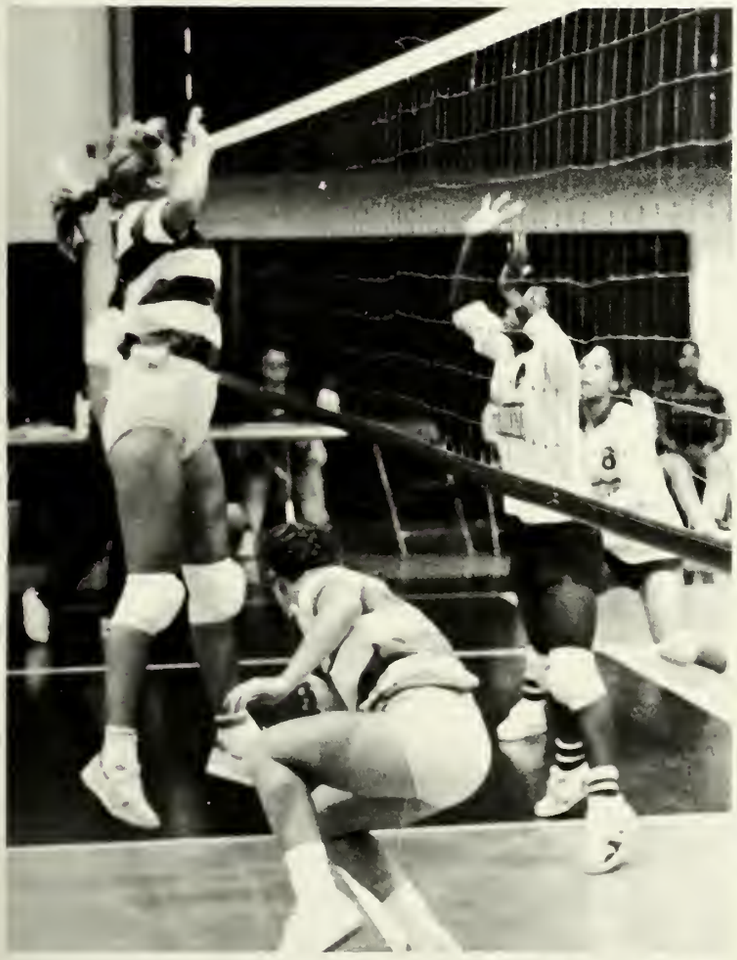
Front (L to R): Anne Bolling, Jolee Johnson, Lynn Koletic, Ellie Collister, Kellee Johnson, Chris Murno. Back Row (L to R): Yatska Aldarondo, Assistant Coach, Donna Konjarevich, Pam Hopkins, Jacci Wozniak, Kathy Fields, Falecia Douglas, Anna Penry, Nicole Wells, Suzanna Patterson, Head Coach.

Anna Penry jumps for joy as Kellee Johnson gets the ball. Photo by A. Abril

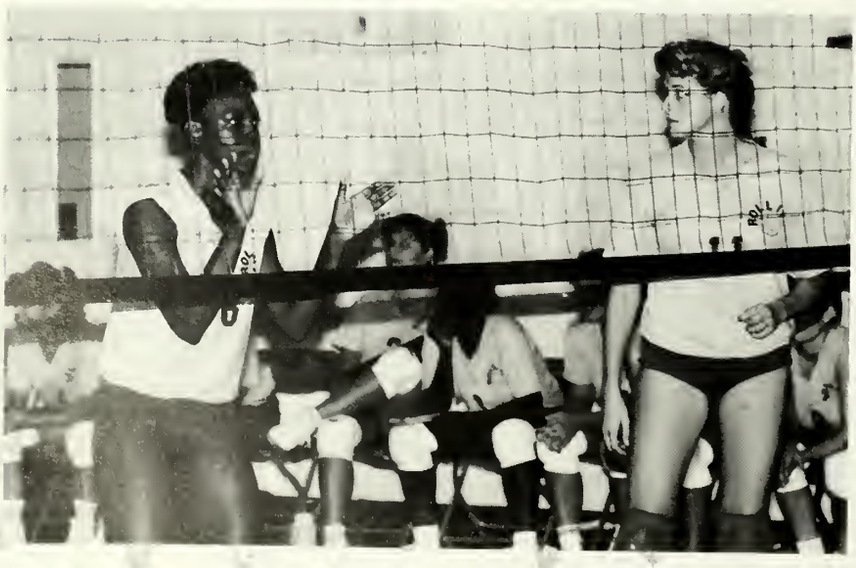


Anne Bolling takes the low road while Jacci Wozniak takes the high road to another victory for the Tars. Photo by A. Abril

Just call me Spike!! Falecia wales on the ball. Photo by A. Abril

Chris Murno and Falecia Douglas anxiously wait for team-mate Jolee Johnson to return the serve. Photo by A. Abril

Jolee shows Falecia (and the Florida Southern team) that she means business when she serves!! Photo by A. Abril



Falecia gets ready for the serve while Kathy Fields looks to the back court for some last minute strategy. Photo by A. Abril

Jacci Wozniak and "Flea" Douglas dive to the floor to prevent a point. Photo by A. Abril

Boom!! Take that Tampa!! Falecia spikes one back. Photo by A. Abril

Jacci Wozniak claims this ball as Anne Bolling cheers her on. Photo by A. Abril

Freshman Anna Penry makes the spike her trademark. Photo by A. Abril

Let's do it!! Falecia Douglas gets ready for the serve. Photo by A. Abril

Anne, Chris, Jacci, and Anna play hard for the match point. Photo by A. Abril

Jacci proves that she can play the back line as well as the net. Photo by A. Abril

Two against one? Don't worry Anna can handle them!! Photo by A. Abril

Women's Basketball

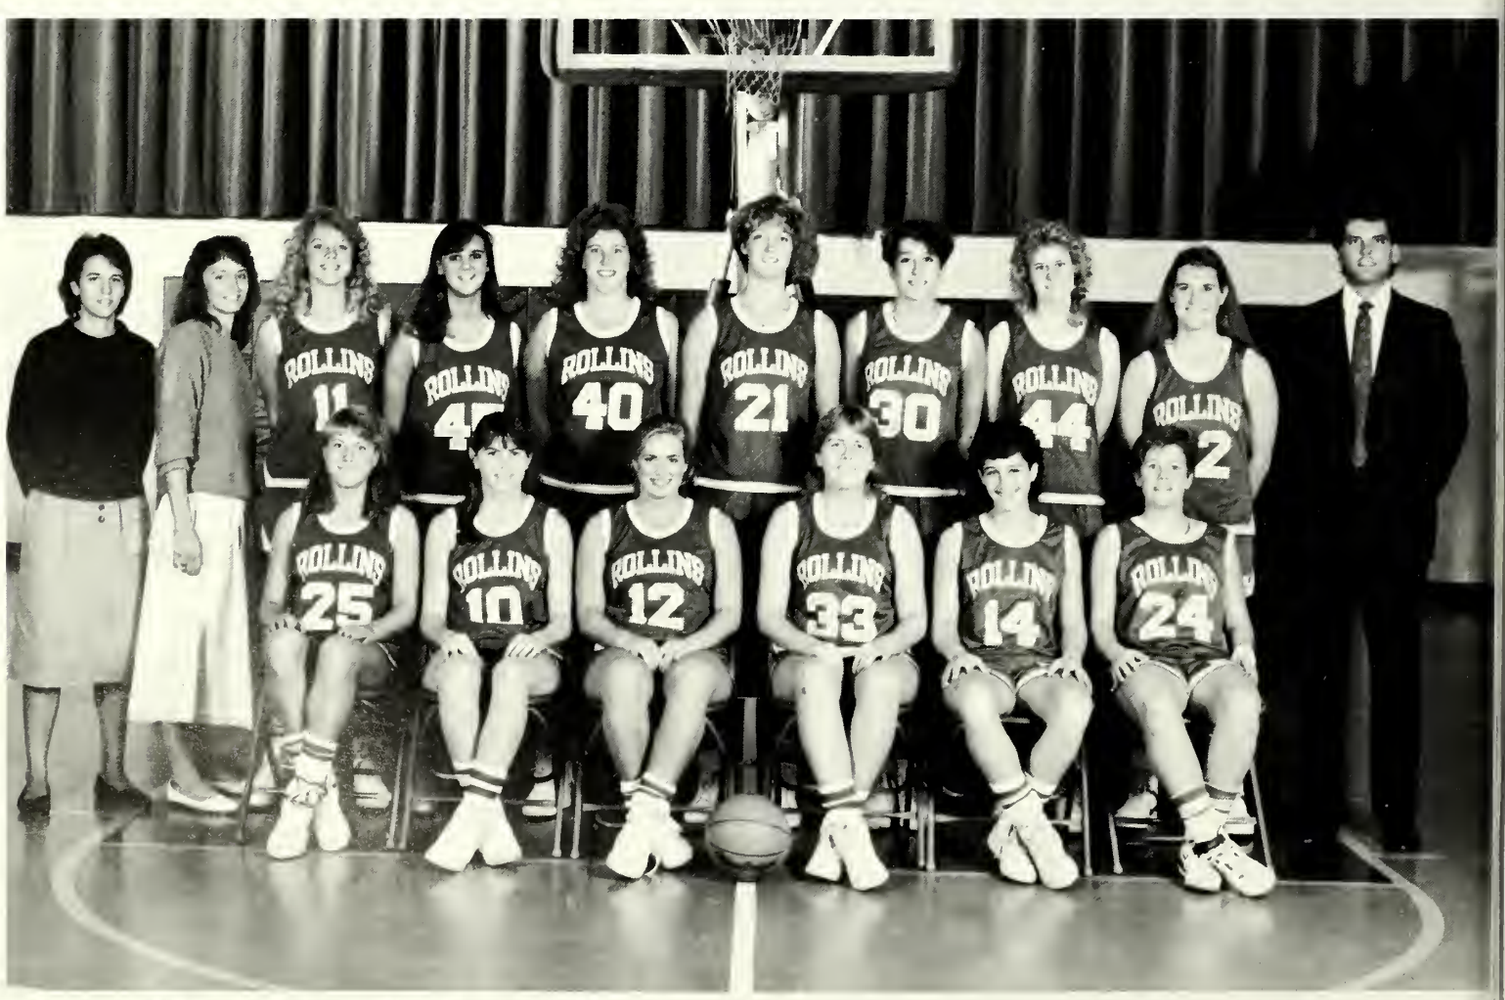
Kim Tayrien, one of the leading scorers for the Lady Tars, displays grace under fire. Photo by A. Abril

Front Row (L to R): Kim Scherer, Jeri Ferree, Kim Erwin, Carissa Andrews, Kathy Warner, Tammy Lewis. Back Row (L to R): Gina Solane, Assistant Coach, Cindy Erhardt, Student Assistant, Doyne Calvert, Leslie Hudson, Kendra Lasher, Kirsten Dellinger, Kim Tayrien, Eileen Tobin, Amy Slappey, Glenn Wilkes, Jr., Head Coach



Rissa gives a victory cheer as she breezes to the basket. Photo by A. Abril

Kim Scherer and Kirsten Dellinger watch as Kendra Lasher navigates her way to the basket. Photo by A. Abril

Kim Tayrien goes up for another two points against Eckerd. Photo by A. Abril

Rissa Andres makes life difficult for teams that take on the Lady Tars! Photo by A. Abril

Kathy, where are you? Rissa looks to her teammates for some help! Photo by A. Abril

Kim manages to make a shot amidst a crowd of defenders while Rissa and Kathy look on. Photo by A. Abril

Senior guard Jeri Ferree shows Eckerd's #25 how it's done!! Photo by A. Abril

Rissa uses some fancy foot work to cruise past her Tri-State opponent. Photo by A. Abril

Men's Basketball

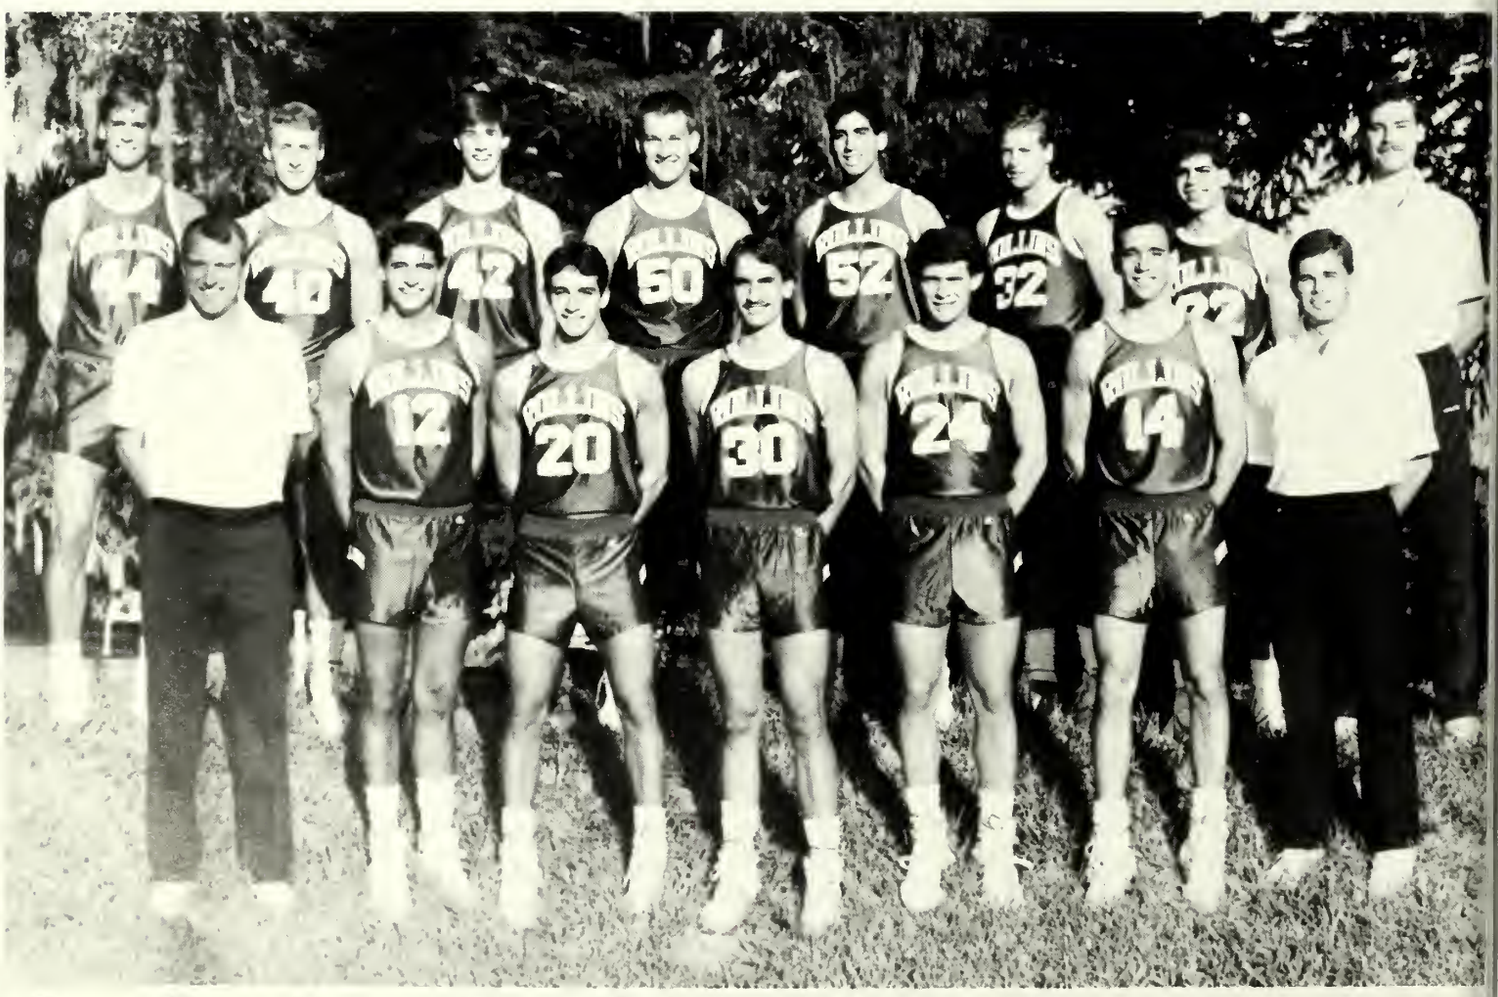
Mike Jordan eat your heart out!! Rollins' Andy Holman shows some style as he tosses the ball to the hoop. Photo by R. Hartley

Front Row (L to R): Head Coach Tom Klusman, Greg Eckstein, Andrew Abril, Terry North, Steve Rotz, Student Assistant Kyle Frakes. Back Row (L to R): Sam Arterburn, Cameron Forbes, Mike Reeves, Todd Murphy, Andy Holman, Dan Wolf, Ralph Fabian, Assistant Coach Steve Melgard.



The leader of the pack — Dan Wolf gets an easy two points as Cliff Reeves looks on. Photo by R. Hartley

Cheerleading

Front Row (L to R): Devita Mosley, Chris Melucci, Donna Murphy, Tracy Turner. Middle Row (L to R): Bonnie Bickum, Jennifer Foley, Rachel Landreth, Noell Nielsen. Back Row (L to R): Liza Benedict, Lori Wayne, Kyle Turner, Michelle Caraker, Missy Tellier, Erica Gregory.

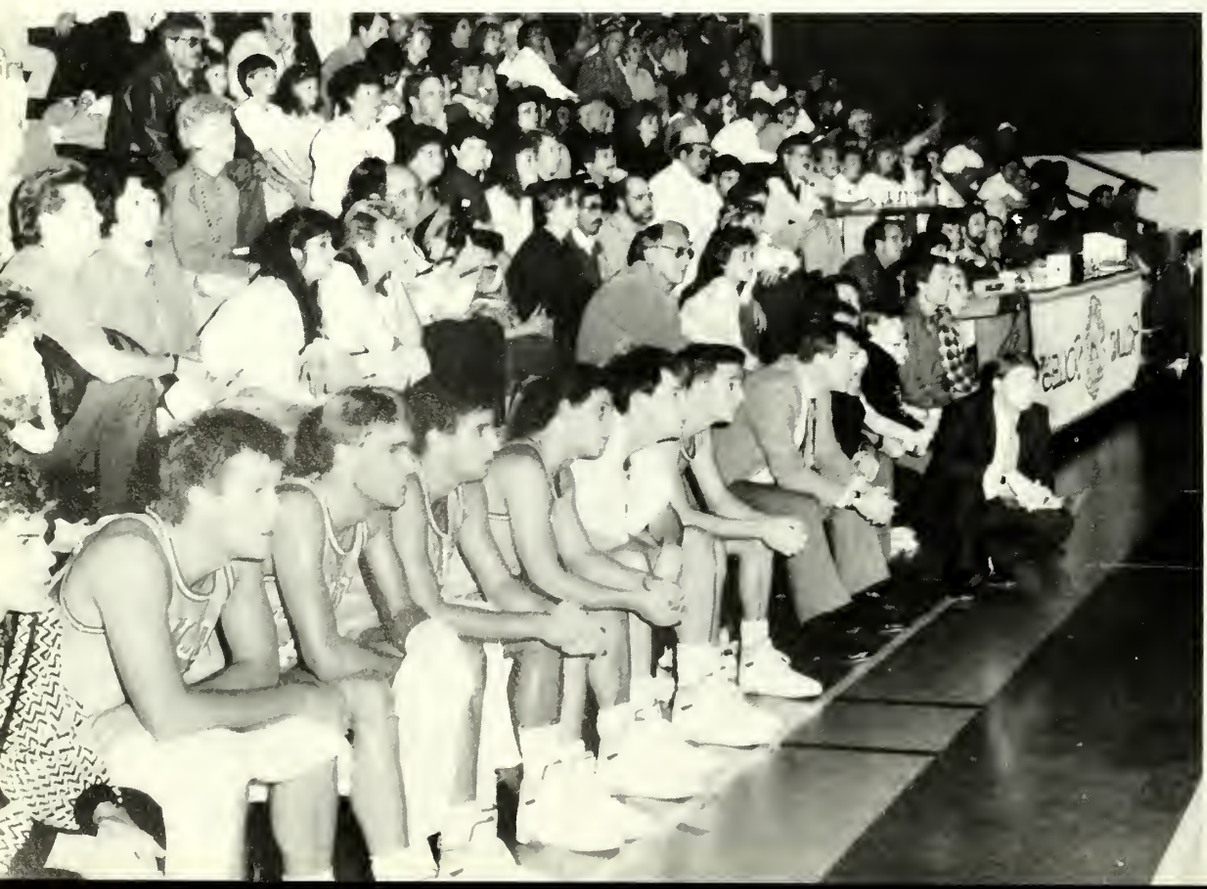
She thinks I'm cute!! Tommy Tar flirts with Patricia Hernandez. Photo by R. Hartley

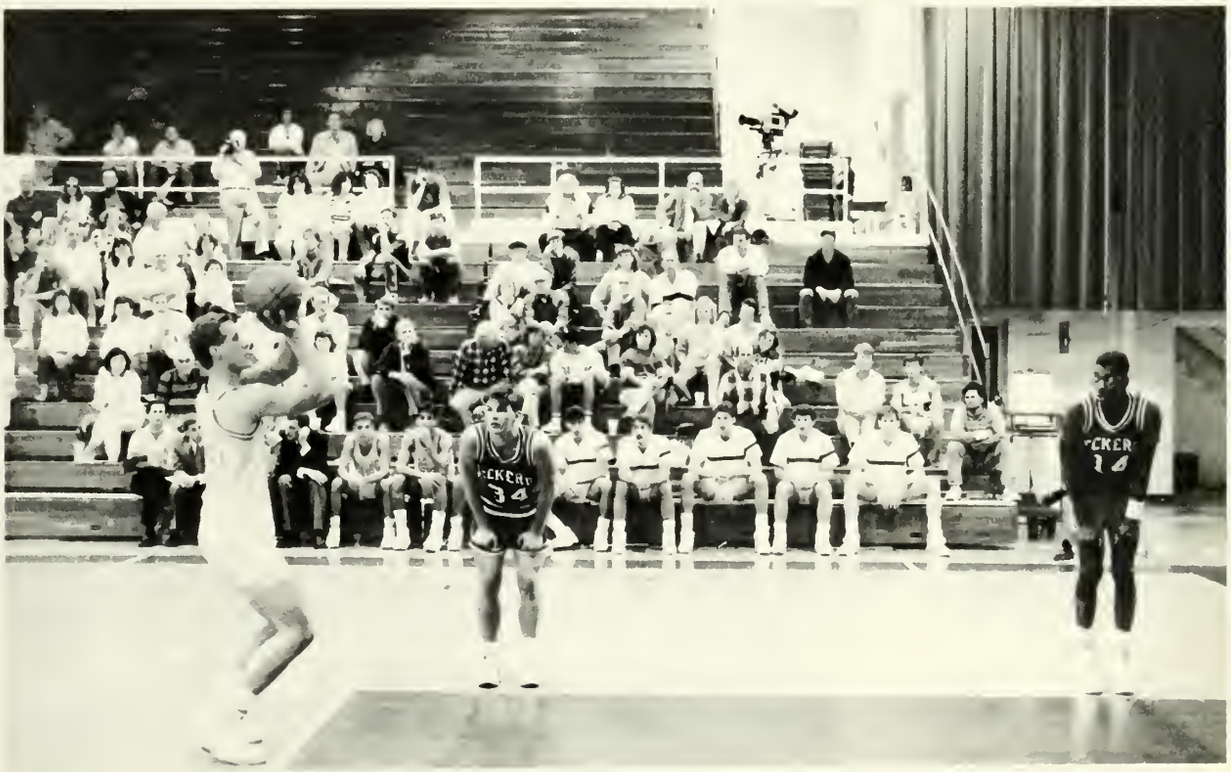
Noell Nielsen joins the cheerleading squad in a cheer for the T-A-R-S!! Photo by R. Hartley

Tracy Turner scales to the top before a crowd of awe struck spectators. Photo by R. Hartley

Scott Martin wastes no time getting around Tampa's Ed Grimley. Photo by R. Hartley

The Tars' bench has a great view of the action on the court. Photo by R. Hartley





Free Throws! No problem! Cameron Forbes demonstrates his mastery of free throw shooting. Photo by R. Hartley

Scott Martin receives congratulations from team members for his outstanding performance. Photo by R. Hartley

Greg Eckstein grabs a little glory in the Orlando Arena when the Tars take on rival U.C.F. Photo by R. Hartley

Rollins students do the wild thing!! Photo by R. Hartley

Proud Coach Klusman is interviewed for television after his team defeated U.C.F. in the new Orlando Arena. Photo by R. Hartley

Cross Country

Sailing

Softball

This year's dedicated softball coach and team captains: Suzanne Patterson, Lauren Feher, and Anne Bolling. Photo by A. Abril

Intramurals overall champions: Phi Delta Theta. Photo by R. Hartley

Intramurals

The Misfits: Women's Intramural Flag Football Champs. Photo by A. Abril

Oh what a feeling? No, goalie Ted Scheel isn't auditioning for a Toyota commercial. Instead he's doing what he does best — keeping the other team (in this case Eckerd) from scoring a goal. Photo by A. Abril

After a men's soccer game, the intramural crew comes to play on the Sandspur. Photo by A. Abril

Dave Behrman and Karri Kleeman take time out from their grueling class schedules to watch a Phi Delt intramural softball game. Photo by A. Abril

I'm so thirsty, I'll even drink that Gatorade stuff!! Daegan Duvall gets a drink after working up a big thirst at the soccer game. Photo by A. Abril

Organizations

The Summit covered all aspects of student life, but the one of most interest seemed to be student organizations. From the Greek system to the independent organizations, everyone had an opinion on what could be done to improve their image on campus. In the Spring the housing issue brought out everyone's views, and while not all agreed, the consensus was that there needed to be a radical change in the way housing was assigned to the various groups. Another change occurred in the way student organizations interacted; slowly but surely, the transformation from a divided campus to a community was beginning. New groups Ike X-L-R-8, a new women's group, and the Pre-Law Society sprang into being, and even more were on the way. The winds of change were truly blowing across the Rollins campus.

Shipwreck?? The Phi Delts listen attentively at the Student Housing Rally, where the fate of Mayflower Hall was debated. Photo by J. Sloan

Transformations

Well, another year has passed and against all odds, Chase Hall is still standing. The Brotherhood of Sigma Phi Epsilon continues to reign supreme on campus, and we shall take this opportunity to poke fun at the brothers who have made this year one of the best ever — Goodbye to the seniors and hello to our new pledges — The tradition lives on. Steve Anderson: Who? It's 1-3-5-2-4 if you ever find the time (or the house). Dan Atchison: Atchomo . . . the Elizabeth connection may be permanently damaged from those brewery fumes. Willie Bankhead: Why don't you wash yourself leopard . . . too bad you missed your ride to New Smyrna. Todd Bork: What a pretty dog . . . you'd really be lazy if you weren't so tall. Scott Breslow: Hole in the wall. Bernie Brijbag: Dirty dirtbag . . . been to any Tagg sales lately? Thad Coakley: Hitler, Stalin, Mussolini, Hardie and Thad . . . just a coincidence? how about some arms to go with those shirts. David Collis: Yes, I'm the infamous Gary but I don't get any credit . . . the legend lives on. Kirk Conrad: Who? she's got a nice car though. Bill Culhane: Space, the final frontier . . . no future in loft construction but there may be hope in horror movies. Doug Deem: House damage is down but brain damage continues . . . whose mother was that anyway? Steve DiGiacamo: JJ is gone, when will you follow suit. Scott Doughty: What a slacker . . . married . . . Beat it Squid. Will Ellender: Must be tough to sleep in a Sandy bed . . . nice alumni job, schmuck. Eric Englehart: Now that you're a lawyer maybe you can put those friends of yours behind bars. Ron Falconer: Turn one of your Saturday night specials into a seeing eye dog — those beer goggles are awfully thick. Gavan Ferguson: Get a green card leprechaun, what's it like to watch all the time. Hardie French: Fell off the curb and the wagon with a vengeance .. what went awry? Mike Hartmann: What's with that sissy maple? . . . queer-bashing . . . a mate is a mate, a root is a root. Steve Heinz: Booger . . . his mistake was calling Tagg for a shave and a haircut. Greg Hickey: The first one is always the tightest . . . especially through the window. John Hiebert: Yo dude. I'll be over for name that brother night if I can find the house. Buell Hollister: Bean sprout, peanut, Megan, can I come out and play. Ken Hyde: Won't she let you hold the reigns, Buster? and what is this sudden craving for pizza? Matt Isaly: Who? its been down hill ever since bonnet dance at King Henry's. Richard Janiszewski: nice diploma, Ward. John Joplin: Gave up one jock strap for another . . . do something about that rat problem. Chris Kreusser: Lost his girl friend, his roommates and his house. now get lost your self, Cruise. Edmond Leidesdorf: Dork . . . Fart . . . mind you don't cut yourself. Lizadork. Gregg Libutti: Finally stopped embezzling for drugs . . . now he's taking some off the top for an engagement ring . . . meatball. Scott Liebel: Popeye the sailor . . . I thought I should pledge a fraternity before I got drafted . . . uh, Scott there ain't no draft no more. Joey Maio: Milky . . . ing of the late night breakfeasts . . . Tony's partner and chauffeur for the bar excursions. Tony Marino: 16 will get you 20 . . . if only I were a girl . . . let's give to her Tony, he'll do anything. Jim Tagg: Upon his departure, the crime rate dropped drastically. Nevertheless, he was the shoe in for house manager. Chip Tedeschi: Sand man, Sand dog, Sand paper. If your camel could only see you now. hey sand flea, only camels spit into other people's mouths. Phil May: Got done with pledgeship just in time to graduate, but managed to get Kirk from behind. Budge Mead: I'm not a homosapien or am I? out of the closet on Bourbon street. kiss of death . . . he is a really nice guy . . . too bad. Ned Miller: Gone . . . see ya . . . 5 years later . . . still unemployed and searching for the intermural all-star squad. Bruce Mitchell: Mr. Optimistic . . . this sucks . . . screw everyone I've got myself to worry about. Rob Pfunstein: FLUNKY, he left when the going was getting tough . . . he swears he had 3.0 though. Brian Powers: 9 months of abstinence doesn't make for a good year . . . we are still going to take up a collection for charity. David Reeves: Woachly . . . Do you fire up Barney as much as you fire up the dragon. Keith Riley: Get this kid a translator or a muzzle. loves those two for one nights. Drew Ross: Pros/cons . . . cons. Mike Rudenmark: Sven, the mad Swede. where does he live anyway. Drew Samelson: Seagull, hatchet man. finally found someone whom he likes more than Snarfy. Pete Seidem: Mirror, mirror on the wall, am I still the coolest, tannest of them all? where's my mousse? Jen, who? Scott Van Houten: Hooter, no bitch, no friends, no house . . . why don't you leave. Rick Vanneck: Can't buy me love. speak loudly and carry a little gun. Carl Warren: His box hurt after she wore a jock strap. Bill Weidner: Doc, left in Jan. taking the snowy weather with him. gonna get it somewhere else? Chip White: Lonesome George, yackity yack, hers is black. Rick Weiler: 3 years of celibacy is a tall order . . . congratulations, Chuck. John Williams: not a banner year with the opposite sex . . . but at least you can get a golf ball in the hole. Tim Winter: 4 beers and you think you are Arnold Schwarzenegger, but you are really Scott Liebel. you don't think you are stupid when you are drunk. Scott Wright: 25 grand sabatical . . . and still smokin'. Steve Hansen: The next Eddie Van Halen or the next Eddie Munster — who can tell? Special thanks to: Harry, Club Red, and Chase Hall repairs. Special no thanks: Seniors, Campus Safety, Beans Rats, Kiss asses, local yokels, wanna be's, thieves and squids.

Σ Φ Ε

While in the Soviet Union over Winter Term, Tony Marino and Ricky Vanneck visit the Red Square in Moscow.

At the Spring Formal, Gregg Libutti makes a toast with his little brother Jon Sellman.

Σ Φ E

Hanging out, Sandy Sanders, Chip Tedeschi, Edmond Leidesdorf and Ron Falconer share old times.

Experiencing a change in weather from balmy Florida, Greg Hicky, Dave Preaus and Scott Van Houtten spend Spring Break in Colorado.

Jen Johnson and Megan Thomas enjoy the wonderful company of the Sig-Eps.

ΘM

On the 60th anniversary of Phi Mu's founding on the Rollins campus we leave the sisters of Phi Mu the following items: Lynn: "Bunk bed, babe — stage left" Rachel: 'Camp, do you hear what I hear?" Jane: "Is that really on the walk of fame?!" and automatic pilot Bonnie: A six pack of Jolt — twice the sugar and caffeine as regular Coke Tori: Pete, Jim, Bobby, Matt, the black sheep, bathroom buddy and a little owl, one for each day of the week. Well, at least she takes the sabbath day off. Christine: "I Just wanted you to know how lucky I am to have friends like you . . . friends . . . sisters . . . sisterhood." How hot is the bathwater now? Kathy: 'Prrrriiing . . . good afternoon, Loan or Credit Department. Please hold . . . click" Marlynn: "Do you have a fetish for Bob Marley or Stevie Wonder?"
Elizabeth: "What have you done for me lately?" I want half! Melanie: "Tous nous Manque — Bienvenu!" Halyn: (Clint) A gun, a "property of Rollins College Athletic Department" T-shirt, an alarm clock with a loud buzzer, a monster, a "no goons allowed" sign, nothing made of glass, a midnight deep sea dive with your favorite Aussie and Mick.
Denise: A telephone, a key and no white clothing. Mora: (the tough babe) a post 21 spontaneous combustion weekend from the M/O. Good with a sheep in wolf's uniform, a racket for hot doubles match with Sputnick I, an answering maching (what comes around comes around), an industrial strength black bra, splinters from the boat house, a megaphone and a license for corrupting minors ("What's he gonna do, talk to me?") Helen: A book on "all I need to know about being president" . . . and a job. "Ward I found the ring I want — I'll put a down payment on it' Ginger: Trade in your wreck-mobile for our specially priced bumper car — complete with helmet and straps — no money down. Myriam: "Are you opening a hat shoppe?" Jackie: "I love him, I love him not, I love him . . . Wellllll, I 'gus' I love him." Kadi: "What a buddy!" "That's Amore" Betsy: Something old, something blue, something borrowed, something blue. Erica: One low-cal hot fudge sundae — hold the kryptonite. Suzanne: What will the women of St. Tropez be wearing this year? and a bottle of Bain de Soleil. Tracy R.: "That picnic table was heavier than I thought!" A stone from the walk of fame, "Who is afraid of the big bad wolf?!", "I don't care anymore . . . he is outa here?" Sheri G.: A party permit. Susan: Unlimited quantities of Kool-Aid and rum. KiKi: Imported beer, an address book, lots of protection and a date of your choice to next year's Spring Fling. Tracy S.: Unlimited funds for one helluva Spring Weekend. Diane: Off campus housing somewhere between Rollins and UCF and a complete SAE wardrobe. Katherine: "Stroke d . . . t!", "Stroke, I say", "Lookin' sexy?" Jen: "Well I thought I could make it?" Better luck next time. We'll get you a bigger trash can, anti-stress pills for rush and 11 a. Blanca and Lizzette: A double pleasure's waiting for you and two cans of whipped cream. Sarah: An unrestricted ID. DeeDee: A six pack and a drawing board. Jodi: A gift certificate to Bennigan's, all you cn eat. Dawn: "The wicked wanton has been released." Lara: "Are we having fun yet?!" Karen: "Are you caught in the numbers game?", "We made you a chart to keep track!', "I'm thinking yes on that!" Amber: Some flab and maximum protection sunscreen. "Take a walk on the wild side!" Lisa: "Hey princess, don't pack your toaster — we have a microwave." Amy: An alarm clock, coffee and donuts — you'll be skiing on your head in no time! Noell: A Rollins calender with a different man each month. Melin: "What will the sleeping arrangements be like nest year?" and a key to Strong Hall's front door. Sherri: Our own Phantom of the Opera — you've got a captive audience. Heidi: Your own 7-11 with unlimited amount of beer. Rachelle: Your own tanning booth (high voltage).

Below: attending the legendary Morticians Ball with the Phi Delts, Jon Ochs, Christine Fass, a friend, Marlynn and Mike Garuckis are spiffed up in their formal attire.

"Sexy Legs," scream Tori Bonelli, Jane Isaacs and Christine Faas as they flash their chops.

Φ M

Waiting to get leis Melin Uhler wants good leis like Katherine Froid and Marlynn Cone at the Kamanawanaleia Party.

On Pledge Saturday, the Phi Mus gathered to enjoy happiness of sisterhood.

After Shaking to the hula arduously, Noell Neilson, Hayn Hughs, Tori Bonelli and Mora Moran stop to rest and get a cool refreshment.

ΦΔΘ
ΦΔΘ
ΦΔΘ
ΦΔΘ

ΦΔΘ

rew Arnold: 2 cans of spam, a new set f shorts (give the old ones to outhwick.) David Behrman: A flight ack from Australia. Bobby Bowden: A alvage operation in the Keys and a ower that floats. Grant Calder: Clothes ithout holes and a hook up to the isney Channel. FJ Cambell: At olerance nd a room of his own. Mark Cipullo: ob Ganger and a sniff of Brandy. Tom oughlin: Full length dress mirror. Pete rowe: An all season radial Hoola Hoop, Jesse calender and TV Guide. Chris ann: A date who can't run faster than im. Phil De Amezola: A map to the athroom and a 2 x 4 with a swiss seat. hip Ernst: A boat of his own and an air eshener for the auto. Chuck Fulgam: Veights to pump up the beer muscles nd a good lawyer. Rob Ganger: A sniff f Cippy and a bid on Lich's chair. Jim lahn: A mellow night on the town and a hild restraint collar. Brad Johnson: A econd hand zip-lock and room mate ag team with Morris. Justin Kellogg: A 12 pack of caffeine free Diet Coke and n enema for that happy bug. Aaron indel: Some playing time and a Geraldo pecial to find the senior embezzlement und. John Kovitch: privacy in the allway, reliable transportation and a opy of "How to Win" by Ben Johnson. Joe Mahan: A couple of acres in suburban Tempe and the last of 5 Italian sausages spiced with a hint of Dixie and mental stability. Jason Needleman: Many LBS, a visible profile and a litter box. Dave O'Shaughnessy: A personality and an invite to one of our parties. Dewitt Purcell: A tuna burrito, Nair for the sweater and a bucket of Fish you back slider. Gene Ramsey: A declawed Gerbil, some stiches znd some masculinity. Todd Randak: An attitude and a volley ball scholarship to Alaska State. Stevie Raye: A complete education and a tight seal for the underwater crack. Dennis Rosa: Time share with Woody and a vaccine (sorry its PG so we can't mention Melissa). Dan Sallick: A toupee, a real doubles partner and a girl. Rick Southwick: A pair of shorts, a day in the sun and a G-string. Chuck Todd: A piece of toast, a coke and a smile. Pete Unruh: A baby named Hewey, a date with underwear you can't camp in. Adam Waldman: Deposits . . . Deposits . . . A witness relocation program and a letter from Paris. Mike Webb: A tolerance and a straight jacket. Rusty Weidel: platform shoes, a mean streak and a Sig-Ep little brother bid. Gigs: After peace corp, opens up a custom tree for business, living on the brink of poverty in Des Moines, Iowa with Day, trying the plets. Chief Altaba: extradited from a seedy night club in Caracas for trying to corner the market for imitation "Pings". Clubbed to death in prison after a LaBamba performance. Joc Appel: Successfully living in suburban Tempe, anchoring the farm report, barely escaped Indy, collapse of family business (Coughlin group interested). Pelts: Castrated by tennis ball machine; presently singing soprano in the Israeli boys choir — dies suddenly choking on pork rind. Keeley: Presently touring with "La Cage Aux Folles". Daegen: Runs a general store in Spokane, WA. — weekend Harley repair (run by his wife), finally hits big with ketchup soup recipe. Finney: resides in Greenwich, has his own late-night radio show (2 to 5 am). Impersonates Venus Fly Trap. Witlowe: Sells hearing aides, drives ski boat at Cypress Gardens and works for Gigs, selling tree houses, brutally beaten by Chip Ernst after having been tracked for years. Wilde: After sour divorce, night manager of a Stop and Go in a suburb of Des Moines. soothes broken heart by weekly trips to Boisetown. Todd Johnson: Killed in tragic drill bit accident. inheritance dispute due to palimony in 5 different states. Merv: 2.2 kids, life is great but parents are still pleading him to move out. briefs aren't ironed, wife hits the road. Judelson: starts spouse abuse hotline, failed Bar Exam, currently backup QB for Pensacola Penguiins Arena. Lich: Owner of a starving bar and Island Air (front for drug transportation) and sells Rose fraternity wear. Devin: Divorced, remarried, divorced, remarried. Irish supremist serving time in San Quentin. Forced to watch Fatal Attraction over and over. Berger: Thinking about um . . . maybe getting a job . . . maybe . . . sometime next year or maybe going for the masters in social work. Booker: Buys Skeeters chain, marries Weezy? (Head waitress), plantation slumlord and lobbies for the reinstatement of slavery. Darby: Last seen in Des Moines after RV breaks down during travelling Chippendale show — wives still baffled about his whereabouts. responsible for nationwide curfew for high school girls. Dick Phillips: After 14 years receives honorary diploma. currently testing flip-flops at Ron Jons. Mark Carlin: Still misunderstook and a psychologist at San Quentin. Also a millionaire from best seller "Carlinism". Pete Purvis: Still living with parents but travels with Pelts and the Israeli boys choir.

To all our Pledges, Raise the Mayflower.
Thanks Joe Siry
Hey Pat: How about a hat trick?

ΦΔΘ

Shipwreck! The Phi Delts cruise around Lake Virginia on another sunny day in Winter Park.

The highlight of Phi Delt's Spring Weekend was a trip to Ocean Reef in the Keys.

Turn to the right! Show that Tattoo! Rich Whitlowe and Jim Berger look like they're ready for San Quentin.

The Phi Delt hams it up for the camera.

John Langfitt, trashed again! Michael Darby, Chris Lich and John Gigliotti help clean up Mayflower Hall.

NCM

Ames "Quinn" Massey: Church has a round brush because Jerry can't play without her. P. — definitely. I love you Ambrosia. Carrie Price: Crazy is the Tequila Mama. Sandy Vanderzee: The "galloping gourmet" satisfies her palate with a meal of macaroni and a Mrs. Smith pie, gulping it down with a Canadian Club while listening to Jimi sing "hey Joe". Deb "Wild Woman" Drozeck: Crazy Otto the gravitational master, when Frank's away she makes us play. Chris Peloquin: Pelican, did all the snow white tennis balls keep you bouncing while your car got towed? Diana "Onella the Swede" Driscoll: Lovely little moonie pie, can your evil scepter turn a "doter" into a "foofy popularitif"? No because you just can't have nice things — Cliff sans dote. Jen "Sak" Miller: Has it been an Econ or just 9 1/2 weeks that you've been spinning your web? Spidey, OSK heard he was smokin' actually he was burning down the house. Jill "the Czar" Holsinger: Is security so tight at the white Fort Knox that you can't get into the closet? Kathleen "St. Kathleen" Gannon: Sans Italian ice, "Pretty lady ain't got no friend 'til the candyman comes around again." You Dead Head. Donna Murphy: Still scratching her itch long distance although she does the "wild thing" on the basketball court. Katherine "K2" Kreyenberg: What do you do with your scuba equipment in the bathtub? Brandy "Freak" Edelman: Top three reasons why Brandy gets the broom: 1) she likes her grass blue 2) birds rule the sky, fish rule the sea 3) she likes her tennis late night. Thira "roid" Goldfinger: Which Was it? The out of the pass, or the out of the make? LI teas! Meredith "Machete" Hall: Cut the annoying Tagg out of your shirt or you'll get bounced out of Whispers. Jen "Eve" Smith: Flower power in the shower. Jen Jeffers: From the tunnel of love to the funnel of Bud. Kate Baker: Jams all night at the formal and now she sings the Mexicali blues. Kate Mahar: The Audience is going late as Tart-n-tinies and brew go flying on Superbowl Sunday. Laura "Wiggin" Higgins: The key woman spins discs by day and raps on the Mike-O. When will you speak through the wood of Ken? Lara Gutsch: Upon her return from the semester abroad, she's adjusting Farrelly well. Janice Young: Incomplete Jen "Pigean" Carrier: While Tom was knock, knock, knocking down Pigeon's door, Jim becomes the director of the Mississippi DMV. Claudie "Silver Bells" Silver: Hobbles about assuming the role of Rip Van Winkle. Priscilla "Pris" Frost: Jah Love the sunny foot. Robin Koster: Has to find a new circle to play cards in. And now for Seniors presenting: Kristen "Lilly Shoes Minnie Mouse" Shilo: Cartwheels over the thought that Liberace was seen in a yellow UFO. Was he wearing a bangle bracelet? Pyes! Steph (fickle pickle) Houghton: Did Australia set you back to the stone ages? What is the deal with Fred Flintstone? CiCi Van Tine: Comes in the clutch and escapes that satin white dress. Dani Doane: The winner of this year's "Phantom Flamingo" award. Ellen (Granny- Trap- Snooks- Beeper- Order- Sybil- Officer CML- Granz) Huston: Graduates mechanics — fixing axles when the mood strikes her, at least they are not minors. Special Thanks to: HACIDS, camping language, the courtyard, Pauline, the popcorn of Cucamonga, Bubbles, bubbles everywhere, leading fox lives, the robish men of strong hall, " — Oh my head!", free for alls, NCM little little brothers, Evil Ways, cosmic cooking, and those omni-present "all or none rule". Special no thanks: Randoms.

Just before hitting the town, the sisters of NCM gather together to pose for a picture.

NCM

Raising their flag and proposing a toast, the sisters of NCM chant their songs on Pledge Saturday.

Turning out to be a definite success, Pledge Saturday blossomed into perfect fruits for new members of NCM.

X Ψ

Come and listen to a story by a man named Ced. This poor black man barely kept his brothers fed, So poking fun at them is something he will do, causing great laughter for me and you. So if a joke you cannot take, read this not for your own sake.

Freshman, Sophomore, Junior class I hail, but with the Senior class I will begin my tale. When you enter Chi Psi's halls of doom, the first dwelling to see is Pig's room. A great first semester he had, and I'm sure his second won't be that bad. Then there is Andy or is that Lissa I see, hey I don't know they look the same to me. Now we go up the stairs and through a door and on the immediate right what you find is Pyne on another Friday night. If you ask him what he is going to do. "I'm waiting for a call from Heather so I can say I love you." Then there is Hobbs who walks around as if he had been caught in a maze, awaiting the return of the Donner to brighten his days. Now here comes Knobs who no one really knows, he hides out on the third floor doing deeds, if only Sam and Eckie can supress his DFB needs. Next to Knobs there lives a legend in his own time and Czar Crespo II is the name that jumps to mind. He started his reign with Jane by his side, but since her fatal attraction dirtiness has been his pride. Sometimes I wonder if what they say is true. Is he the dirtiest man in the land I ask you? Then comes Joe bag of donuts you see, he can be a hazard to your health just ask security. Finally, there is Pounder at Harper's every night, spending all kinds of money at everyone's delight. Great fun he had just a little while until the Dean said "See you next year" with a cheesy smile.

Now to the Junior class I will proceed. Beginning with Hat trying to satisfy his Chi Omega need. First there was Bow and now he's turned to Moss, he'll keep this Chi-O even if a wedding is the cost. Ascending the stairs just one flight, there lives Tiger, who the guys still don't know if that girlfriend of his is simply for show. Then comes Cooter, oh what a guy, if Sherry doesn't ask he doesn't have to lie. Next there is Scheck who never leaves the room, he watches TV all day and grooms his mustache with a broom. Now comes Vern who lives next to me, who was dumped by his girlfriend Melanie. Then there is Douger who on the field deals a swift blow, but about his sex life no one seems to know. Now there is Burnzy who seems to live without a care. With Cooter the Big A he did share.

Now to the Sophomores this tale will go, beginning with Bill who seems to be whipped to no end, she has him an a leash just like her other furry friend. Then there is Brooky, in Maine he was told, but since he arrived he has been out of the cold. Then to the dirty duo my tale will go, I'll start with North to let you know, he started up with a Kappa and ended up with a poet, no bacon is safe until they all know it. Then there is Reeves or Shaggy or Cliff should I say, it depends how much he had to drink that day. He dated a Cheerleader and then a muppet back when, but now Onelia is his life and their relationship is a ten. Next to the duo there is Hulkster's room, some say it has been cursed to doom. From Pellachia to Crespo it seems to have been a dream. But now it is occupied by a man with no rap and the room had simply became a deadly trap. Then there is Smarty a crewman see, I hear he shares Wendy with all of U of Miami. Next to Smarty dwells the Sloth, he hangs out with Pebbles in his loft. Eventually we will come to the smells kid, he doesn't hook up because of something they say he did. But that doesn't matter to him now you see, because spends all of his time with Burnzy. Now comes Joker what can I say, if he ever looks you in the face that will be the day. Then you come to the third floor heavens. I'll start with Odie who doesn't need a rap, because he knows he can get a root with a simple snap. Now to Meat this tale does lead, a life size poster of Beth is all he'll ever need. Now we come to the narrator of this tale, should I tell you the truth oh what the hell. Now comes one big ole Cedi, and I must honestly say. I'm the nicest friendliest person you'll meet any day. And if you actually think this statement is true, I have a couple of bridges to sell to you. But before this tale comes to a complete end, someone teach Cameron how to make a dunk again.

X Ψ

Chi Psi beach — Mark Pyne, Pete Burns, and Jesse Wolfe dressed for success.

Tori or Top — Chris Brook, Chris Nader, Arne Terwilleger, Mike Savage take sun at their Spring Weekend.

Oh Baby — Arne Terwilleger and Larry Sutton scam on the babes on the Sandspur.

Nanook of the North — Mike Reeves, Mike Savage and Chris Brook spend a day on a boat fishing and snorkeling.

Surf Hooker — Jim Innocent, Pete Burns, Larry Sutton, Cesar Crespo and Kevin Foley take a photo break at a party in Cesar's room.

X Ω

Chi Omegas share laughter and celebration, professing our dedication to our college and our friendships. Chi Omega is a sisterhood that opens new and exciting doors for all of its members providing them with only the best of memories and the greatest of times. Although there may be times when miles lay between us, love is the thread of our Chi-O sisterhood that joins us together and endures all.

Suzi Aaron: a day without shopping, shoes, and Bally, and a run-in with the LAW. Krista Bassett: a subscription to GLIDE, a day out of the bed and free trips to Tampa. Rose (Rosebud) Bolling: clothes that fit, a sentence without "y'all" and a happy day. Carolyn (Rasta) Botello: a new vocabulary without "seeee yah", "riiiight", "Dave", "completely", 1 more year of slouching, and a brush. Annabeth (Scamabeth) Bounds: a lower tolerance and a guy who dares to blow her off. Kelly (Kelso) Brian: someone to let her hair down and a mini skirt. Sara Carpenter: a means of transportation, a four leaf clover, and a clue. Christinna (Space Barbie) Chauncey: a permanent tiara, directions to the house and a WALK around campus. Tammie Cook: treads for her sheets, and an aquarium with NICE fish. Natasha (Tash) deVarona: an ID and an outburst. Lauren Eastwood: a welcome back. Chase Ferguson: her OWN cigarette, a maid and a loft. Pam Finley: Queenberger, box seats at all tennis matches and tall children. Barrie (Reggae Rita) Flanigan: a longer shore-leave, and a FUN night on campus. Amy (Gordy) Gordon: a house with Winter Term rules and a neverending supply of Tab. Larissa (Scampton) Hampton: her own fraternity, a different kind of belt, and a night to remember. Suzy Heidacher: a little COMFORT to make it through the year and someone to analyze her own papers. Mimi Herrington: the yippy yi Chi-yo, more hours in the night an a higher male to female ratio. Alison Hicks: a day off and a MELlow room in ROC. Melissa (Mouse) Holgate: a key to Phi-Delt, her own clothes and an actor she says she hasn't dated. Emily (Em) Janec: stock in Tretorn, a bronze coating for her jean jacket, and her own camp. Jolee Johnson: a day of rest and all the math extra-help she needs. Stephanie Johnson: more hairspray, and a day without waterskiing. Kellee Johnson: more days in the boathouse, a steady, and a day teaching J. Fonda. Jen Jones: crayons, a nomination for the Pilsbury Bake-off and a pair of anti-gravity boots. Missy Kimm: a tutor, an unhung Sunday morning, and a marathon to run. Macy Kingsbury: a built-in volume adjuster, a day with less of HESS and decent exposure in party pics. Kim Lankarge: academic probation, a quieter room and a tarnished halo. Jenni (Headbanger) Levitz: a bigger mug, stock in Maxwell House and a panic button. Anne (Annabanaana) Lloyd: another means of transportation, a new hairstyle, and some enlightenment. Stacey (Get-off) Maio: her own video, her own full-length mirror, and a RIT kit. Jen Malm: His and Her keys to THE car, a night out with the girls, and available hotels. Jen Marshall: a room in the house, a date with the Beaver and an audition at Universal. Liz (Lizalonian) McCloskey: her own pool and a frown. Krista Menyhart: a fraternity she'll admit her boyfriend is in and enthusiasm. Jill Mills: no drinking age, a guy with a gushy body and a memory. Dani (Dano) Moss: a credit card for Drug Emporium, REAL shoes and a year on campus even though she had a BALL. Mindy (We're just friends) Murley: a bigger bag of tricks, a bottle of VIC's and her own line of bedtime footwear. Gina (P.L.H.S.) Paduano: a ticket to club and heels to walk on. Nancy Phillips: a room in the house, a bigger box with REAL excuses and a hand to keep her in "the woodwork". Heidi Pomeroy: a map to Chi-O and alka-seltzer. Tamara Rivera: a Rush workshop she'll attend and Frequent Flyer. Jeannine Rodriguez: a day off from work, a bigger aquarium and a fit of rage. Ellen (Shmellen) Ruff: saying "Hey man have you heard Freedom Rock still lives". Karen (Rut) Rutledge: a fair "Karen to men" ratio, a yellow rose, and yet another pair of Joan and Davids. Jill Slavens: a tan, a day without make-up and lights on lights off . . . the Wacker. Elizabeth (Eli) Smith: the Chi-O shrink; a day without shoulder pads, a night to get way off and a trip to the library. Kelli (KK) Smith: her own Watts line, a personal beautician, and an appearance on 'Love Connection". Kathy Smith Crapps: shorter hair, cheaper phone bills and her own room. Michele (Heartthrob) Throm: a Sears credit card, opaque underwear and a valium. Jen Tillis: her own take-out restaurant, a day with her friends and a day of standing after NEILing all night. Lisa (Phanton) Vincent: a cast iron stomach, and an operation to remove her twin. Bettina Walker: a night in the house, a weekend without a golf tournament and English speaking friends. Susie (It's my house too) West: a smile, satisfaction, and her own boarding house Regan (Red) Wohlfarth: a voice an octave lower, nicer policemen, and a REAL list for excused absences.

Never a quiet moment, Mindy Murley and Mimi Herrington always are where the fun is.

X Ω

The Chi-O's welcome the new pledges with red and yellow balloons and high spirits on Bid Saturday.

ATO

A T Ω

Rick A: A renewed lease, a steady girlfriend. Vick A.: Try to get your weight average down. Frank B.: "Absolute"ly ost. Mike kB.: "Hot wax"; He has played as many girls as he has records. Jay C.: A mellow man since the marriage, by the way the South lost again. Jim D.: Captain America, Ski, Hauss, Undertaker, Coffin, Hamburger. Bob F.: Good to see that you and Gus finally split up, Thanks AG. Scott F.: "Who is Doug Ford?" Will G.: "Damn Southerner." Dave H.: hey pretty boy, how is your sister? Eric H.: 'Drago" things to get over this summer: a smile, aggression, and a Y. Derrick H.: We have a dream . . . that someday you'll make a meeting. Woody H.: Have you made your rounds at Chi-O or do you really have a girlfriend? Moosedom. Andy H.: "Stage"; "We know you don't like the limelight, but you handled the pressure well." John K.: "Koes"; Still batting a thousand on Wed. nights? 'Don't kid yourself, you are a tremendous slouch!" Moosedom. Todd L.: Punch me, pull your head out, bosh, barely, fuzz-bumping and the old machine gun — that is not funny. Eric M.: "Toast"; The custodian, how was your week on the floor, way to go Nova. Been to any parks lately? Scott M.: "Ice,"; How about an imitation? Rob M.: "Mase"; The man who returned the Heisman Award. Tony M.: What happened to you in Paris? Where is Mr. Innocent? Matt M.: Who's car is that anyway? Jon O.: Chronic bitterness! Gus R.: Who's next Tyson? Looks like four years and letters did it. Fres S.: The freshest there is! Chris S.: "Coach"; He only comes out during games. "Tough crown." Sam S.: How come the only time you use your room is when your friends visit? Mel S.: "Moose"; The man who is more destructive when he is sober. Moosedom. Todd T.: "General Lee"; The man who single handedly destroyed an apartment complex. John W.: "Wac", "Chicago"; What a shame, married at such young age. What religioni are you really? Matt Z.: "Attitude", "Casper"; Nice boots, you rarely get sloppy after two beers. To out pledges, Getting to the top was easy,, but it is twice as hard to stay.

Buddies for life, Todd Tindall and Michael Borton pose for a picture at the ATO cocktail party.

A T Ω

Raising a little hell, Malon Meredith, Todd Tindall, Scott Asher and Chris Rendel hope to one day get to heaven.

ATO welcomes their new charter along with their new pledges.

KAE
KAE
KAE

K A Θ

The Thetas remain involved in many extracurricular activities some of which include: Student government, ADEPT, student hearing board, the writing center, pan hellenic, ACT, theatre, student ambassadors and intramurals.

The senior class would like to leave some memorable "TV Specials" to the rest of our sorority sisters:

Kelly "America's Most Wanted" McCaffery: We leave you privileges to the lodge on Sat. night, Louise "LA Law" Dietzen: We leave you a Phi-Delt that's not a dick, Barbie "Married with Children" Doolittle: We leave you something old, something borrowed, something old, something blue, do it, Kim "In Search of" Erwin: We leave a picture without a pose, Anni "Cheers" Hughs: We leave a toast that you will be able to remember in the morning, Day "Who's the Boss" Laguardia: We leave you a sweaty day and a China night, Kristen "Thirty Something" Marcin: We leave you a home down east, Kelly "Entertainment Tonight" Reagan: We leave you a portfolio of yourself and a runway, Christine "All in the Family" Sage: We leave you the next generation of Clubbers to scam on and a real reason to fight with Doc, Leslie "Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous" Simpson: We leave you, Christy "Fantasy Island" Houser: We leave a jewelry box to take with you to the Bahamas. Andrea "A Different World" Van Eitzen: We leave you a high lighter and semester with less than six classes, Beckett "Chico and the Man" Dent: We leave you a night without a pitcher and a morning alone, Lisa "Head of the Class" Stevenson: We leave you a night without a pitcher and a morning alone, Lisa "Head of the Class" Stevenson: We leave you a boyfriend with no strings attached, Heather "Love Connection" Wheary: We leave you a boyfriend that really "is different", Maureen "Three's Company" Redfearn: We leave you a male roommate and a female to compete with, Elizabeth "Designing Women" Key: We leave you a "sandy" beach and a bottle of JD, Kim "Gimme a Break" Baldridge: We leave you a vanity set, Laila "Unsolved Mysteries" Carrol: We leave you a clue and a candle light, Lisa "Solid Gold" Dyer: We leave you a new car and get rid of your scooter, Shannon "Golden Girl" Freeman: We leave you a room in the house and sisters that love you, Joline "Bosom Buddies" Furman: We leave you on your own, Lauren "Sheerah, Princess of Power" Hayes: We leave you luck with the little rascals, Julie "Love Boat" Hernandez: We leave you a successful midnight ride, Stephanie "Different Strokes" Hinds: We leave you an ego bigger than your boyfriend's and many more late nights in Elizabeth, Hilary "I Love Lucy" Jackson: We leave you an assortment of Clairol colorings because you deserve it and a Rollins boyfriend, Andrea "Almost Grown" Minuti: We leave you a boyfriend that goes to Rollins and a standard to uphold, Nicole "Morton Downey, Jr." Nordling: We leave you a definition of dittos and a trip to California you won't deny wanting and the best damn pledge class, Mary "The Young and the Restless" Stubbs: We leave the task of passing your friendliness and entertaining abilities, Kelli "Beauty and the Beast" Toller: We leave you an iguana and not a snake, Carrie "Gorwing Pains" Pomeroy: We leave you a life in Oz and a donut to dunk, Michelle "Head of the Class" Calcaterra: We leave you a bar fly award and a crowd to buy drinks for, Jill "It's Just a Living" Gable: We leave you a leading role in the bold and beautiful, Mary "Hee-Haw" Adkins: We leave you a night at the art bar and a new slang to use Brytton "Dating Game" Baker: We leave you an amplifier and a scam, Jane Ellen "Happy Days" Byrne: We leave an aerobics tape at Phi-Delt and a date who responds, Meg "What's Happening" Elias: We leave a Castle and your own Prince Charming, Jennifer "Facts of Lilfe" Falvey: We live WD 40 to get rid of the Rust, Katie "Missing in Action" Bentzon: We leave a legitimate reason to miss Theta meetings, Kerry "Going Places" Fortune: We leave you a boyfriend in the country, Helen "Lost in Space" Habernickel: We leave you a quicker pace, Pam "Sale of the Century" Harvey: We leave you a campus pass for Bunger, Julie "As the World Turns" Hoyt: We leave you a final victory to flight 2005, Alison "Night Court" Kaskel: We leave you a "courtship" and a stage to perform on, Maude "General Hospital" Kebbon: We leave you a job to keep a years supply of Valium, Christie "Dennis the Menace" Kibort: We leave you a box of "Chips A Hoy" to bring to the rest of your formals, Britt "Too Close for Comfort" Larsen: We leave men to scam on Tawn "Get Smart" Larsen: We leave you a twin husband, Molly "Flintstones" Logan: We leave you a Rollins "Grant" and a case of "Foster's", Jennifer "The Chase" Mazo: We leave a date with Frank Zitsman and a years supply of "Johnson's and Johnson's", Keeley "Duet" McEwen: We leave you a real hotel room and a roommate that is there, Catherine "All My Children" Morse: We leave you the ability to keep on leading and the best time ever at the Univ. of Wisconsin, Pam "Mission Impossible" Petry: We leave a crush in a different fraternity, Dara "Perfect Strangers" McQueen: We leave you, Lele "Beverly Hill Billies" Lockhart: We leave you a "Daley" trip to Phi-Delt and a solution to your hourly dilemmas.

Exploding with excitement on Pledge Saturday, the pledges anxioiusly await spending their college years as Thetas sisters.

Enjoying the party, Alison Kaskel, Joline Furman and Shannon Freeman are ready for a full night of fun.

At the Pink Flamingo Party, Joline Furman, LeLe Lockhart, Elizabeth Key and Nicole Nordling check out the guys.

Roommates and best friends, LeLe Lockhart and Elizabeth Key give each other a hug.

K A Θ

Ready to train their new pledges, Alison Kaskel, Christine Sage, Kelly Regan and Joline Furman are psyched that Theta continues their excellent standards.

To all the Seniors . . . Nothing left to do but smile, smile, smile! Special Thanks: Hugh McKean, Scott Witherall, Sister Kate, Club bacon, late night kegs, beer bourbon and our steps.
Wedge: Can you dig it! Massholes live everywhere and forever. Grant: Dude; Frisbee Keg? Trek? Curbside Derby? Donny: Going for the KKG cycle, leave your Reeboks on the courts. Holbrook: Please! You can't scam, you're whipped. Hick: Holmes! Scam on people born in your own decade. Moondog: Oh dear, what is the fish going to say? Rotema: Finally mellowed by bacon, we know — shoes will hang forever. Brendan: Our very own caldender boy. Budsman: Value your late night. Habsy: Your first rap Chocolate Thunder. Hairball: Late night shaves, matching socks and sweater vestEustis: Saves his pumping for the weight room. Robs: Just get all bagged up. Guli: SGA President, Jeckl and Clubber Hyde. Helmeye: Stinkpot control the body fluids. Itsy-Bitsy-Pittsy: Thanks for calling your brother, hoze yourself off. Husyo: Nothing works: car, motorcycle, Jill? Gore: Madsavage, hospitals down under? Rooftooth: Where are the club ties? Butera: Making the world a safer place. Mason: Seen any good buys on any station wagons? Polanus: The sloppy ratus falcon. Dennis: A meadow to drive your car in. Vogeye: A rasta squirrel to hide in your nuts. Billy Bud: Brown eye strutting. Court: We lose another Boyle to Broads and Booze. Big Daddy: Pork chop, pork chpo . . . Page, Riki and long hair. Brodie: Grease your axel and drop your Wessly. Lame-But: Go away for the weekend. Flanny Pop Get a tan, a rap and Dead tickets. Pot Head: Slappin balls on and off the court Blundin: Going down the Road feeling bad. Landers: A hug and a talk. Tillou: Toilet training social chairman. Gillen: A new generation of clubber for a used generation of Theta. Sands: Loose the piece of paper. Trev: Hat and matching shirt and cigarette combo. Giles: G — spot lives on. Boland: Hope she's not a carrier. Bako: Gaze forever. Fields: Lost your mind. Ferelli: The new foulest clubber. Britt: Lost in the tropical rainforest of your closet. Flounder Matt Have a beer. Miller: Get it up and your GPA. Reed: Seven year plan.

The X-Club was founded back in 187 by Darwin, Spencer and Huxley. The purpose was to have a group of men who were individuals. Out of this great beginning and through the help of Hugh McKean and Hamilton Holt the Rollins College X-Club developed. We strive t continue as an extended family. Fraternities at Rollins have come and gone — X-Club has outlasted them all and will live forever.

X-Club

One of Club's Faculty members, Sister Kate clowns around with Jeff Husfar.

Showing their fraternal bonds, David Helmers and Chris Gillen enjoy the warmth of Fox Day.

X-Club

Far left: A hallmark of the X-Club, the steps are a favorite hangout for the residents of Gale Hall.

Working the sound system, Ian O'Neil with the help of Jay Amos fill Mills lawn with loud, powerful music.

Soaking up a few rays and enjoying the fresh air, Dennis Meihl, Rick Wedge and Donny Martin count the days until schools ends for the summer.

ΚΚΓ

KAPPA KAPPA

K K Γ

The Seniors of KKG want to say oodbye to our special friends. emember we love you — it's all in fun – these last few memories will remind ou why we are bonded as one.

eather C: a map to find your way to our room in McKean, and an automatic ookie maker. Lisa D: Monkey bars, a Banker" with his own "Stanley" tool set. shley D: a ticket out of Groovyville into he real world! Peaches H: 34 kids to nake up for the 34 pledges you never ot to know. Jen J: the nursery rhyme "Is ete afraid of the Big Bag Wolfe?" Krissy M: stock in Burger King, a lock for your loor, and a couch potato to keep you ompany. Sally M: a charter for your nternational fan club and an invitation o R.P.'s wedding. Beth P: a no-calorie anana split, a car radio, and a Saint Bernardo" that fetches balls, sticks to nake your "arm strong". Merritt W: a ne hour photo session for "Robby" with a romantic bottle of dog and a roommate that measures up. Marnie W: a big room in the house with a personal invitation to everything. Christina V: a transfer from Princeton to Rollins. Amanda T: a hoot that tells all, and a Bronx accent. Kim S: the penthouse suite of our new house which enables you to keep fit and trim with"Tim". Krissy K: a night in your room, a cute dog, and a 4 carat cubic zirconia on sale at Robinson's. Jill R: one more down comforter, a mood ring and a yo-yo for your relationship. Ellie C: a permanment roommate, a meal in Beans, and a movie library. Denise G: we don't see you much — what have you been "Doeing"? Chris M: a "Rosey" future and a designated smoking area in the library. Nicky P: "Simon" says mess up your hair and fart really loud! Steph P: a 2 year advanced diploma for your "February calendar man," People magazine publishing your birthday in every issue, and a plaque with your name on it in the Health Center. Lara R: a vacation in St. Martin and a "grilled cheese" sandwich. Jessica R: a few more activities and a "Chris"mas that lasts forever. Lisa S: what would you do "Dwit" another pair of hands and a "perma-tan"? Ann Louise H: a gift certificate to Talbot's and an official Edie Brickell groupie T-shirt. Kathy K: SPF 25, co-owner with Helga at the Belle Verriere and many happy years living in the "Dogg" house. Jen M: fewer hours at the Writing Center and an available boyfriend. Val P: a fresh start at Rollins without the legacy of R.P., and a six pack of Bartles & "James". Sandra W: What's your name again? Debbie J: when you realized "Maroney" was full of baloney you jumped in the boat with "Choate". Lisa G: some "Helmers" glue to stay together and a new wig. Steph H: a free pass to a singles bar and a mellow night out. Amy M: a week at the Beach with "Dennis" the Menace. Jen L: a new crush and boxing gloves. Carrie S: a healthy relationship, no second look at "cook" because there's a happy meal at "Mickeyh D's", and your own personal line of silk blouses. Laura R: a bowl of hot "soup" and a Jantzen swimwear catalog. Kendall H: dancing lessons, and author's rights to "a Southern Belle Sins". Debbie R: Paulina's hair flipping guide . . . "So happy with Hex". Tiffany S: a truckload of Pep 'N Energy pills, and a "Strawberry Randackerie". Page W: a "thicker" Mattress that doesn't make noise and a wombat trap. Steph Z: a boyfriend to get a "hold" on and a 32 oz. bourbon and coke. Jill W. no worries and a pair of higher heels. Carolyn R: a 'mock cocktail" for schooldays, pj's, and a maid. Stacey T: Are you "Content" with Troy? and Jheri curl to replace your Turbo top. Jillian L: Who? Janet P: a ticket to New Orleans, and a chance to "ReDeem" yourself with. Ann C: some "Bug" repellent to keep away the freshmen fleas and a bike that goes somewhere. Deena E: a job in Cassadega selling marbles, non-disposable "Huggies" and a tossed "Cesar" salad. Polly G: a new definition of "friend", and updated version of "Polly PureBread" and a job at the Masters & Johnson institute. Lisa H: stock in Ken Done, and to get what you deserve from "Merv". Carol K: a boyfriend that's deep but not too deep and author's rights to a book called "The New Me." Betsy C: Hola, de sus hermanas XOXO. Michelle A: happiness as Mrs. Jeffrey Cohen.

To our 34 pledges who we welcomed with delight — keep the bonds just as tight! We'll miss you all and remember: Give us Whiskey, Gin, or Rye, we'll we Kappa's till we die! P.S. Thanks to Jame, our alums and advisors.

One Love! Carol Kostick, Lisa Huffman and Nicole Periot give each other a hug.

Nothing left to do but smile, smile, smile Lisa Huffman, Carol Kostick and Nicole Periot are always regulars at Sandspur parties.

K K Γ

So happy together, Marni Wochna and Deb Ralton welcome the new pledges to Kappa.

Above: Kicking back, Tom Curran, Steve Echna, and Chris Hechser put up their feet during a SGA meeting.

Attentive during the meeting, Kim Steinberg, Chip Tedeschi, Christie Kigbort and Kerry Fortune pay attention so that they will be able to represent the school.

Above: Vice President Woody Nash confides in President Julie Hernandez during a faculty meeting.

SGA Secretary Ruth Jackson is the glue that keeps the school together.

The 1988-89 SGA

S.G.A.

The Student Government Association had a very successful year in this "Year of the Student." Under the leadershp of President Mike Guli, Vice-President (Administration) Julie Fernandez, Vice-President (Student Center Board) and this year's Senate contributed much to student life on campus.

The Senate's most important function was the allocation of funds to numerous campus organizations which provide programs for the Rollins community. In addition, the Senate approved the formation of several new clubs this year in an attempt to diversity campus activities.

Special activities sponsored by the SGA included numerous parties on the Sandspur field, a day at Wet n' Wild water park and the annual speaker's series which brought Ralph Nader to Rollins. Additionally, the SGA was able to arrange specially discounted airfare for Rollins students.

This year's Student Government Senate also underwent procedural changes in an attempt to become more efficient and have a greater role in decision making on college matters. A public relations chair was created to inform the students of the busines of the Senate and the office of parliamentarian was created, to be chosen by the Senate, to keep procedural order during meetings.

This year was indeed one of changes, and next year's officers and Senators hope to utilize these improvements to make the SGA an even more representative voice of the students.

Greeting Ralph Nader, Christine Faas and Sam Stark worked very hard to arrange him in the speaker series.

All in a busy days' work, Christie Kibort bus tles from class to meetings, to SGA and then to the library.

Rollins students show their excitement a the Octoberfest, the first party since keg were allowed back on campus.

SGA: Student Government Association

The Student Hearing Board

What a team! Woody Nash, Vice President Administration; JUlie Hernandez, President; Chip Tedeschi, Comptroller; and John Gurke, Vice President Student Hearing Board are pumped for for their upcoming terms.

Waiting for their meal, the Economics Club downs a couple of cool ones after a conventionn in Orlando.

Helping the president of the Econommics Club, Louis Ross, Deanna Furness proof reads a news letter on the word processor.

The economics club provides economics students, as well as underclassmen who are considering economics as a major, with an open forum of intellectual discussion on such topics as government policy, business trends and financial developments on a global basis. The club has sponsored debates between students and faculty on such subjects as the future of domestic and world economics in the 1990's. Ties have been developed with the Orlando business community, as representatives of the club attended Orlando Economic Club luncheons and met with local professionals to discuss popular economic issues. In the future, such ties will be strengthened and new ones will be developed as the club integrates its activities with other related student groups on campus such as College Republicans and the Pre-Law Society.

Organizations

Promoting Bush in his campaign, the College Republicans attend a convention and show their patronage and support.

Bush won! The College Republicans make a toast at Rosie O'Grady's to celebrate their party's victory.

A note to the Rollins Community:

This was certainly a year of transformations; the Tomokan was no exception. The staff and I have worked very hard to make the yearbook the best it can be, and we are exceedingly proud to present to you the revitalized Tomokan. We hope that our efforts to add captions, more copy, and a broad base of student representation will make the 1989 Tomokan an accurate and enjoyable record of the school year. I would like to give special thanks to SGA secretary Ruth Jackson, without whom I would never have gotten anything accomplished, and also thanks to Robert Hartley and the rest of the 1988-89 Pulse staff for their patience, support, and humor. Thanks for all your help. I hope that the changes we began in this book will continue in future books and bring back the tradition of excellence in yearbooks that Rollins College deserves.

Julie Sloan, editor
1989 Tomokan

Publications

The Pulse staff. Editor: Robert Hartley

The Sandspur staff. Editors: Jon Chisdes and Lori Sordyl

"Change" has certainly been the operative word in this, the Sandspur's 95th year. In the Fall term, editor Jim Annear was busy putting out three issues with a new format which focused on campus news as well as important controversial issues. When he resigned, a campus wide search for an editor found Sandspur veteran Jonathan Chisdes and senior writing consultant Lori Sordyl who agreed to be co-editors. Under their guidance, a new staff was built up and the newspaper was revitalized. It is now a forum for discussion and debate where Rollins students can voice their concerns about the important issues which affect them. Each issue of the Sandspur focuses on a special issue which helps inspire thought and debate.

ADEPT

Greenhouse

Let us begin by expressing our hesitation towards defining Greenhouse in concrete terms. It is important that those who read the following statement understand that it is like a "snapshot" which freezes its subject in time for the purpose of examination and appreciation.

Take for example a snapshot of a horse jumping over a wall. One can observe its size, form, and maybe even its landing spot from this picture. However it can't give an understanding of the internal composition of the horse which enables it to jump that wall. Furthermore, this snapshot does not provide a basis for juding the course o this horse after that instant.

Why the snapshot analogy? Quite simply, Greenhouse is that horse and ou members are its internal workings. Different parts, or members, have different functions, and act at differen times. Yet, they work together to mov the whole in some direction. The direction is determined not only by the external surroundings (i.e. the wall, Mead Gardens, or nuclear weapons), but also by the concerns of these internal parts (our members). As our surroundings change, our concerns change, and thus Greenhouse change

Organizations

Pinehurst

Listening intently, Thad Seymour, the college President, absorbs the speech about civil rights.

Sponsoring the celebration of Martin Luther King, Jr., members of the Black Student Union gather together to reflect on their heritage.

Jamaica Relief Crew

Defying the forces of nature, ROC raf down the Chatooga during Spring Brea

Organizations

Making every with step with precision, this ROC member courageously climbs a steep cliff.

ROC: Rollins Outdoor Club

ROC Ski Bunnies at Breckenridge.

ROC members prepare for a scuba trip to the Keys.

Organizations

At the Organizations Fair, Syd Brumbelow and Vic Wochna recruit interested students for BIG.

BIG, Biology Interest Group, was created last spring by a group of Bilogy students who wished to explore biology interests by seeing practical applications of concepts outside the classroom. The group provides a less formal atmosphere in which the students and faculty can interact by taking field trips, and organizing activities with other groups such as ROC.

This year's events included a tour of the Living Seas, canoeing, camping, hiking, scuba/ snorkeling and student produced video about biology at Rollins.

IG: Biology Interest Group.

Going against all odds, Sean Kinane flirts with danger.

The 1940's Radio Hour A New Musical

by arrangement with Samuel French, Inc.

by Walton Jones

Left to Right: John Sinclair, Tony Mendez, Mike Garuckis, Sue Sanford, Caroline Strong, Suzy Aaron, Jesse Wolfe, Trudy Perkins and Chuck Rodgers.

DRAMA

Singing a beautiful melody, Sue Sanford, Suzy Aaron and Caroline Strong make the radio station a success with their harmonized voices.

Raising money for the station, Bill Cowart and Jesse Wolfe broadcast a commercial between songs.

The Dining Room

by A.R. Gurney, Jr.

DRAMA

Rather irate at his wife, Anthony Gelsomino yells at Hilary Matthews for typing her term paper on the precious dining room table.

Clockwise around the table starting from the left: Sasha Bogdanowitsch, Rich Dickson, Hilary Matthews, Anthony Gelsomino, Larry Cotanche, Mary Allen, Lisa Olsen, Carrie Hansen, Pat Boyd and Cindy Corbett.

TARTUFFE

by Jean Baptiste Poquelin Molière

Left to right: Jill Gable, Jesse Wolfe, Cindy Corbett, and Ken Averett.

DRAMA

Hopelessly attracted to her, Jesse Wolfe attempts to steal Jill Gable from her husband Ken Averett.

Conniving and devious, Jesse Wolfe humbles himself in front of Ken Averett so that Ken will succumb to his demands.

Relentless in his endeavors, Jesse Wolfe uses charm as a tactic to seduce Jill Gable.

Vehemently against marriage, Connie Riggs feels that if her son, Bill Cowart, marries Marli Nelson, there would be an injustice against her other son who was previously engaged to Marli and now missing in action.

Consoling his wife, Rob Juergens explains that there is always hope for their son who is missing in action.

DRAMA

Passion flares as Bill Cowart and Marli Nelson kindle their love for one another.

Left to right: Connie Riggs, Marli Nelson, Rob Juergens, Mike Garuckis, Anthony Gelsomino, David Hoblick and Lisa Olsen.

ARTHUR MILLER'S

All My Sons

Poking fun at his friend, Jesse Wolfe dramatically emphasizes the punch line although Jim Gaylord seems to be a little bewildered.

Lined up for inspection, Anthony Gelsomino, Jim Gaylord and Jesse Wolfe put on a serious face in hope of avoiding a scathing reprimand.

Biloxi Blues

Drama

It is not easy being a stud, Jesse Wolfe explains to his bookworm friend Jim Gaylord.

Row 1: Sasha Bogdanowitsch, Jesse Wolfe, Jen Rhodes Row 2: Anthony Gelsomino, David Roofthooft, Brytton Baker, Jim Gaylord, Mike Garuckis and Tony Mendez.

Enjoying a change of pace from the hectic week, Dina Endsworth and Rick Wedge lounge on the Sandspur to the reggae tunes of The Functions.

Sharp as tacks, Bill Hassold and Kim Shearer make a point getting dressed for No-Name's.

Latest trend: Three Squaws (Sonya Ulrich, Liz Warthen and Pam Cook), show off their latest fashions of feathers and braids for Halloween.

Organizations

Throughout the year Rollins College has experienced many aspects of change. Organizations were not an exception to this trend on campus. 1988-1989 was hallmarked as the "year of the student," where students voiced their opinions and became more persuasive and adamant.

This year several groups developed and became quite successful. For example, the Economics Club involved many students who were interested about the domestic and international economy and its effects on campus. Exploring life in its gamut of forms, the Biology Interest Group also developed new enthusiasm. Greeks saw extensive transformations in their roles on campus. Contributing to the needy of the Winter Park and Orlando community, many greek oganizations supported them in charity functions. Fraternities and sororities were vehicles which represented Rollins as helpful and socially cohesive. In regard to greek residences, many experienced sudden switches dramatically affecting the system as well as the campus.

SGA, Student Government Association, transformed into an efficient and politically respectable ruling body. Robert's Rules of Order were enacted to serve as a vital part of keeping procedural order. There were also various amendments and introduction of bills to the Constitutions and By-Laws.

Change was certainly noticed by many students. The initiation to this change caused organizations to seek new frontiers and aspirations in their endeavors. New activities and organizations ameliorated the Rollins atmosphere, making extracurricular organizational activities more dynamic and defined.

Under-classmen

The Freshmen went through a transformation from high-school seniors from all parts of the country to become Rollins Students; the Sophomores and Juniors adjusted to everything from deciding their majors to trying to decide whether or not to go abroad. As everyone tried to just get through one more year, we looked forward to the transformations to come, and wondered at just how much we had changed already.

Hey, wait up!! Suzanne Green, Emily Finegold, Lisa Solomita discuss the weekend as they walk past the tennis courts. Photo by W. Carney

Transformations

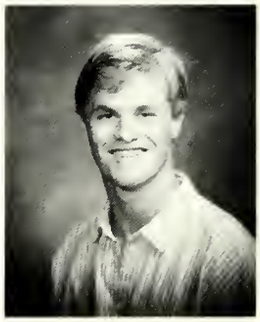
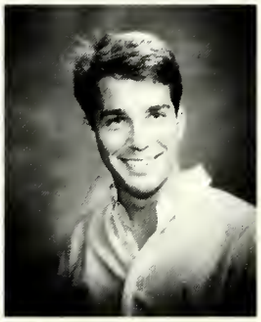
John Alfond
Amanda Aubinoe
Nicole Arland
Tamara Arnold

Jonathan Asher
James Ashton
Julie Ashworth
Jessica Austin





Rich Baloy
Peter D. Barrett
Wesley Bassett
Brock Baucknight

Peter Beaudette
Elizabeth Benedict
John Benton
Kerry Beverly

Freshmen

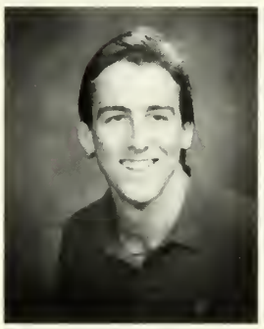
Sunita Bheecham
Alex Bichel
Anne Billingsley
Krby Binder

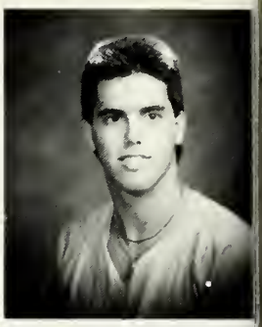


Andrew Blackman
Christine Bloom
Keith Boeck
Sasha Bogdanowitsch

Jim Boland
Carla Borsoi
David Boudreau
Nina Bradley

Donna Brinkman
Richard Bullwinkle
Kristen Burnam
Peter Burrows

Katherine Butler
Lane Campbell
Martha Cannon
Carmine Cappuccio



Tina Capodulupo
Winston Carney
Dawn Carpenter
Morgen Cesarano

Chad Richard Karla Chandler
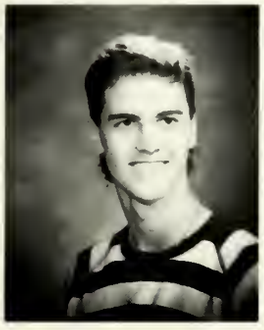
Amy K. Chinnery
David Ciambella

Trisha Coene
Charles Coffee
Shawn C. College
Georgia Collimore

Alexandra Fitzpatrick describes yet another hard night. Photo by W. Carney

Allison Conner
Karin Cordes
Laura C. Cross
Amy Curran

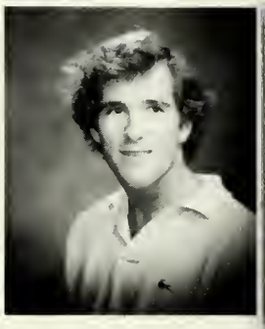


Fran Dayao
Chip Deklyn
Deedee Dennington
David Digiacomo

Jessica Dixon
Jennifer Drubner
Iris M. Ducharme
Dwaine Eastham

David Edgell
Lauren Ehrenberg
Lisa Ellis
Jason P. Evans

Meredith Ezrine
Floyd Danforth Fales
Daniel Farese
Steve Farrelly



Kirstie Farren
Lisa Feola
Jose Fernandez
Emily Finegold

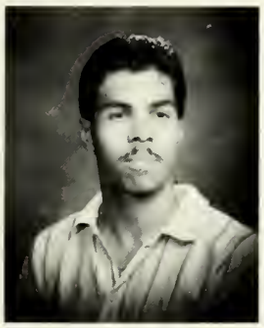
Alexandra Fitpatrick
Mimi Flinn
Erin Foley
Jennifer Foley

Kristi Forrester
Kimberly Friedman
Kathryn Fuller
Chan Ta M. Galloway

Gwen D. Garrett
Chichi Geier
Anthony Gelsomino
John Gettel

Jennifer D. Goblisch
Gerrit Goss
Nicole Gragnano
Cecilia Green

Suzanne Green
Erica Gregory
Mike Gregory
Jared Greisman



Karen Grindle
Rodney Gutierrez
Kerry Hansen
Brooks Hatfield

Lisa Hendry
Don Hensel
Samantha Hepburn
Frank Hernandez
Michael Hernandez
Louie Hillenmeyer

Roxanne Hinckley
Jennifer Holcomb
Jennifer Hosford
Allison Hug
Kristen Humann
Bill Jacobs

Richard Joseph
Suzanne Judge
Janelle Justice
Steven Kalman
Amy Keating
Daniel Kellman

Graham Kimpton
Kristen Kletke
Amy Knapp
Jon-Paul Labruzzo
Rachel Landreth
Lisa Landrum

Kari Larsen
Kriya Lendzion
Paul Lennicx
Teresita Levy
Monalise Lewis
Tamara Lilienthal

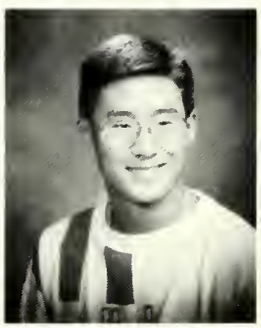
Lisa Lord
Todd Magargee
Jody McManus
Maritza Medina
Carlos Menacho
Malon Meredith

In the mass of people at the Kappa Luau, Wesley Bassett searches aimlessly for that special someone. Photo by W. Carney

Jennifer Miller
David Mills
Jeff Moffet
Jennifer Mook

Skipper Moran
Devita Mosley
Alex Muchinsky
Krisztina Mueller

David C. Murray
Tanya Zur Nedden
Tom Negron
Lara Nesmith



Brenda Nichols
Jesse Nickelson
Noell Nielsen
George Noble

Deirdre O'Haire
Pamela Orthwein
Alejandra Padin
Sarah R. Palmer

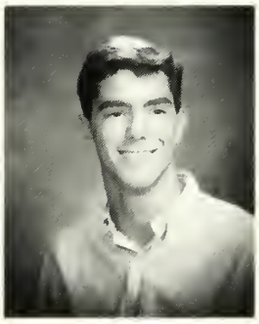
Lauren Payen
Rebecca Peele
Annalou Margaret Penry
Kim Peterson

Lindsay Peterson
Tracie S. Pough
Barbara Povalski
John Powell

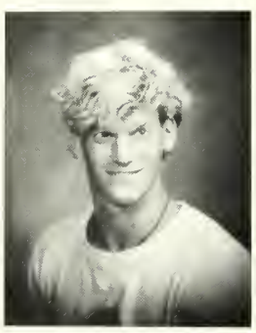
Jennifer Poynter
David C. Preaus
Kristin Preble
Maria Quijada

Milica Rakovic
Ruth Ramos
Edie Reiner
Chris Rendle

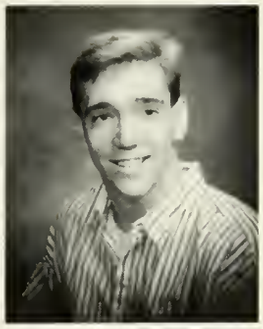
Chuck Resha
Wendy Richard
Matthew Richards
Felix Riera



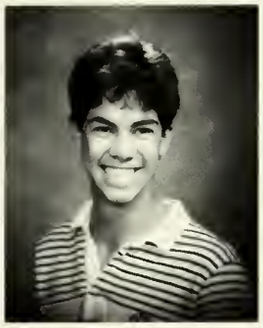
Joel Rifkin
Jasmin Rios
Chris Rizzolo
Julia Robertson



Bill Robinson
Michelle Rodriguez
Scarlett Rooney
Hillary Root



Mary Cullen Rosato
Steven Rotz
Lorrie Roy
Blanca Ruiz



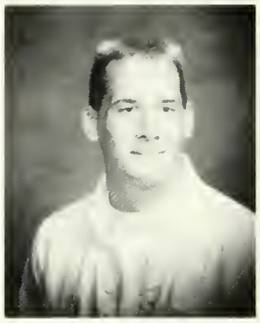
Maria Lizette Ruiz
Ty Saal
Sandy Sanders
Steve Sands

Jeff Tillou, Chris Gillen, and Scott Taylor enjoy another Thrusday night at No-Name's. Photo by J. Sloan

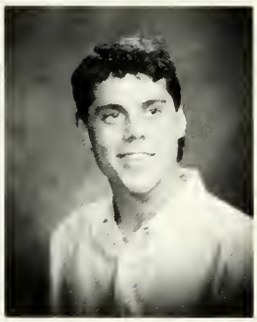
Catherine Sawruk
Sandra Scandrett
Doug Scarborough
Bryan Schaffner

Jeremy Schall
Christine Schillinger
Kimberly Schorer
Tania Schwegel

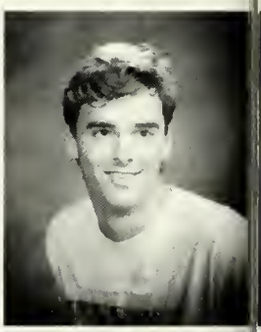
Lynne Scott
Jonathan Sellman
Nicole Shapard
Jennifer Shattuck



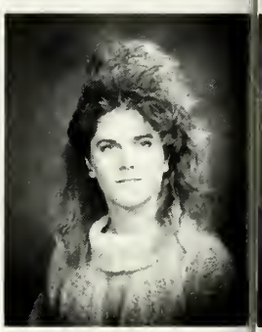
Caty Sherrill
Leigh Sigman
D. Drew Siok
Stella Skodnik



Courtney Smith
Lasheena Smith
Emily Speers
Michael Stanley



Marla Stelk
Sally Stevens
Drew Stewart
Caroline Stewart



Heidi M. Stubelis
Jennifer Stults
Marianne Sturken
Monica Swanson

Stephanie Sztanko
Richard Tagg
Claudia Tapia
Nelson Taylor

Tory F. Taylor
Ashley Timberlake
Nicholas Thomas
Mindy Tyson

Allyson Tuner
Brian Tuohy
Kyle Turner
Melin Uhler

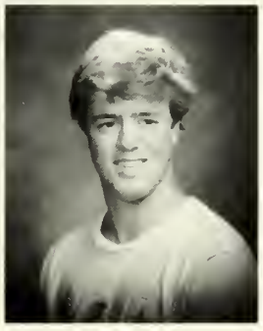
Giles Van Praagh
Michiel Vandekreeke
Tarita Virtue
Hong Vu

Eleanor Wall
Heather Walsh
Kathy Warner
Liz Warthen

Lori Beth Wayne
Kelly Weidner
Melissa Weiner
Wendy Weller

Rachelle Wells
Amber M. Werny
Tanya Whistler
Brian White

Keary White
Suzi Williams
Collin Wilson
Doug Wilson



Sherri Wood
Mara Woosley
John Nicholas Yerkes
Michael Young

Mark Zeytoonjian
Pam Zortman
Kristin Demusz

Doug Kriska "leaves his hat on" while going to class. Photo by J. Sloan

Sophomores

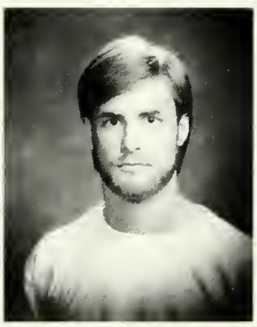
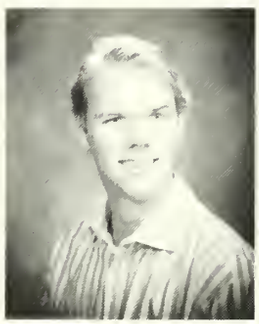
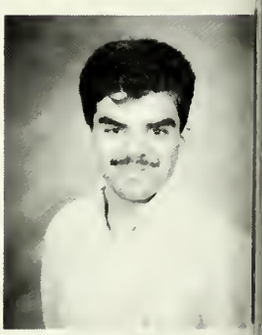
Kimberly Adams
Jude Alexander
Christopher Allen
Amy Anderson



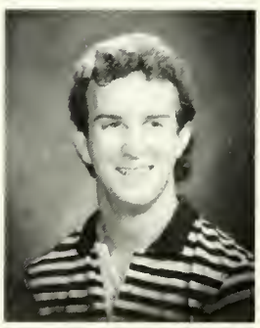
Stephen Anderson
Carissa N. Andres
Dan Atchison
Victor Augustia



Brytton Baker
Kate Baker
Kenny Baker
Ahmed Battla



Scott Beck
David Behrman
Julie Benton
Julie M. Black



Beth Blakely
Bill Blass
Annabeth Bounds
Chris Brook

Mark E. Burton
Rob Campbell
Michelle Caraker
David Carpenter

Sarah Castle
Lori Charlebois
Chrissy Chauncey
Carol J. Cimino

Kate Clark
Brian Clements
Thaddeus Coakley
Bill Cowart

William Crow
Christy Culbertson
Christopher Dann
Tim Davis
Martin Del Mazo
Brooke Denison

Alberto Diaz
Lauren Eastwood
Chip Ernst
Nicole Escudero
Ralph Fabian
Jennifer Falvey

Julie Fiske
David Flanigan
Cameron Forbes
Lauren Foss
Beverly French
Katherine Froid

Donna Gallo
Kathleen Gannon
Bowen Garrett
Russell Gay
Maria Gonzalez
Pedro Gonzalez

Susi Gonzalez
Marla Grant
Gerald Gray
Sol Guerrero
Chris Hage
Jim Hahn

Larissa Hampton
Matt Harrigan
Heather Harris
Nicole Hartwig
William Hassold
David Herman

Jen Smith, Andy Baker, and Pete Burrows enjoy the scenery at the pool. Photo by W. Carney

Mimi Herrington
Erin Higgins
Kyle Hoffman
Stephanie Holden

Jil Holsinger
Lydia Hooton
Laura Hope-Gill
Jennifer Horowitz

LauraLisa Housel
Leslie Hudson
Sybil Hudson
Kendall Hunter

Simon Illman
Gretchen E. Ingmanson
Carolyn Irving
David Jassi

Bill Jones
Mason Jones
Tina Jusino
Maude Kebbon

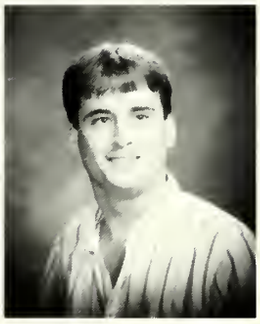
Kimberly Kemper
Cliff Kenwood
Susan Khan
Alice Christoff Kibort

Kris Kile
Karri Kleeman
Lynn Koletic
Robin J. Koster

Kathy Kraebel
Kathrin Kreyenberg
Ted Lahey
Pean Lai

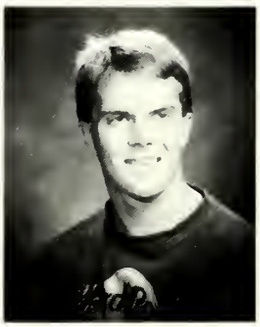
Geoff Lane
Kira Larson
Kendra Lasher
Kim Laskoff

Todd Lasota
Scott Liebel
Tatiana Liebst
Anne Lloyd



Lauren Logan
Christy Look
Stacey Maio
Perrie Malcolmson

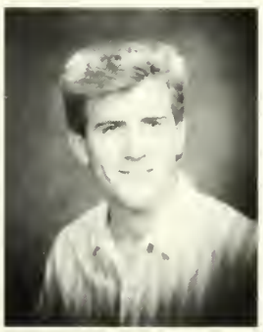
Michelle Mason
Robert Mason
Jennifer Mazo
Kathleen McCarry



Another mystery of life discussed over Down Under takeout by Tracy Roller and Jen Pitts. Photo by J. Sloan

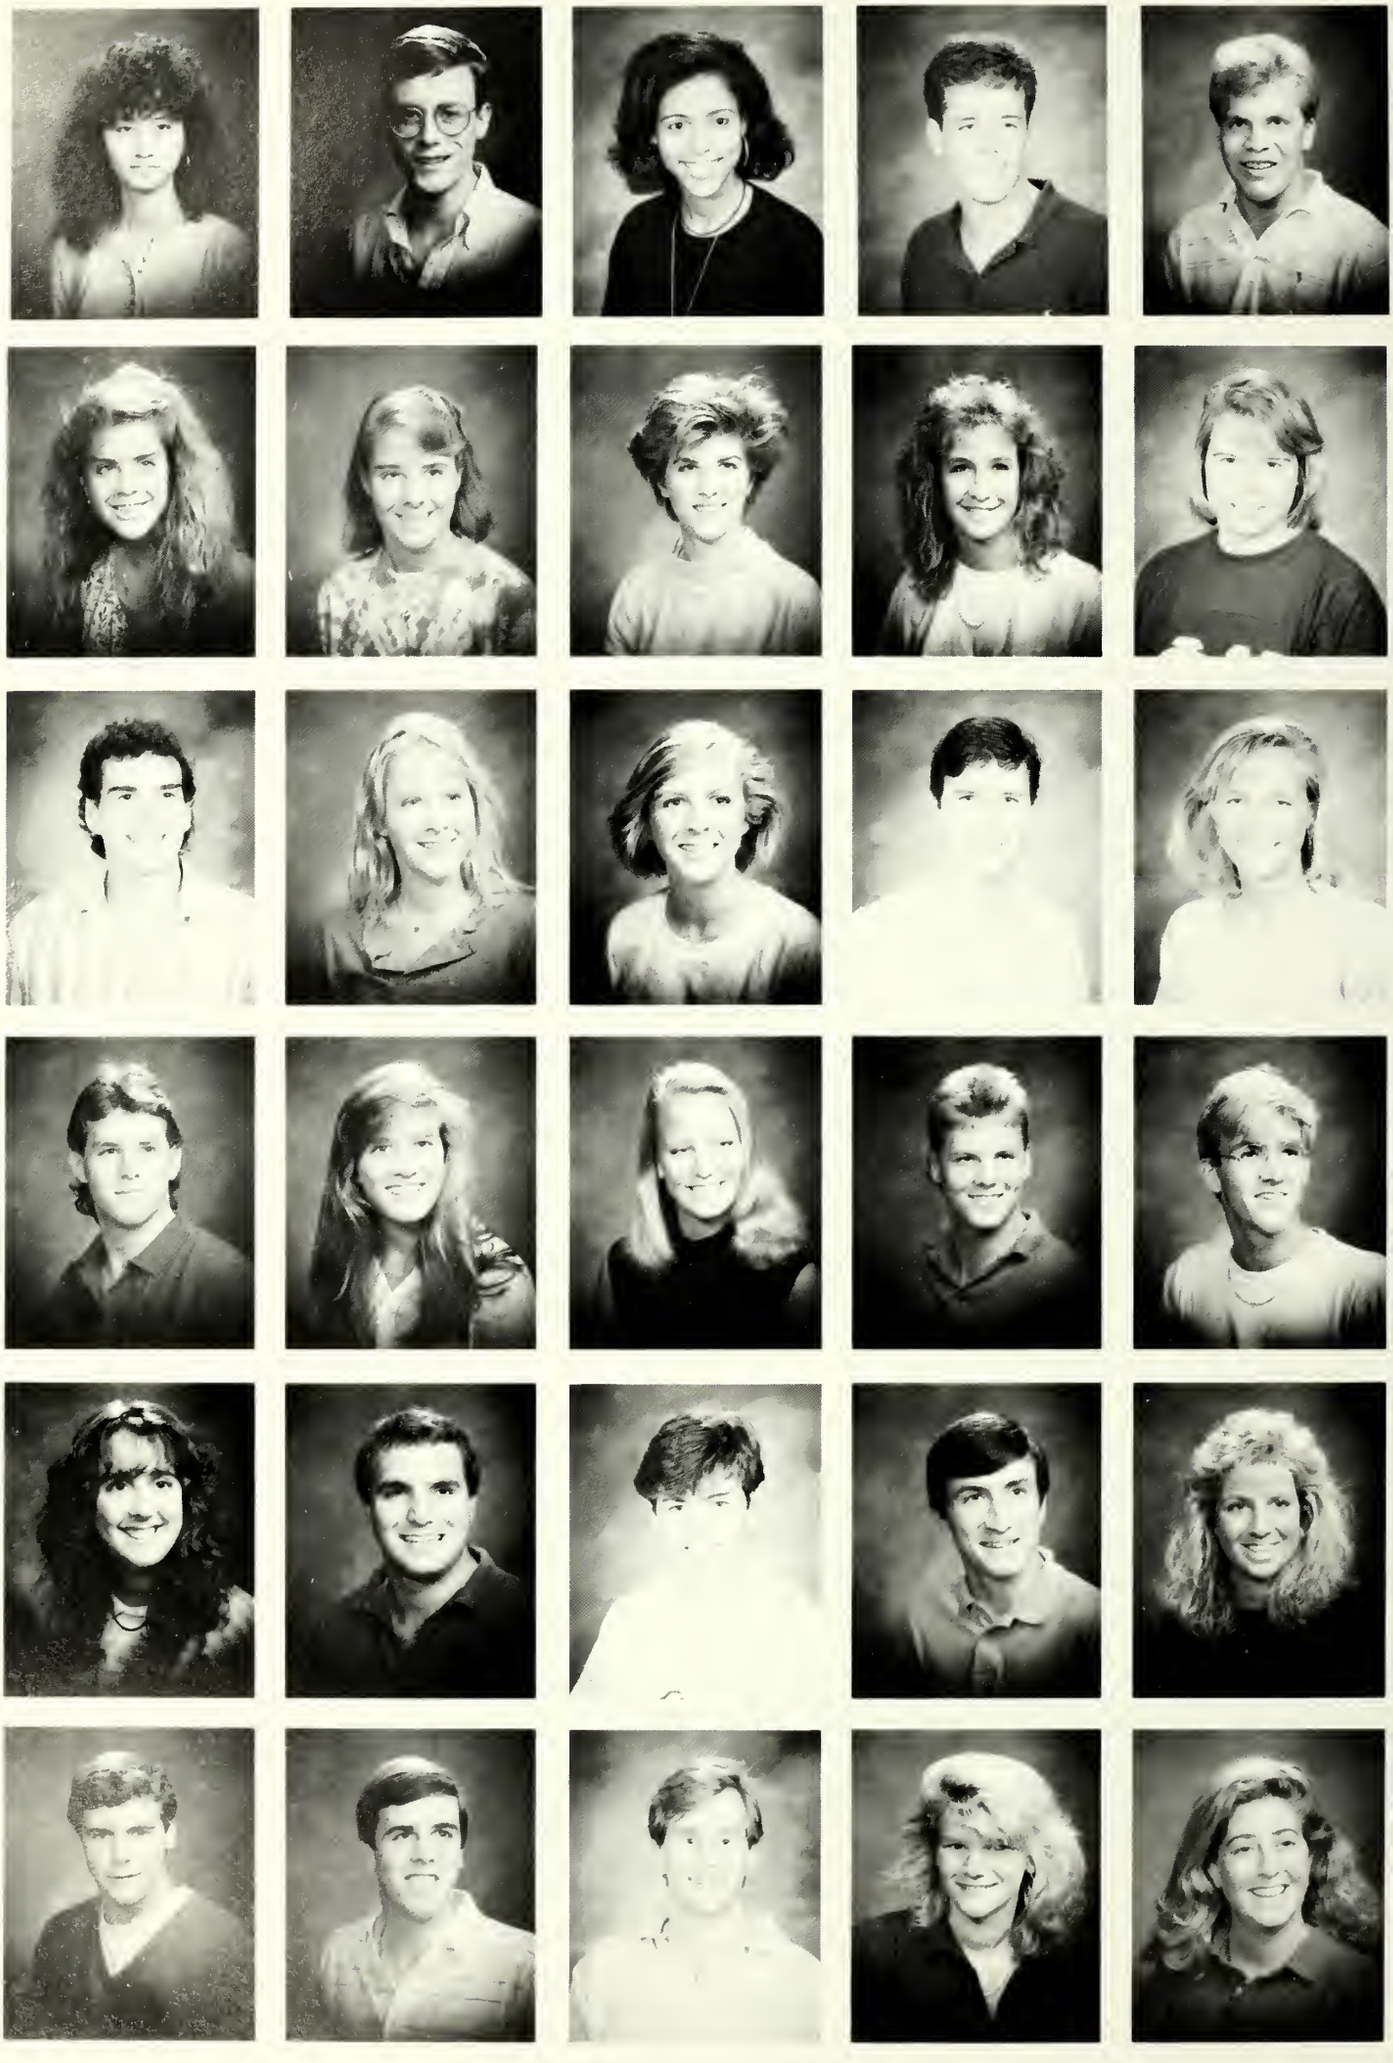
Scott McCredy
Keeley McEwen
Sheila McIntosh
Jennie Miller

Jill Mills
Estelle-Marie Montgomery
Brian Moore
Kiki Morosani



Chep Morrison
Catherine Morse
Jennifer Moss
Daniel Moulton

Amy Muntz
Mindy Murley
Christine Murno
Christina Maeder



Huong Nguyen
Kevin O'Barr
Ann O'Neill
David O'Shaughnessy
Jonathan Oaks
Santi Obando

Gina Paduano
Diane Palmer
Christine Peloquin
Valerie Perry
Jennifer Pitts
Heidi Pomeroy

Christopher Port
Sheryl Proctor
Deborah Ralton
Gene Ramsey
Laura Rasco
Michael Reeves

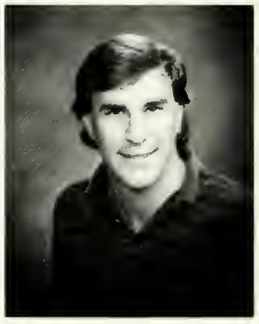
Jay Reid
Judith Rhodes
Michelle Rice
Keith Riley
Mark Roberts
Elaine Robertson

Tracy Roller
Dave Rondeau
Andrew Ross
Joseph Rotella
Kristy Salvage
Miguel SantoDomingo

Mike Savage
Frederick Scheel
Michael Serphos
Kimberly Shearer
Claudie Silver
Jill Slavens

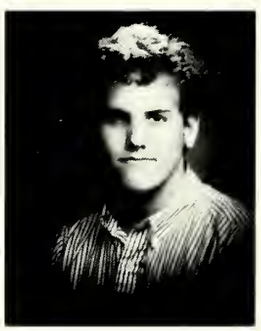
Steve Smith
Lisa Spurlock
Aimee Noel Staley
Sam Stark

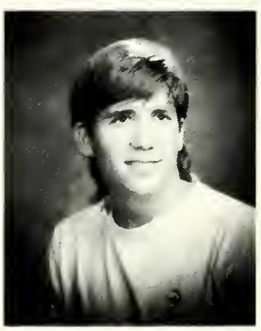
Kim Steinberg
Natalie O. Stoney
Larry Carlos Sutton
Chip Tedeschi

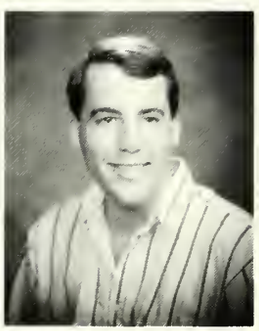


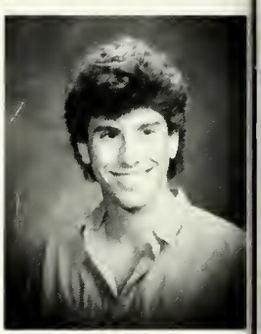
Anthony Terlecky
Priscilla Thayer
Anastasia Thede
Jim Tullis

Peter H. Unruh
Chris Unseth
Pieter T. Van Schaick
Rick Varan





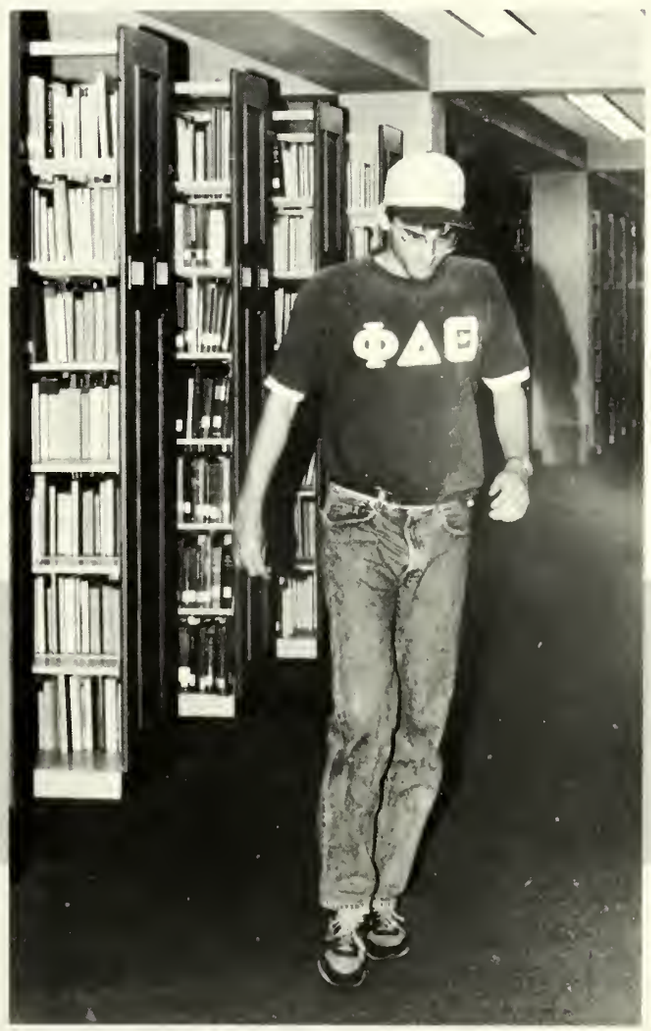




Christina Vita
Page Waller
Cheryl Warnock
Jeff Weidman

Nichole Wells
Marnie Wochna
Liz Worthing
Claire Zang

Laurel Zepp



Chris Stanley is deep in thought while roaming through Olin library. Photo by H. Hughes

Juniors

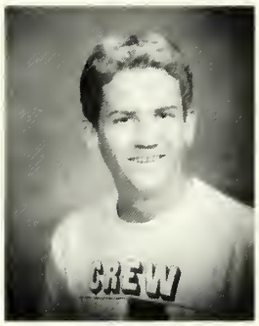
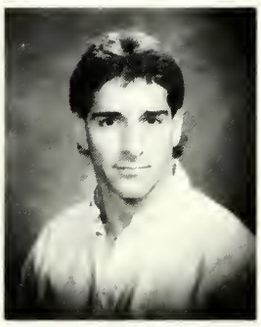
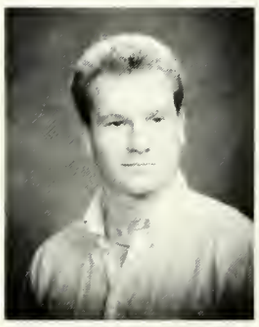
Suzanne Aaron
Christopher Aiello
Mark Albury
James Annear

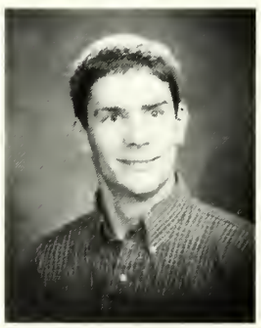


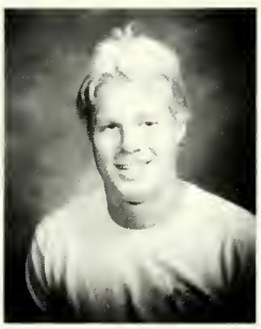
Alyson Austin
Harrison Ball
Eric Belleville
Clay Bellinger



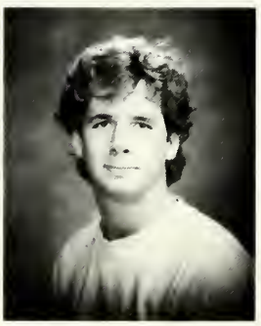


Robert Berry
Patrick Birchall
Dawn Bouch
Bridget Brady

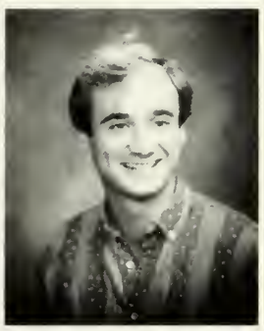




Scott Breslow
Campbell Brown
William Busch
Betsy Canfield



Miram Capen
Kathryn Carlson
Ann Casey
Camilla Chapman



Jonathan Chisdes
Judi Chisdes
John Chluski
Trey Coffie

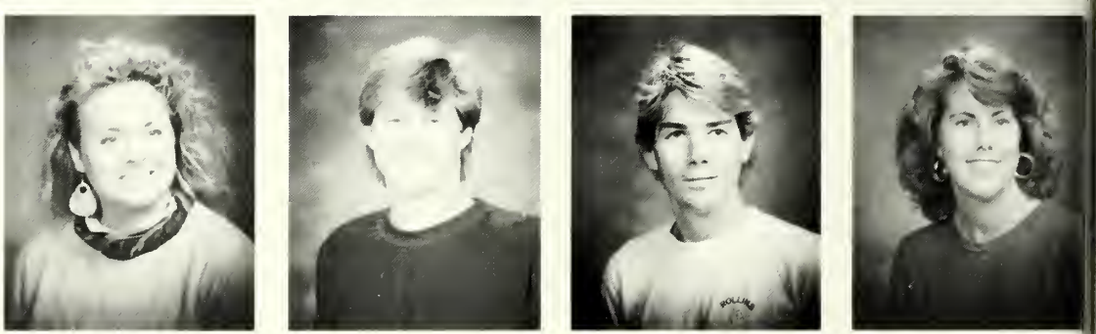
Mark Colina
David Collis
Jacqueline Colross
Thomas Coughlin

Brian Crowley
Bill Culhane
Tom Curran
Julie Dobson

Scott Doughty
Kimberly Dow
Deborah Drozeck
Genevieve Drury

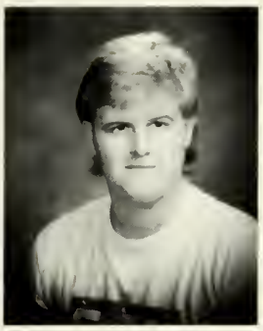
Stephens W. Dunne
Anthony B. Dupuch
Jim Dymkowski
Douglas Dvorak

Margaret Eastham
Steve Eckna
Steven E. Eill
Will Ellender



Heather Estes
Guy Famiglietti
Ralph Fegely
Lauren Feher

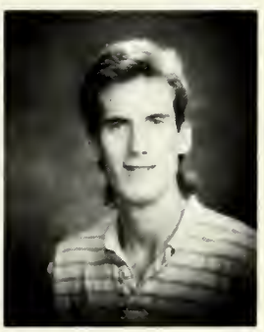
Chris Melucci discusses weekend plans with Debbie Ralton at the Kappa Luau. Photo by W. Carney



Gavan Ferguson
Mark Ferrante
Lara MJ Fichera
Pam Finley

Brett A. Freeman
Deborah Fuller
Shannon L. Goessling
Thira Goldfinger

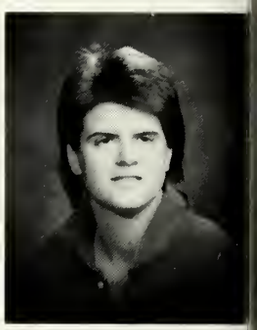
Polly Grable
Thomas B. Grey
John Gurke
Anne Hall



Thomas Hampton
Mike Hartmann
Eric Hathaway
Lauren Hays

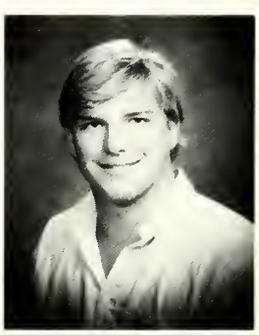
Seth Heine
Julie Anne Hernandez
Patricia Hernandez
Alison Hicks

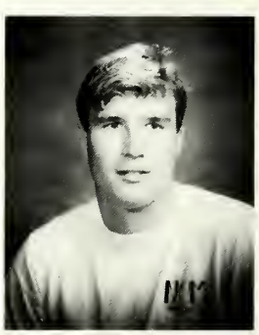
Betsy Hill
Stephanie Hinds
Erica J. Hirschman
Tiffany Hogan

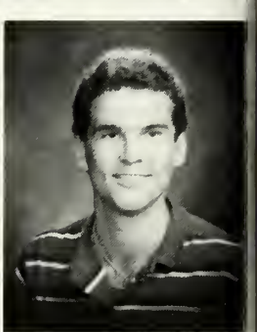


Beth Hollinger
Andrew P. Holman
Lisa Huffman
Anya E. Huggins

Paul Hughes
Lee Janelle
Brad Johnson
Craig Johnson



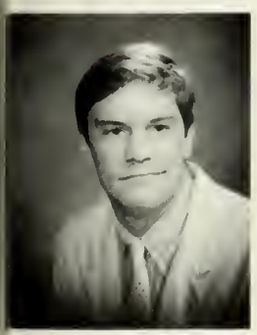




Jolee Johnson
Debbie Jordan
Justin Kellogg
John Kendrigan

Melissa Kimm
Sean Kinane
Aaron L. Kindel
James Hulbert

Dustin Hundley
Tyrone Jaeger
William J. Kinney Jr.
Helena Kjellander



John Koestner
Carol Kostick
Kimberly Ann Lankarge
Alan Larson

The Phi Delts find yet another spot to party. Photo by W. Carney

Edward Lavino

Michelle Leclair

Jonathon C. Lee

Larry Levinson

Jennifer Levitz

Declan Link

Jennifer Luckett

Joe Maio

Tony Marino

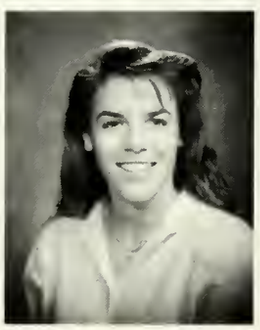
Jennifer Marshall

Troy Matthews

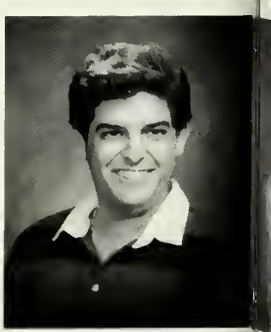
Michele Mattia

Budge Mead

Ronnie Meinen



Christine Melucci



Francis Mendez

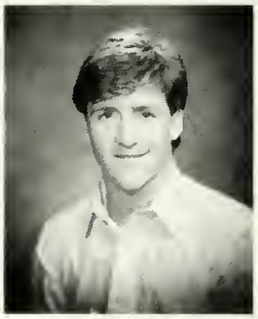
Michael Metcalf
Allison M. Moore
Brenden Moriarty
Donna Morrow

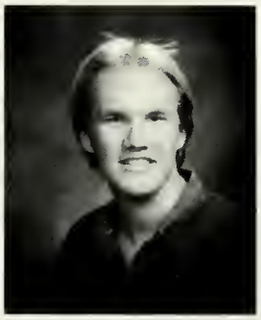
Danielle Moss
John Moss
W. Woodward Nash
Paul Needham

Brian Nolan
Valerie Norfleet
Alexander J. Paret
Nancy Phillips

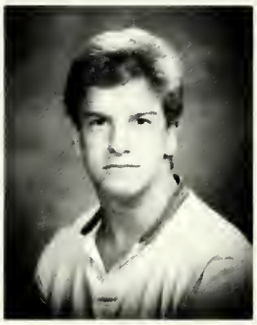
Lynn Pool
Carrie Price
Booker Pruitt
Todd Renner

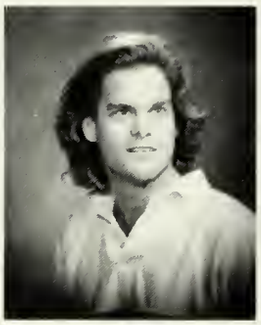
Dawn Romance
Louis John Ross
Matthew Rose
Gary H. Rothwell





Jessica Rucker
Ellen Ruff
Drew Samelson
Andy Slabaugh





Helen Smetheram
Jennifer J. Smith
Lisa Solomita
Rick Southwick

Paul D. Stein
Bonnie Stelzenmuller
Gerritt Stryker
Missy Tellier

Arne Terwillegar
Michele Throm
Tyler D. Todd Jr.
Elizabeth Ward

Rick Weiler
Chip White
Annamaria Wilheim
Chris Williamson

Regan Wohlfarth
Jacci Wozniak
G. Philip Zies

Step in the Right Direction . . .

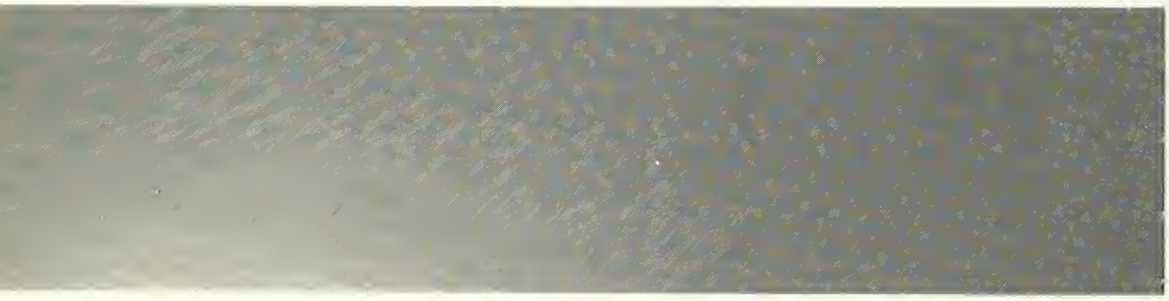
While we all worked hard to attain that sublime state known as "Senior," we also learned from our graduating friends that the key to it all is not to stress out. And althouth the steps to the various buildings on campus were meant to lead us into the halls of learning, they also proved to be excellent spots to just hang out and enjoy the scenery . . .

At the World Hunger Concert, Mike Webb, Rusty Weidel, and Chuck Todd look thirsty as Brendan Contant walks by with a case of soda. Photo by J. Sloan



Sometimes it's quieter outside — Jen Smith studies on the front steps of Olin. Photo by W. Carney

Some of the baseball players enjoy Fox Day on the front steps of Mills. Photo by J. Sloan

Jen Foley, Denise Garbarino, and Chip Tedeschi spend some time people-watching at the Spur. Photo by J. Sloan

At the St. Patrick's Day bash, some students relax from the hard work of partying in front of the Old Student Center. Photo by W. Carney

Work hard, Play hard . . .

Underclassmen soon learned that no matter how hard they worked, making the grade was not always as important as keeping their sanity. Whether it was trying to sneak a beer at the campus-wide parties or a game of campus golf, everyone seemed to know just how to relieve the pressures of college life . . .

It's always important to know who has the most pull around here, and Freshman Orientation was no exception. Photo by E. Hartley

Marnie Kalil, Shampa Saha, and Karen Weingold wait as Mike Webb checks for an ID bracelet at the Octoberfest. Photo by W. Carney

Matt Zayetti and Jesse Nickelson are caught by surprise at the St. Patrick's Day Party. Photo by J. Sloan

"I knew I shouldn't have gone to Harper's last night!" Jen Moss does some last minute studying. Photo by W. Carney

Freshmen learn quickly just how important studying is to Rollins life during O-week. Photo by R. Hartley

Seniors

Well, we finally made it! The Class of 1989 has seen a lot of change over their four year journey, both in Rollins and themselves. From the Centennial to the Summit, the Senior class was there for it all. The many memories and good times will remain a part of us forever; Rollins has shaped who we are and who we will become in the future. "What a long, strange trip it's been," but it was well worth the cost of the ticket.

Tom Curran and Christine Faas in action at a Student Government meeting in the Galloway Room of Mills Building. Photo by W. Carney

Transformations

RACHEL ADLER
Psychology

MARVELYN ALLAN
Biology

STEPHEN C. APPEL
Political Science

SCOTT ARCHACKI
Computer Science

RODERICK ARMSTRONG
English

MICHELLE P. ARTILES
Economics/Math

"I think I've changed in that I have matured a lot and become more independent."
— Rachel Adler

"I came in with a firm belief in the saying 'Be all that you can be.' Now I believe more strongly in the saying 'Enjoy life, this is not a dress rehearsal.' I now spend a lot more time just enjoying the people around me."
— Christine Faas

"I've meandered through the wishy-washy mode of taking liberal arts too liberally by majoring in everything under the sun before finally selecting one!"
— Rick Conger

"I started out as a Pre-med major; they weeded me out in the first semester. Now I'm a Theatre major (after a brief period in Psychology — I must have been crazy!)"
— Kim Averett

"I always feel like a Freshman when I get carded at 7- 11."
— Doug Deem

"I've become more serious about academics."
— Robert Beall

"I felt most like a Freshman when I took a comparative politics class with Luis Valdes . . . need I explain?"
— Cathleen Craft

"I actually called Beans the Rose Skillman Hall. I had just transferred in and my sophomore roommate just laughed at me."
— Kim Colquitt

"I lived in Elizabeth my Freshman year, and right after orientation week, all the girls on my hall were awakened in the middle of the night and dragged over to Ward for a serenade by the Freshman guys there."
— Bonnie Bickum

"I felt most like a Freshman when I almost failed out of Biology I."
— Tori Bonelli

"After graduation I plan to travel abroad for a year and then either go to Law School or into Public Relations."
— Marlynn Cone

KENNETH AVERETT
Theatre Arts

KIMBERLY AVERETT
Theatre Arts

CATHERINE BARRY
International Relations

JOSEPH J. BELLINI
Economics

Rod Armstrong gets in a little last minute studying in Orlando Hall. Photo by H. Hughes

"My best memory of Rollins College is Phi Mu sorority!!"
— Rachel Adler

"My best memory is the Summit!"
— Bonnie Bickum

"During Parent's Weekend my Freshman year, my parents, my roommate and her parents, and I all went out to dinner. There was over an hour wait at the restaurant, so we all had a few drinks in the lounge. By the time we were seated, the "funny dad contest" was well underway. Our dads tried to out-joke each other. It was hiliarious, we all had a great time — and I don't even remember who won!"
— Sydney Brumbelow

"I felt most like a Freshman when I was sitting in my politics class in the new Cornell building and my chair rolled off the second tier of the classroom."
— Christine Faas

"The thing that will always remain firm in my mind is how Rollins students, after proving so apathetic about everything else, staged an outright riot over the decision to paint the old Student Center blue!"
— Rick Conger

"I think I've broadened myself culturally, academically, and socially over the last four years."
— Doug Deem

"I felt most like a Freshman when I got four tickets in one week for having my car on campus freshman year."
— Robert Beall

"My best memory of Rollins has to be Fox Day!"
— Michael Darby

"I felt like a Freshman when I actually showed up for convocation."
— Marlynn Cone

JULIAN BENITO-DELGADO
Biology

BONNIE BICKUM
Biology

SUSAN BLOCH
Psychology

TORI BONELLI
Psychology

BRIAN D. BOONE
Latin American Studies

CAROLYN BOTELLO
Psychology

BERNHARD BRIJBAG
Biology

SYDNEY L. BRUMBELOW
Biology

ROBYN BURNS
Elementary Education

KIMBERLY BUYS
Spanish

DOYNE CALVERT
Psychology

MARC CAMILLE
English

SARA CARPENTER
International Relations

EDDIE CASINGAL
Economics

CHERI L. CLAPSADDLE
Math / Computer Science

ELIZABETH M. CLECKNER
Art History

KIM COLQUITT
English

CRAIG COMFORT
Latin American Studies

MARLYNN CONE
English

RICHARD S. CONGER III
International Relations

HEATHER M. CONNER
Political Science

KIRK CONRAD
Chemistry/Biology

BRENDAN J. CONTANT
Economics

KAREN COOPER-BZURA
Psychology

CATHLEEN CRAFT
Art History

CESAR CRESPO III
Economics

MICHAEL B. DARBY
English

A. JOHN DAVIDSON
Economics

EVA ANN DAVIS
Psychology

KIRSTEN A. DELLINGER
Psychology

KENDALL ANN DEMATTEO
Sociology

LISA DEMERI
Creative Art

BECKETT DENT
Art History

LOUISE DIETZEN
English

DANI DOANE
International Relations

TYLER DOGGETT
Windsurfing

ROBIN DOLAN
English

BARBARA L. DOOLITTLE
Psychology

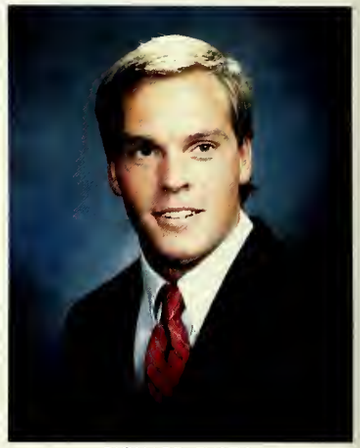
DAEGEN DUVALL
International Relations

LISA DYER
International Relations

GREG ECKSTEIN
Economics

CINDY ERHARDT
English

KIM ERWIN
Economics



RICHARD EUSTIS
Economics

Kenny sings at the dedication of the new Cornell Building. Also pictured: David Roofthooft. Photo by W. Carney

Senior Spotlight:

Kenneth Russell Averett

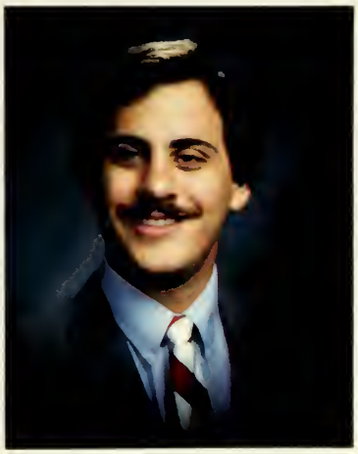
Live on the edge because you'll eventually fall off anyway," is how Kenny describes his outlook on life, and is an excellent example of his colorful personality that has helped make him such a success in the theatre. Before attending Rollins, Kenny had never studied drama but got his first taste of the stage in the Rollins production of "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat." From that moment on Kenny was destined for greatness.

Keny is originally from Hamilton Parish, Bermuda, but moved to Boston,

CHRISTINE FAAS
Politics



PETER FAZIO
Computer Science

ROBERT FEHER
English

JERI FERREE
Economics

KATHRYN FIELDS
International Relations

KEITH FINNEY
Theatre Arts

RITA FLANIGAN
Sociology

LAURA FRAISERO
Economics

Massachusetts as a child. He will be returning to the Northeast part of the United States when he enrolls at the Juilliard School for graduate work in the Fall. Amazingly, Kenny felt insecure about pursuing his theatre major at first and so investigated psychology, philosophy, and management studies before finally settling on the theatre.

By attending Rollins, Kenny has been able to remain true to his outgoing nature and loves "the 'country club' atmosphere." Kenny cites Fox Day of his junior year when he went to Daytona as his most enjoyable time at Rollins. As a Big Brother for Phi Mu Sorority, he encountered his most embarrassing moment by "letting it all hang out" at the Phi Mu house.

Kenny has performed in eleven plays at Rollins and around the Orlando area, including "The Boyfriend," "Three Penny Opera," and "Tartuffe." Kenny feels that he's learned much since coming to Rollins about his craft, including singing and dancing. In fact, he says his favorite pastime is to sing in the shower. We know Kenny will go far and we wish him luck.

Elizabeth Smith and Jamie Wanderman check out the latest issue of the Sandspur in front of the old Student Center. Photo by J. Sloan

Cedric Gaskin and Cesar Crespo in action at a Student Government Association meeting. Photo by: W. Carney

"I'm not really that bad — I swear."
— Cedric Gaskin

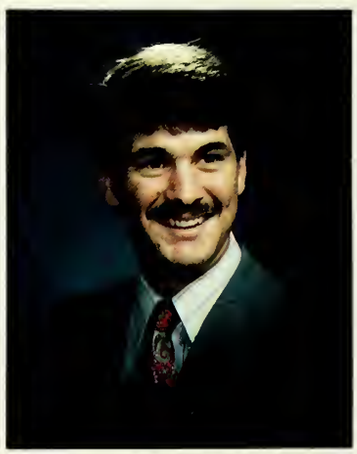
"I felt most like a Freshman when I went to class on the wrong day of the week!"
— Carmen Gonzalez

"I am at a Fraternity party, drinking warm domestic beer and dancing in 150 degree heat, and trying to communicate with people on a very superficial level. It's fun sometimes, but I always feel childish."
— Deanna Furness

HARDIE FRENCH
Economics

DEANNA FURNESS
Economics

JILL GABLE
Latin American Studies



WILLIAM E. GAILEY, JR.
Economics

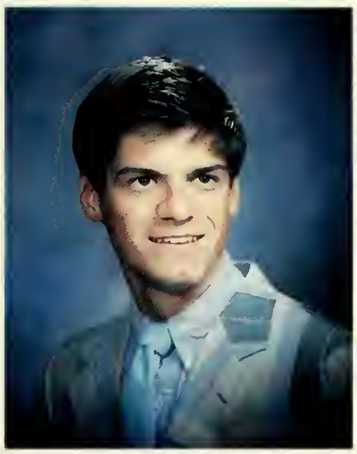
MICHAEL GARUCKIS
Politics/Theatre

CEDRIC GASKIN
English

JOHN GIGLIOTTI
Creative Art

CARMEN GONZALEZ
Psychology

AMY GORDON
English



MICHAEL GULI
Political Science

DOUG HAMMETT
Environmental Studies

HEATHER HANDRIGAN
Economics

CHRISTY HAUSER
Political Science

SUSAN C. HEIDACHER
English

STEVE HEINZ
Politics

CHRISTIAN P. HESSE
Sociology

WOODROW W. HICKS III
Sociology

JOHN DIEBERT
Environmental Studies

WARREN HINRICHS
Aerostudy

DANA HOFFMAN
Psychology

MELISSA HOLGATE
Music

BUELL HOLLISTER IV
Economics

PAMELA HOPKINS
Psychology

STEPHANIE HOUGHTON
English

ANNE M. HUGHES
English

WILLIAM HURBAUGH
Religious Studies

JOSE IAN INFANTE
Economics

JANE GRAY ISAACS
Sociology

MATT ISALY
Economics

Miles Neiman eyes the food at Fun in the Sun. Photo by: L. Eastwood

EMILY J. JANEC
Sociology

HEIDI N. JOHNSON
Elementary Education

JENNIFER JOHNSON
Religious Studies

JENNIFER C. JONES
Education

JOHN S. JOPLIN
English

MARGARET JOSEPH
Psychology

"I felt most like a Freshman when I cut classes all day unintentionally. Someone set my alarm 1 hour ahead. I kept going to classes, thinking they were all cancelled. It never occurred to me that my clock & watch were wrong."

— Jane Isaacs

"Rollins has exposed me to a variety of people, personalities, and experiences. I'll always remember all the great times with my friends."

— Krissy Mayfield

"One of my best memories will be sunrise at Daytona."

— Emily Janec

"My best memory of Rollins will always be the trips to the Keys with my Biology classes and all our adventure trips with ROC and Biology Interest Group."

— Laurel Masin

"The sheer beauty and tranquility of the campus, the close- knit relationships between students and professors, Park Avenue shops and restaurants — I'm going to miss it all!!"

— Jose Infante

"My best memory will be my trip to Mexico with my fellow students and Dr. Pequeno."

— Jamie McLennan

"The closeness between the crew team and all the fun we've had at regattas and Spring Break will be my best memory of Rollins."

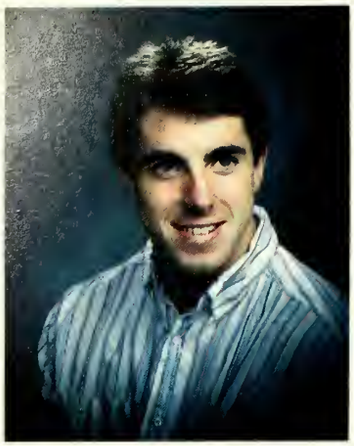
— Marija Mauk

"I'll never forget when the golf team was invited down to Jupiter Island to stay at a beach house and play Seminole."

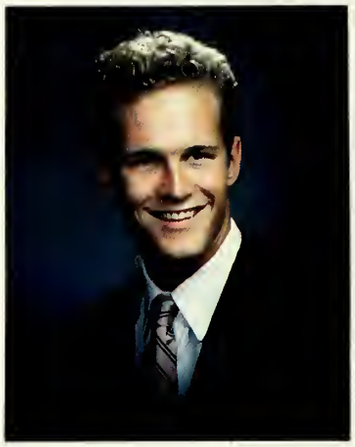
— Scott Lamoreaux

Paul Wollmann and John Fennell discuss astronomy in front of X-club. Photo by J. Sloan

MARNIE KALIL
Music/Economics



KEVIN KAPUSTA
Political Science



PAUL G. KEELEY
Sociology

KURT KOEHLER
Education

"My best memory of Rollins is being involved in the founding of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity here."

— Robert Feher

"My best memory has to be all the late-night talks with friends on my hall."

—Doyne Calvert

"Acting as Co-president of the Latin American Student Association is my best memory."

— Maria Padin

"I'll never forget all the friends I've made!!"

— Peter Fazio

"I now know not to ever hire Saga or Marriott."

— Ron Falconer

"My best memory at Rollins was my deep friendship with ex-Dean Bari Watkins." — Michael Scotchie

"That's the trademark of a Rollins student — I've always got an excuse and it's legitimate dammit!"

— Renee Porter

"Post graduation plans? Well, other than going to graduate school in English, I don't have any. No plans, no pressure!"

— Julie Sloan

"I felt most like a Freshman when, in my freshman year, campus security caught me with that Heidi girl over by McKean by the bush."

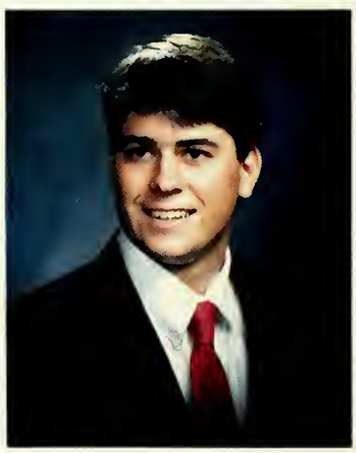
— Daegen Duvall

"My best memory of Rollins is the Centennial photo that appeared on 'Good Morning America'."

— Mike Truax

DONNA KONJAREVICH
Elementary Education

DAY E. LAGUARDIA
Political Science



SCOTT LAMOUREAUX
English

JULIE TAGGERT LAPENNA
Political Science

RICHARD LEHR
Psychology

EDMOND LEIDESDORF
Economics

GREGG LIBUTTI
Economics

JONATHAN C. LICH
Economics

Susan Heidacher talks with Catherine Morse after receiving a package from home at the Post Office in Mills. Photo by H. Hughes

Liza Oxnard sings with Good Karma at the St. Paddy's Day party. Photo by W. Carney

WILLIAM LIEBE
Chemistry

DEVIN B. LONG
Economics

MICHAEL MACPHERSON
Political Science

GREG MANN
Sociology

KRISTIN L. MARCIN
Sociology/Business

DON R. MARTIN
Art/Business

SCOTT MASELLI
Math

LAUREL MASIN
Biology

MARIJA K. MAUK
Math / Computer Science

SALLY MAUTNER
Elementary Education

JAMIE MCLENNAN
Foreign Languages

MONICA YVETTE MCNEIL
Biology

Kirsten spent a summer in Canada through a study program. She met some "great people," and here she is shown with them while hitchhiking around Canada during a break. Photo courtesy of Kirsten Dellinger.

Senior Spotlight:

Kirsten Anne Dellinger

"The thing I like most about Rollins," says Kirsten, 22, "is that I feel comfortable here. The smallness is nice because I can get to know my professors outside of class. My sister is a sophomore at Wake Forest and she says it's impossible to do that there."

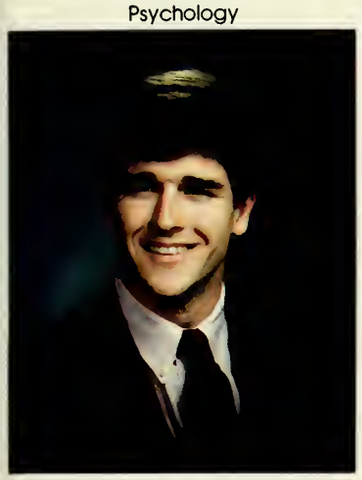
Kirsten was born in Raleigh, North Carolina but her family moved a lot. They now reside in Ormond Beach, Florida, but plan to move back to Raleigh soon. Kirsten chose Rollins for the practical reason that she got a

KRISSY MAYFIELD
Psychology

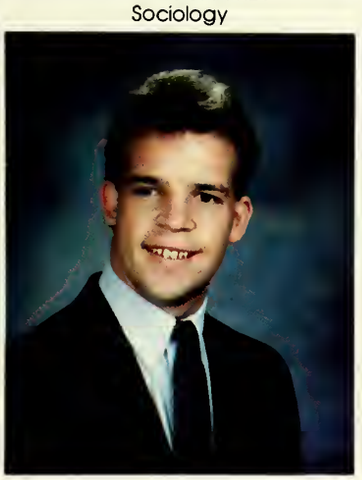
KELLY MCCAFFREY
Sociology

DARA LYNN MCQUEEN
Psychology

ANGELA MELTON
Art History



ANDREW MENYHART
Economics



MATTHEW R. MEYER
Economics

JANET MILLER
Foreign Languages

SARAH MILLER
Art

basketball scholarship here; besides being captain of the Lady Tars, Kirsten was also involved in the O-team which she says was "a lot of fun," and her classes are a big priority: "I really enjoy learning."

She says Rollins has enabled her to attempt things she wouldn't normally do; her leadership positions forced her to overcome her shyness. "I really do consider myself shy and it's been good for me to be involved in things here and force myself to open up." When asked other ways she feels she's changed since being at Rollins, she replied, "Well, I know I never want to live in a dorm again! Seriously, it's hard to put your finger on how people change here; I mean, we've all grown up, right?"

Kirsten's plans for after graduation aren't concrete as of yet; she's thinking of going in to the Peace Corps. She also wants to teach in a small private shcool. "I need a job that's people-oriented; I'm just not a corporate-America type person."

When asked how she balances all her activities, Kirsten holds up her R-Times and smiles. "I have to make a list or I never get anything done." Then her eyes twinkle, "And I don't get my laundry done!"

Kris Sylvia leans a weary head on Mark McKinney's shoulder during a long intramural soccer match at the Spur. Photo by C. Craft

SAMIA MIRZA
Psychology

JENNIFER MOORE

EVA MORAL Biology

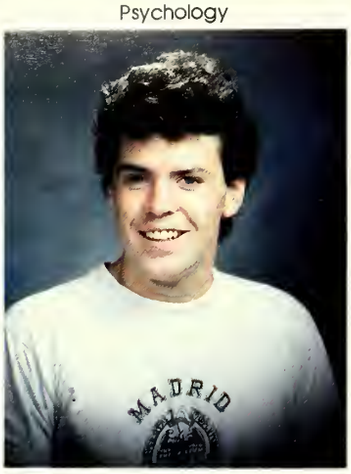
JULIA I. MORSE
English



STEPHEN G. MORTIMER
Political Science

TODD MURPHY
Creative Art

SANDRA D. MUVDI
Economics

LENA M. MYERS
Art History

BETH NEEDHAM
Political Science

MILES NEIMAN
American Studies

MARGARET NELSON
Theatre Arts

STEPHANIE M. NELSON
Sociology

"I felt most like a Freshman when I took a taxi cab to the Altamonte Mall and also when I had to carry around a map with me on the first day of classes."
— Stephanie Powers

"My best memory of Rollins College will probably be of the moment after the Summit, when we congregated to let balloons go in silence."
— Julie Morse

"My best memory of Rollins College is when Beans had three things I liked in the same day."

— George Andrew Platt

ANNA JEANNE NOTO
Political Science

RAYMOND O'BRIEN

MICHAEL ODELL
Chemistry/Math

BARRY PELTS
Political Science

KARON C. PETERKIN
English

LAWRENCE PIJANOWSKI
Environmental Studies

BRAHM PITERSKI
English

GEORGE PLATT
English

BETH PLOTKIN
Psychology

RENEE R. PORTER
Sociology

STEPHANIE I. POWERS
Psychology

LISSA D. PYFROM
Creative Art

MARK A. PYNE
Politics

RAMONA RAMOS
Fine Arts / Business

JILL RAWLINSON
English / Communications

MAUREEN REDFEARN
Spanish

CHARLES REITZ
Modern Foreign Languages

TAMARA RIVERA
Theatre Arts

JEANINE RODRIGUEZ
Latin American Studies

LISA ROLLS
English

ROBERT ROSS Anthropology

DAVID ROTENBERG
English

KAREN RUTLEDGE
Sociology

MICHAEL RUDENMARK
Economics

SHAMPA SAHA
Psychology

CARRIE SAIA
Politics

JOHN SANFACON
Economics

TERESA SCAR
Math

JEFFREY C. SCARLATA
Environmental Studies

KRISTEN SCHILO
English

CATHERINE SCHUMAN
Psychology

J. DIRK SCHWENK
Philosophy

Dave Rotenberg and Chris Hoffman hang out at the pool between classes.

Photo by: J. Sloan

"I felt most like a freshman when I went for my first walk down Park Ave. and couldn't find my way back to campus."

— Carrie Saia

"I felt most like a freshman when I was at the KA freshman girls' cocktail party and fell for all the bull."

— Karen Rutledge

"I felt most like a freshman when I actually went to the pool (now I won't leave the courtyard at NCM!)

— Kristen Schilo

"In the four years I've been here I learned that if you leave your door open the only thing people steal is your beer."

— John Sanfacon

"I've become more environmentally concerned over the last four years."

— Shampa Saha

"I'm working hard at not having any definite post-graduation plans. At the moment, I'm trying to decide between getting the money together to travel Africa and moving to Philadelphia to fritter away my life playing guitar."

— Dirk Schwenk

Jamie McLennan checks her campus mailbox for real mail — no more flyers!!! Photo by: H. Hughes

Picking A Major

When we were all Sophomores, we had to buckle down and pick a major, a decision that has at the very least shaped our college careers if not our lives. Such a momentous decision caused a lot of consternation in some; others just let the chips fall where they may. Senior Vic Wochna shares her thoughts on this process:

"I think, at one time or another, I have been every major in the book. One week my Freshman year, I was a Biology major, then Economics, English, Sociology, Anthropology, and finally a year later I settled on History. I was told that your major does not necessarily determine your career — good thing because there's not much you can do with a History major. I can teach, work for the government, or trace family trees for the historical society. If I had to do it over again I'd pick a really interesting major, something different that I could use as a conversation piece at a cocktail party. Something like Middle Eastern languages or Greek Carpet Design, or even Arctic Eskimo Myths and Rituals. Unfortunately no college in the world offers these, so I guess I'm stuck with History."

Well, Vic, there's always grad school.

"It took me a while to settle on a career, but I never changed my mind about my major."
— Bonnie Bickum

Right:
Brendan Contant and Rich Eustis check out the crowd at the St. Paddy's Day party at the Old Student Center. Photo by W. Carney.

Left:
Steve Appel talks with Robert Hartley in front of Beans. Photo by J. Sloan.

Vic Wochna walks towards Beans from Ward, deep in thought about life, majors, and roommates. Photo by J. Sloan

"In the four years I've been here I've changed my career and interests too many times to even think about!!"

— Deirdre Eller

MICHAEL SCOTCHIE
French

JULIE SELIGSON
Biology

PETE SIEDEM
Economics

ANITA A. SIMPSON
Economics

JULIE M. SLOAN
English

P. ELIZABETH SMITH
Art History

SCOTT SMITH
Economics

KELLI SMITH
Psychology

Even with his busy schedule, Chris stops to chat with a friend. Photos by: J. Sloan

Senior Spotlight:

Jonathan Christopher Lich

"My brother came here around ten years ago, and I really liked it when I came to his graduation," says Chris, 22. "He liked it here too, and that gave me a good incentive to come here." Chris is from St. Croix, the Virgin Islands, and plans to possibly go back there after graduation. He also might stay in Florida; he says his plans "aren't concrete yet. Maybe I'll tour with the Dead this summer," he grins. Chris's activities at Rollins are diverse and include being active in Sullivan House, a leader on the Freshman Keys trip his Junior year, being president of Phi Delta Theta, the O-team, and playing on the Rollins soccer team.

Chris feels that Rollins has made him "more relaxed and easygoing — I'm not an uptight Freshman anymore." He sees that over the last four years that the Rollins community has become more aware of certain social problems like alcohol abuse and date rape; he feels that things are more strict now than they were four years ago. Chris really likes the "smallness of Rollins — you can be close and personal with each other here" and yet he sees a lack of enthusiasm on the part of the student body as a whole: "There's always the students who get involved in everything, but it seems that there are a lot of people who choose not to get much out of college."

His favorite professors here are Dr. Rogers — "He taught a class on the History of Radio and TV; it was one of the most entertaining classes I've ever taken" — and Dr. Kypraios because he's really aware of "what college is all about." Chris, when asked if the rumors were true that he and Tommy Tar are acquainted, smiles and says, "Yes, it's true that Tommy and I are good friends. He's gotten out a lot more this year, not just to games but to parties too. He's really coming out of his shell." If Chris could take one thing from Rollins with him, it would be one of the golf carts that Campus Safety uses to get around campus. He didn't want to mention any names in connection with that. Summing up his Rollins experience, he says, "If I had to do it all over again, I wouldn't change a thing."

"If I had to do it all over again, I wouldn't change a thing."
— Chris Lich '89

"I've progressed from settling for the practical to pursuing the possible."
— Lori Sordyl

"My hair grew."
— Julie Sloan

How have you changed since you came to Rollins?

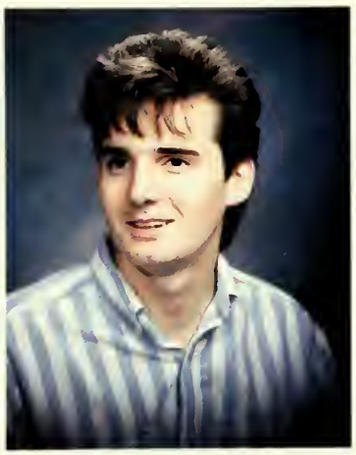
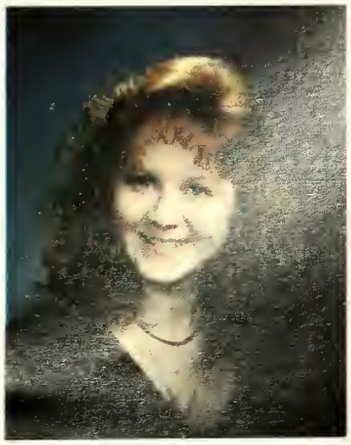
LORI G. SORDYL
English



OLIVER SPEHN
Economics

SCOTT SPIELBERGER
Economics



MIRANDA STANFIELD
Math

CYNTHIA STARSMEARE
Economics

LISA STEVENSON
Studio Art

MEL T. STOCKWELL
Computer Science

DONNA M. STRAM
French/Business

SCOTT SULZER
Psychology

KEITH SZACHACZ
Political Science

JAMES A. TAGG, JR.
Economics

Liz McCloskey shows prospective students around the Rollins campus. Photo by J. Sloan

"After graduation I plan to direct pornographic movies out in California."

— Jim Tagg

"My best memory of Rollins College will be walking down the aisle with my diploma in my hand."

— Miranda Stanfield

"I feel like a Freshman when I go to a party and get asked, 'Are you a freshman?' or 'Do you go to this school?' "

— Keith Szachacz

Merv Davidson, Booker Pruitt, and Chris Lich discuss weekend plans on the third floor balcony of Phi Delt. Photo by H. Hughes

"I feel like a Freshman when I'm wandering around campus on a Friday night looking for a party, or when I'm at a fraternity party getting beer poured all over me."
— Nina Turpin

"My best memory of Rollins College will be becoming a member of ODK my Senior year!"
— Lynn Threatte

1988-89 Student Government president Mike Guli goes over some pre-meeting notes with Robert Hartley. Photo by W. Carney

KIM TAYRIEN
Psychology

ALLISON TEGER
Anthropology/Sociology

LYNN THREATTE
Russian Studies

JENNIFER TILLIS
Elementary Education

EILEEN TOBIN
Political Science

JEAN-MARIE TUCKER
Political Science

Tim Barney cruises back to the boathouse after sail boarding on Lake Virginia. Photo by J. Sloan

MICHAEL H. TRUAX
Environmental Studies

TRACY TURNER
Spanish

NINA TURPIN
Psychology

WHITNEY TUTHILL
Spanish

CAROLYN C. VANTINE
History

LISA C. VINCENT
Sociology

"My best memory of Rollins is watching a star fall over Lake Virginia."
— Lori Sordyl

John Keostner leaps for the frisbee on Mills Lawn. Photo by J. Sloan

"I felt most like a Freshman when I had to learn how to do laundry!"
— Bettina Walker

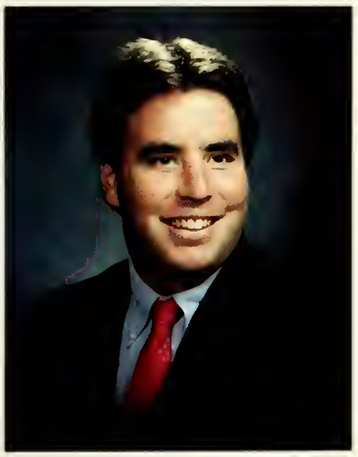
ANDREA VON EITZEN
Foreign Languages

BETTINA WALKER
Elementary Education

JAMIE A. WANDERMAN
Psychology



RICHARD E. WEDGE
Economics

KAREN G. WEINGOLD
Psychology

SUZIE WEST
Spanish

HEATHER WHEARY
Spanish

ANDREW WHITE
English

"I think the most embarrassing thing that ever happened to me here was when I dropped fifteen trays consecutively in Beans."
— Vicki Wochna

"My best memory of Rollins was when I stole a Campus maintenance vehicle and hit the flag pole in the middle of campus."
— Andrew White

We asked some faculty & staff members for their parting thoughts on the Class of 1989. Dr. Roy Starling (who is going on sabbatical next year) said, "I feel as if I'm graduating with them. The sooner we go, the better." On a more serious note, Student Government Secretary Ruth Jackson said:

"Every year when graduation comes, it's a happy and a sad time. I know I'lll miss so many wonderful people who are leaving. It's hard to say goodbye because I've fallen in love with the Seniors, and I wonder who will ever replace them. Then each Fall, in comes the Freshman class and I fall in love all over again."

Daegen Duvall and Rick Lehr are two of the many people who en joyed a day with out Beans at Octo-berfest. Photo by W. Carney

JOHN WILLIAMS
Politics

NIQUITA WILLIAMS
English

VICTORIA WOCHNA
History

DANIEL WOLF
Economics

Senior Spotlight:
Emily Jane Janec

Emily Janec, 21, says her plans for post- Rollins are to "become a professional camp counselor, and if that doesn't pay I plan to work in a flower shop and be discovered by a phonetics professor." Emily is a native Floridian from St. Augustine, although she spent the formative years of her childhood in Alaska, a fact that her friends attribute her schizophrenic outlook to — the temperature difference was just too much. When asked why she chose to attend Rollins, she says, "I don't know. I procrastinated on my application, I guess." What she enjoyed most about Rollins were her "daily visits to the pool, Spiderman, being a vicious party animal, and playing cards."

Emily is a Chi-Omega and spent the Fall term of her Junior year in Dublin, Ireland. She says that "there, people accepted you for yourself and not some facade or who you know." She also dislikes making microwave popcorn in the dorms. She wouldn't elaborate, although the editor has a sneaking suspicion about this reluctance and a certain incident in which she came back from a weekend away to find her microwave mysteriously retarded.

Other activities of Emily's include Rollins Camerata, being a Senior RA in Ward Hall, and keeping goldfish. We asked her how she felt she'd changed since being at Rollins, and Emily replied: "Well, in the last month I've decided that beer doesn't taste so bad after all. Seriously, I don't think I've changed all that much — I'm still a natural blonde."

Emily is a Sociology major, and this gives her an interesting perspective on Rollins' social life. "There's something that's always bothered me — just what is a Tar anyway?" Her favorite professors are "all in Ireland. Oh, and the Sociology Department, because they paid me to say it."

Emily says that if there's one object that she could take with her from Rollins, it would be the fireball cannister in the bookstore — full, of course. Her best memory of Rollins has to be the night she didn't sleep with John Ford. We respectfully declined to inquire any further.

EDITORS NOTE*: The opinions stated in the above article are intended solely for the purpose of amusement and entertainment; they may or may not reflect the views of everyone on the staff and should be taken with this in mind.

Opposite page: Emily chills out between songs at the dedication of the new Cornell Social Sciences Building. Also pictured: Marnie Kalil, Bill Harbaugh, Mark Ferrante, and Michael Metcalf.

Below: Emily organized lots of activities for her floor in Ward, like this barbecue on the fourth floor balcony.

JESSE WOLFE
Theatre Arts

PAUL WOLLMANN
Economics

DUANE WOODEN Sociology/Math

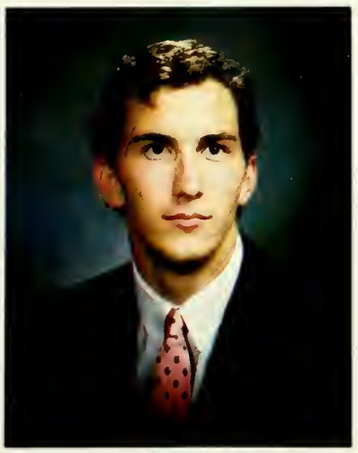
JEANETTE WOODS
Math

SCOTT WRIGHT
Economics

SOTIRIOS YANAKAKIS



STAN YUKICA
History

Faculty/ Staff

The faculty, too, have undergone transformations this year — their participation in the Summit showed that they cared about Rollins as much as the students. Involvement in the Faculty Lecture series sponsored by NCM was high, and faculty attendance at sporting events was visible. Rollins faculty and staff have always had a reputation for caring, and this year they proved it.

Coach Warren Witherall and Rusty Weidle come back from another tough day at the boathouse. Photo by: J. Sloan

Transformations

Taking a Break

Dr. Phil Pastore stops outside Olin Library to chat with Dr. Karl Peters. Photo by J. Sloan

Contrary to popular belief, the faculty didn't spend all their time figuring out ways to torture students with impossible paper topics or final exams. No, they too had outside interests. Faculty were seen on the tennis courts, playing basketball in the Field House, attending Tars' baseball games, even strolling down Park Ave. for a leisurely afternoon walk. Whatever the activity, it was a sure bet that the faculty and staff knew how to enjoy the Florida lifestyle. Now if we could only have talked them into having all classes at the pool . . .

On the steps of the Olin Library, Jean Bloodworth, Charlotte Wells, and Lynne Phillips enjoy a soda break. Photo by J. Sloan

Dr. Barbara Carson puts everyone to work at the English Department picnic. Photo by J. Sloan

Egad, another chair stolen!! No, it's just Dr. Alan Nordstrom relaxing on Mills Lawn during the Fox Day barbecue. Photo by J. Sloan

Dean of Curriculum and Provost.

Administration

President of the College Thaddeus Seymour.

Dean of the Faculty

Alyson Austin, Cammy Chapman, and Jamie McLennan show off their Fox Day spirit with Thad.

Administration

International Programs

Admissions

Dean Steve Neilsen has somebody else on his back — but this time he doesn't seem to mind!

What do you think it is? Sister Kate enjoys some fare from the Cornell Cafe.

Dean of the College

Administration

Student Aid

Registrar

Residential Life

Annie Hughes battles the crowd during Drop/Add week.

Mike Lawrence gives some last minute instructions to Aaron Kindel during the Special Olympics.

Social Sciences

Sociology

Economics

Education

Another successful play performance discussed at the Cornell Cafe. Photo by H. Hughes

The Arts

Art

Music

Theatre

Who needs basketball when there's GQ?

Athletics

Does my hair look alright? Gordie Howell gets some advice from Coach Coffie at the baseball players' graduation ceremony. Photo by J. Sloan

Athletics Department

The Sciences

"It would be easier to control nuclear fusion!" Dr. Pat Polley makes a stand at the Housing review meeting.

Heather Estes gets the nutritional breakdown of a soda from Dr. Perky Coleman's son Chris at the Honors Degree barbecue. Photo by J. Sloan

Is it moving? Dr. Pedro Bernal views a chemistry experiment. Photo by H. Hughes

Biology

English

"We think he was about this tall." Dr. Ed Cohen describes the culprit who stole his chair. Photo by J. Sloan

"Say, that reminds me . . . " Dr. Roy Starling launches into another funny story for Kim Tayrien. Photo by H. Hughes

Prof. Jean West thinks the poetry assignments were very . . . creative.

English Department

Business Services

Student Services

Print Shop: Craig Gill, Paul Carroll

Olin Library

Career Services: Linda Downing, Bill Ferguson, Linda Hobrock, Wanda Russell, Martha Schirard

Archives: Gertrude LaFramboise
Bookstore: Joan Braungart

Campus Services

Crummer Business School

Physical Plant: Gar Vance, Minnie Allan, Eliza Brown, Alberta Dessow, Cleola Ellison, Irene Harrell, Frances Patterson, Herman Patterson, Katherine Small, Emmett Tompkins, James Way, Helen Wheeler, Frederick Wooden

Faces

Debbie Austin
Midge Black
Mildred Blair

Bev Buckley
Barbara Carson
Philip Chen

Paul Croce
Lorraine Crouse
Jonathan Erlich

Ruth Frazier
George Gascon
Linda Gentry
Julia Hatton

Murray Herman
Charlotte Johnson
Ellen Klein
David Kurtz

Jack Lane
Mike Lawrence
Mac MacDonald
Nancy Marshall

Row 1: Pat Maticka, John McCall, Suzanne McGovern, Linda McKnight, Roger Mercure. Row 2: Robert Moore, Imtiaz Moosa, Marcia Niblack, Alan Nordstrom, Marilyn Oglo. Row 3: Twila Papay, Molly Perry, Kathleen Reich, Sandra Richmond, Stephanie Schauber. Row 4: Shirley Sellers, Joan Straumanis, Mona Thomas, Kathryn Underdown, Deborah Walk. Row 5: Judith Walter, G. Thomas Wells, Myra Wells, Sarah Wiegard, Scott Witherell.

Candids

Forget this Summit stuff — when do you think they'll serve lunch?

The Honors Degree barbecue gave Ted Scheel a chance to ask Dr. Hoyt Edge some deep philosophical questions about Marriott.

John Langfitt, Shampa Saha, and Sally Mautner listen attentively to a speaker in the Old Student Center.

Candids

Dean Denicola relaxes during the Summit.

Thad shows some school spirit with his license plate.

The Student Housing Rally holds a captive audience.

Can-dids

Coach Klusman gets a little miffed over a ref's call.

Gone fishin': John Langfitt prepares for another rough weekend.

Candids

Coaching, athletics — ha! I'd rather be at the pool!

Honest, Dr. Nordstrom, I'll have the paper done by 5:00!

SPRING SPORTS

Spring showed itself as more than just a time to clean house — the athletic organizations cleaned up!! The Tars proved themselves to be national contenders in golf, crew, tennis, and baseball. The Rollins sluggers went all the way to the World Series of College Baseball for the first time since 1954 after sweeping arch-rivals Tampa and Florida Southern at the regional competition. And while the rest of us turned our thoughts to sun and fun, the athletes' dedication helped transform Rollins into something more than "the country club."

Beware sunbathers!! Drew Ross makes a pass near Dinky Dock. Photo by Tom Haynes

Transformations

Baseball

Front Row L to R: Jim Hahn, Rob Helmick, Darrell Card, Harry Ball, Fred Seymour, John Brocket, Marc Camille, David Ciambella Middle Row L to R: Dan Garrison, Chris Mader, Bill Jacobs, Keith Jones, Doug Dvorak, Larry Pijanowski, Joe Bellini, Gary Roberts, Mike Lynch Back Row L to R: David Flynn, Trey Coffie, Carmine Cappucio, Clay Bellinger, Chris Connelly, Matt Meyer, William Gailey, Ward DeKlyn, Mike Cole, Kurt Koehler

You're outta there! Joe Bellini prepares to make the play. Photo by A. Abril

Rob Helmick shows his agility as he balances after a pitch. Photo by A. Abril

Way to fire it! Dave Flynn puts his best efforts forth against Barry. Photo by A. Abril

On Deck: Doug Dvorak waits his turn to slug another one out of the ballpark. Photo by J. Sloan

Come to Daddy! Dave Ciambella fields a grounder (Above). A left, Larry Pijanowski goes for th YoPop sign Photos by / Abril

Comin' at ya! Ward DeKlyn lets one fly to catcher Dan Garrison. Photo by A. Abril

Darrell Card anxiously waits for the umpire to make the call. Photo by J. Sloan

Well, candlesticks are always a nice gift! Photo by A. Abril

Lance Howden cheers the Tars on during Baseball Week, while behind him Kurt Koehler's parents eagerly await their son's turn at bat. Photoby J. Sloan

Twist and shout! Clay Bellinger knocks the ball out. Photo by A. Abril

Fresh! Trey Coffie congratulates Larry Pijanowski on his scoring run. Photo by J. Sloan

Juan Valdez waits for the pitch. Photo by J. Sloan

C'mon, just one more! Carmine Cappucio prepares to steal a base. Photo by J. Sloan

Men's Crew

Ken Scott (coach), Steve Eill, John Colantino, Justin Moore, Dave Spraker, Jay Courtney, Chuck Coffee, Doug Gradick, Tony Lynch, Chris Rindle, Kirby Binder, Carlos Maenacho, Scott Janse, Mark Albury, Martha Cannon, Chris Allen, David Flannigan, Todd Tindle. Photo by A. Abril

Work that Body!!! Doug Gradick, Jay Courtney, and Chris Allen row together during a Saturday early morning practice. Photo by A. Abril

Stroke! Coxswain Martha Cannon commands her crew at the Mayor's Cup Regatta. Photo by A. Abril

The lake may be smooth as glass, but Scott Jansen, Chris Allen, and David Flannigan strain to give all of their power to the crew. Photo by A. Abril

Let's Go!! Chip Tedeschi, Dave Flannigan, and Dave Spraker put their ears in place as the race time approaches. Photo by A. Abril

A power ten puts Rollins ahead of the U.C.F. team. Photo by A. Abril

Mark Albury becomes another victim of the winning coxswain's tradition. Photo by

Martha Cannon asks Scott Jansen, Chris Rendle, Kirby Binder, and Carlos Menacho if they wouldn't mind rowing a little bit faster! Photo by A. Abril

Through rain, sleet, and driving snow, dedicated Carlos Menacho and Kirby Binder will row!! Photo by A. Abril

The men's varsity eight crew put their hearts and souls (and backs) into their 2,000 meter piece. Photo by A. Abril

Women's Crew

Coach is all smiles as he looks at the other teams' rosters — "We'll kill 'em!!"

Women's Tennis

Get Back!! Jillian Leckey returns serve against that Florida Southern team. Photo by A. Abril

Front (L to R): Amanda Tate, Jillian Leckey, Kathy Kraebel, Robin Dolan, Susan Sandford. Back (L to R): Bev Buckley, Head Coach, Milica Rakevic, Lauren Shipley, Jennifer Miller, Nicole Shapard, Erin Higgins.

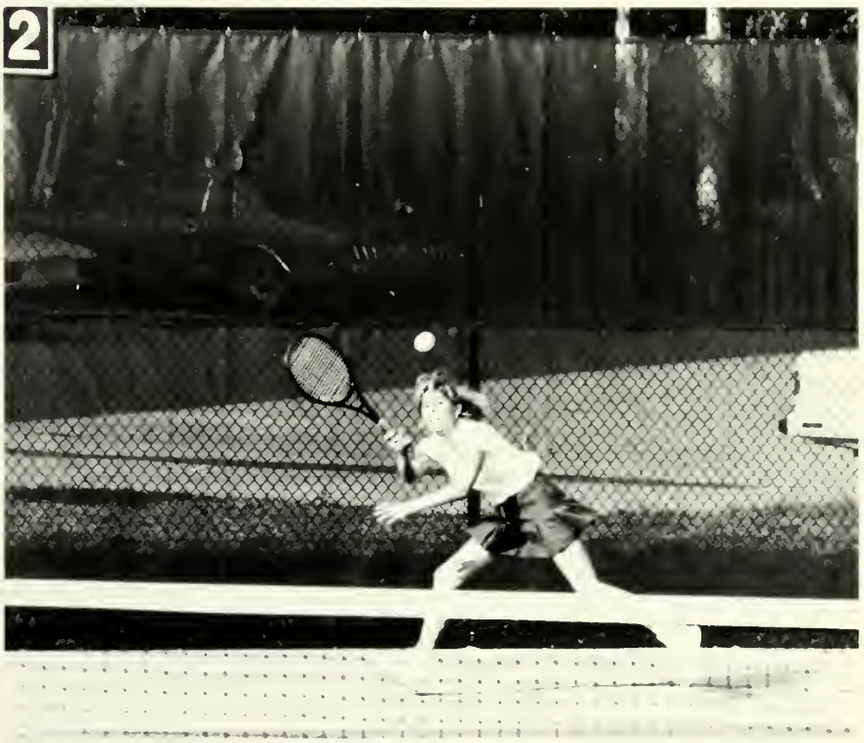
One, two, cha-cha-cha. Jennifer Miller dances around the court. Photo by A. Abril

Amanda Tate follows through on her shot. Wouldn't her first coach be proud? Photo by A. Abril

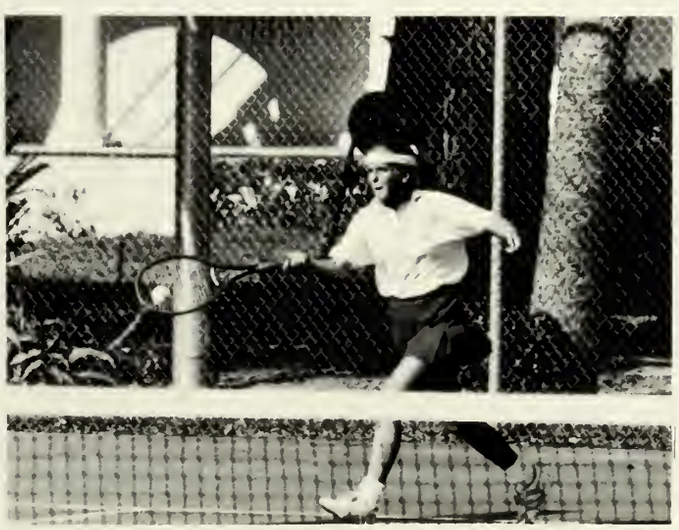
Who says women are the gentler sex? Amanda Tate shows her powerful stroke to all. Photo by A. Abril

Oh what a face! Amanda concentrates as she goes for the ball. Photo by A. Abril

Game, set, and match! Lauren Shipley serves an ace!! Photo by A. Abril



Meep, Meep!! Jillian Leckey does her imitation of the Roadrunner to get to this ball. Photo by A. Abril



I've got it, says Susan Sandford. And she does!! Photo by A. Abril

Men's Tennis

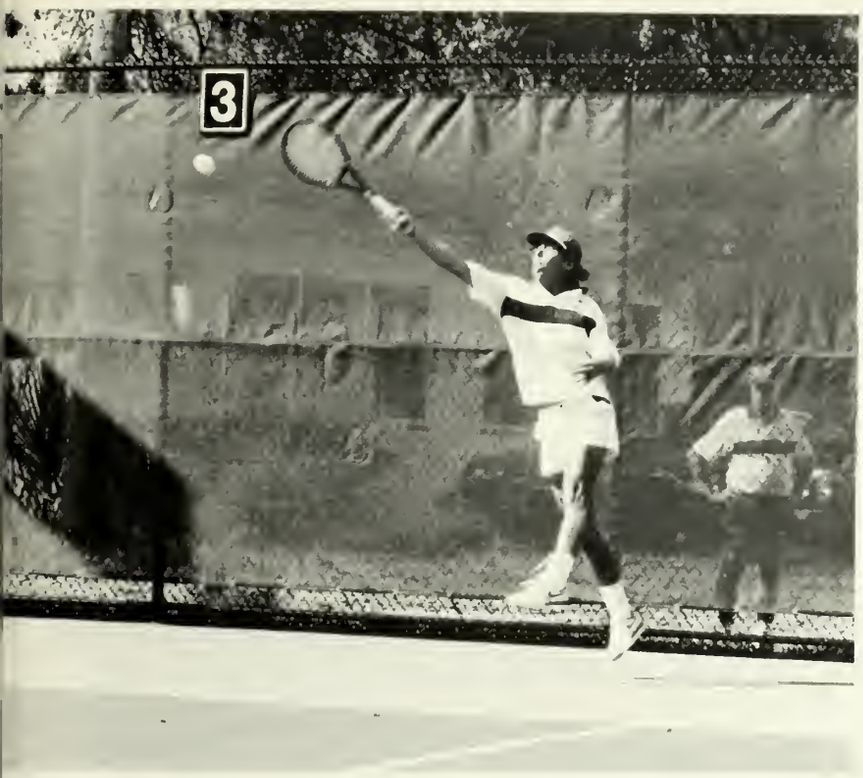
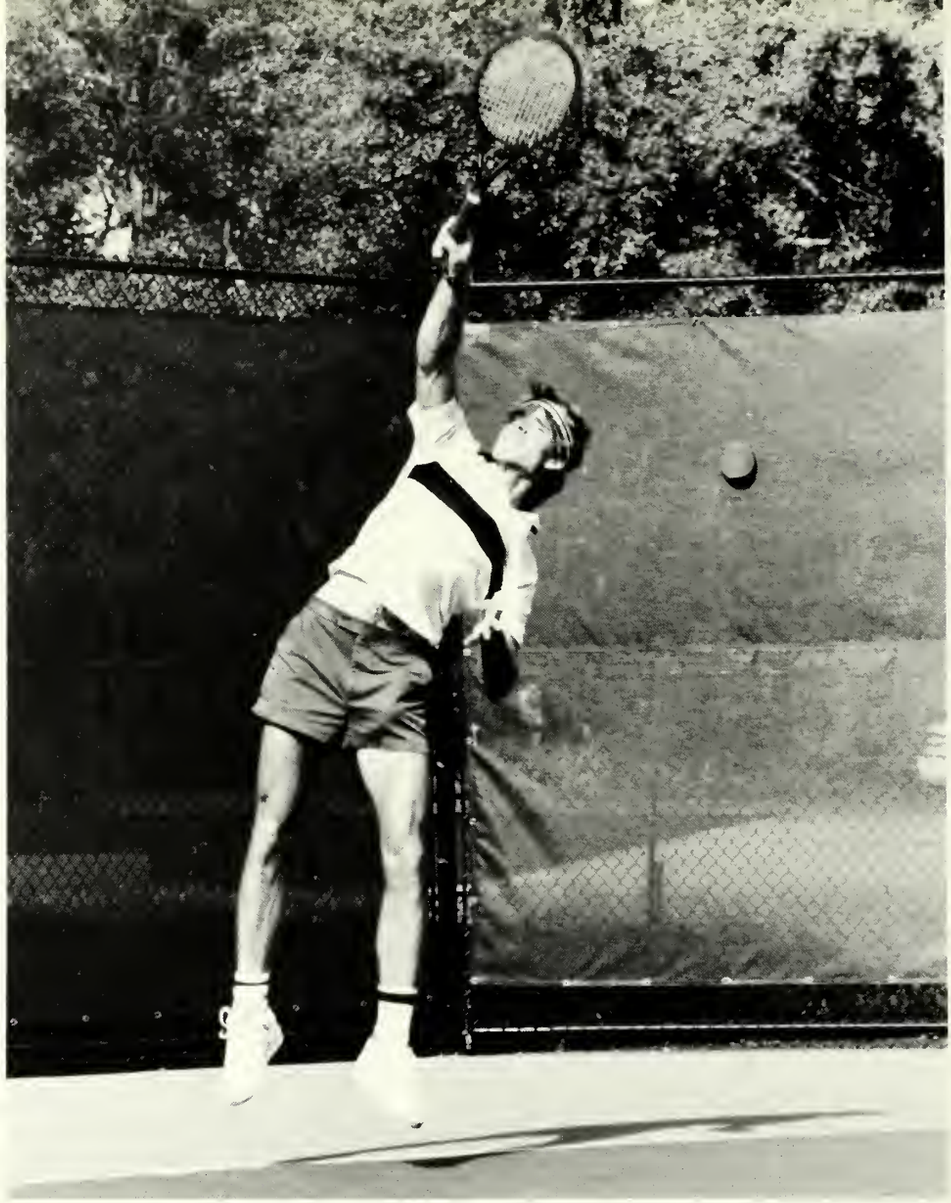
Powerful Stuff!! Rolf Bonnell practices on the new Bert Martin tennis courts. Photo by A. Abril

Front (L to R): Alex Dank, Paul Lennicx, Scott Spielberger, Matt Rose, Steven Kalman. Middle (L to R): Head Coach Norm Copeland, Bart Potter, Barry Pelts, Jim Dymkowski, Courtland Boyle, Michael Hernandez. Back (L to R): Assistant Coach Craig Uttley, Don Martin, David Boudreau, Floyd Fales, Rolf Bonnell, Andy Platt, Dan Sallick, Rob Ober, Graham Kimpton.



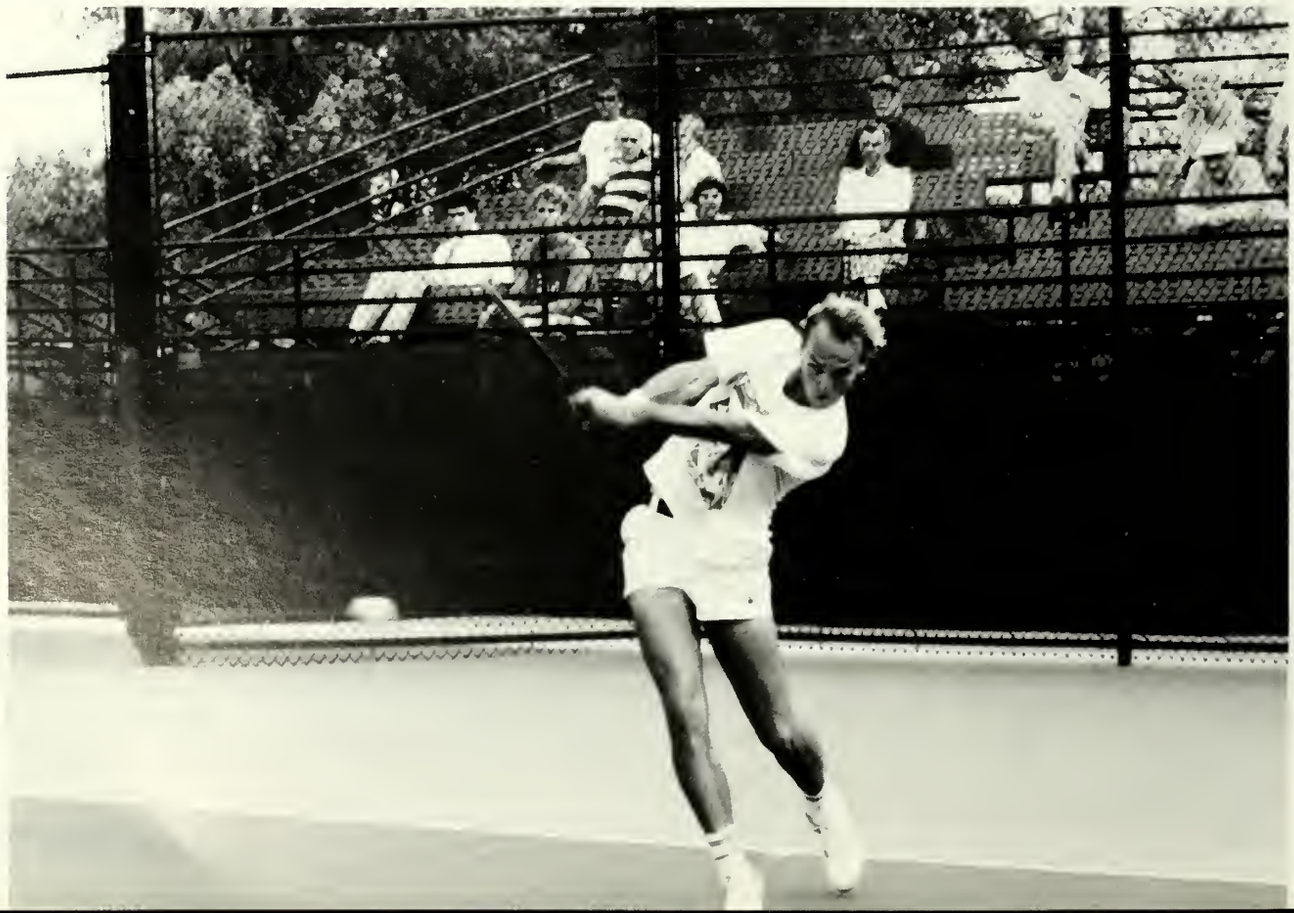
Coach Norm Copeland observes Don Martin from the other side of the fence. Photo by A. Abril

Andy Platt stretches the point! Photo by A. Abril



Take that!! Andy Platt serves up an ace. Photo by A. Abril

Rolf Bonnell returns a serve that even Lendl would have difficulty with. Photo by A. Abril



Love, nothing!! Don Martin shows no kindness as he smashes the ball. Photo by A. Abril

Barry Pelts eyes his opponent as he serves for the advantage. Photo by A. Abril

Waterskiing

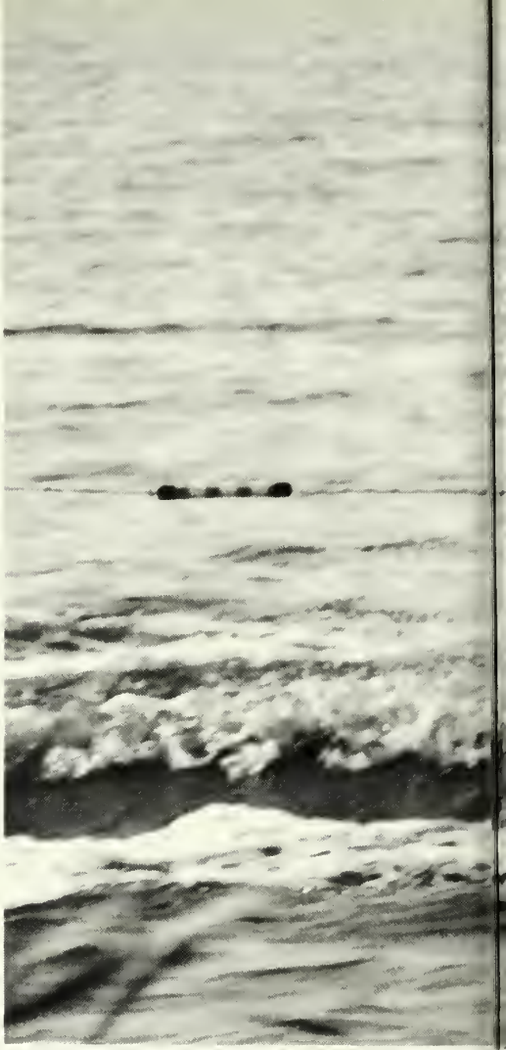
Yee ha!! Chad Richard literally flies through the air during the slalom competition. Photo by T. Haynes

Front (L to R): Helena Kjellender, Brenda Nichols, Kim Laskoff, Jennifer Johnson, Stephanie Johnson. Back (L to R): Coach Warren Witherall, Drew Ross, Russ Gay, Chad Richard, Mike Roddenmark, Rusty Weidel.

Lasty Year's World Slalom Champion, Kim Laskoff, amidst a sea of spray. Photo courtesy of K. Laskoff

"Flip" Wilson?? No, it's Russ Gay showing off his skiing abilities!! Photo by T. Haynes



I meant to do that! Is Chad Richard in for more than he bargained for, or what? Photo by T. Haynes

Who's pulling who? Britt Larsen practices in Rollins' backyard — Lake Virginia. Photo by T. Haynes

Tricky, tricky. Russ Gay gets the rope wrapped around his leg, or does he? Photo by T. Haynes

No sweat!! Helena Kjellender shows us how much more skiing talent she has in her little toe than most of us have in our whole bodies! Photo by T. Haynes

Golf

Peter Brady, Rick Southwick, Jon Oaks, Arnold Palmer, John Williams, Todd Renner, Tom Grey, Larry Levinson.

Bettina Walker, Sarah Johnson, Sandy Scandrett, Coach Debbie Austin.

Men's tennis — Graham Kimpton gets a little action. Photo by H. Hughes

Oh no!! Doug Dvorak hits another home run and loses yet another ball!! Photo by A. Abril

Slam bam thank you Cam! Cameron Forbes slam dunks for two for the Tars. Photo by R. Hartley

I'll bet Fred Astaire couldn't do this!! Tawn Larsen does a little trick skiing on Lake Virginia. Photo by T. Haynes

Hit it to the fat one, he can't catch. Dan Garrison gives Larry Pijanowski some last minute batting advice. Photo by J. Sloan

Intramural softball kept everyone out of the library for most of Spring term. Photo by H. Hughes

Marnie Kalil enjoys the joke with Jacci Wozniak outside the field house. The volleyball team didn't let a tournament keep them from catching some rays. Photo by J. Sloan

Don Martin shows Dan Sallick a few pointers. Photo by H. Hughes

Campus Life

Half-time Taking a break for ten minutes in between halves, Tom Grey grabs a quick drink of water on the Sandspur before going back out on the field. Photo by A. Abril.

Transformations

A personal expression

Decorating, students made rooms

Dorm rooms were expressions of personality. Even though they may have looked the same at first, they quickly took on an appearance of their own. From lofts to bunkbeds, Laura Ashley to tapestries, much variation existed in the decor of students' rooms in the residence halls. The rooms illustrated an individual's preference in color and style — with a little help from Aaron Rents! Many people adorned their rooms with the latest in equipment; VCR's, t.v.'s, CD players, microwaves, refrigerators and blenders. It often looked like an appliance center. Some displayed pictures from their world travels while others displayed posters of Bob Marley, Jim Morrison or the Grateful Dead. Each room was an expression of individuality.

The X-perience outside Clubbers (Matt Harrigan, Brian Boone, Steve Sands, John Amos, Dave Rotenberg, and Courtland Boyle) sitting on the front steps on any day is a common sight. Photo by H. Hughes.

Hello, I love you Seeking a semi-private spot to call her boyfriend Sam Arteburn, Kellee Johnson uses the phone inside the Student Center. Photo by H. Hughes.

Women and children first Not wanting to eat at Beans and not feeling like going out for dinner, Jen Brown and Britt Larsen decide on something to fix in the kitchen of Pflug Hall. Photo by H. Hughes.

The polterzeis next door With Olin library being closed for the day, Chris Kyle, Amy Chinnery, and Kevin O'Barr relax in Kyle and O'Barr's room in Pinehurst to study. Photo by H. Hughes.

Pains and pleasures

Of off-campus housing

Trying to fit a seven or a twelve month lease in to nine months of classes was only the first in a long line of problems for the off-campus student. Transportation to and from school was needed whether it was a bicycle or a car or shoe leather.

To some the aggravations presented by living off campus were a small price to pay for peace and quiet and total independence, however, to others, it was just one hassle after another. All transfer students were required to live off campus due to lack of housing.

Erin Higgins, a sophomore transfer from Florida State University, said, "I couldn't believe it when they said I had to find a place to live. Coming in as a transfer it was difficult to meet people, but being away from everything made it doubly hard. I was really glad to get on second semester when spaces opened up."

After being in a dorm room for two or three years, some students just wanted a little more space and privacy. Even though it meant fighting traffic, long walks, or ten minute bike rides, the freedom that came with a place of one's own was worth the sacrifice.

The Off-campus Student Lounge on the corner of the Mills Memorial Center gave the students a little resting area to watch T.V., grab a cold drink, take a nap, or even do a little studying. They could get to know other students during their free time, sometimes even managing to work a car pool.

Whether to get away from the hectic life of the residence halls or to simply have a place without school restrictions, the benefits of living off-campus for some students were worth it.

Look here Off-campus student Tina Hurt puts an advertisement up on the kiosk in front of Beans for a roommate to share her apartment with. Photo by H. Hughes.

Lounging around The Off-Campus Student Lounge located in the Mills Center provided students without dorm rooms a place to crash inbetween classes. Photo by H. Hughes.

Miles to go Unlocking his bike from the rack in front of the Crummer building after his economics class, Guy Famiglietti starts on the ten minute ride to his apartment in Winter Park. Photo by H. Hughes.

From Paris, U.S.A. With time to kill before an appointment, Myriam Capin does a little reading on the front ledge of the Olin library. Photo by H. Hughes.

Casino night clubbing Checking in at the door, Andrew White and Annie Hughes show their I.D.'s to the doorkeeper Steve Eckna and get their hands marked with a red "X" so that they can drink. Photo by H. Hughes.

Not only do I knock them out, I pick the round Getting ready for a night out at Visage, Tori Bonelli does some last minute primping on her bangs. Photo by H. Hughes.

When the sun went down

Shadows moved from dorms to dance floors

Fads came and fads went but the night life was always a unique and important part of the times. The old neighborhood hot spots, Two Flights, Crock Club, Decades, Harpers and PR's all were flooded with Rollins students on the weeknights. In fact, each night of the week had its own specially designated bar and that was the "in" place to be. A strange phenomenon was that kids always went out in a group to the "in" places for the evening, however, it was always a mystery as to how these bars were matched to particular nights. Of Wednesday and Thursday nights, Rich Tagg said, "People are everywhere except on campus doing homework."

For those who enjoyed a more relaxed atmosphere with mixed drinks, there were places like the No Name Bar and Grill and Harpers. Alyson Austin said, "No Name is a really nice compromise between Two Flights and PR's. People who don't normally come together, do here."

Looking to dance the night away, Visage, J. J. Whispers, and Park Ave. were lots of fun. On Tuesdays, CJ's had the best beer around with quarter draws. It didn't matter where they went as long as students were together. Looking around, there were the same groups of people, just different surroundings. On the weekends, it seemed most partying took place right on campus, which was great because it brought everyone closer together as a college community. Kim Laskoff said, "The open parties on campus are great because everyone is included." There was something for everyone.

Twenty-one and holding Rick Wedge sits down beside Jennifer Miller at No Name Bar and Grill to playfully give her a hard time about her I.D. Photo by J. Sloan.

Can I have this dance? At X-Club's annual Casino Night, Brian Nolan leans on his buddy Dana Hoffman after gambling away all their play dough. Photo by H. Hughes

Bump bump Bubba Scales returns a ball from Mark Collina during a warm-up before a game with Sig-Ep. Photo by H. Hughes.

The slammer Spiking the ball past two players from the opposing team, Lance Howden helps lead the Indies to the volleyball finals. Photo by H. Hughes.

No guts, no glory

Intramurals were supposedly all in fun

A crowd of guys sitting together on the metal bleachers scream and shake their fists at a call made by the referee. The stakes are not high and they don't even belong to either team on the field. In fact, they are only waiting for the game to end so that they can warm up for their own match.

This was a regular scene at the Sandspur Stadium, the Enyart-Alumni Field house or wherever an intramural sporting event was being held. The spectators were often heatedly involved in the game from the stands. Being a player on the team only made matters worse, especially if there was any group rivalry involved. During quite a few games in various sports between any combination of teams, little squabbles blew up into very dirty playing on the field.

In sports like tennis or volleyball, things didn't get so hot on the court, but the screaming was just as loud. It was group pride that was on the line. Off the field, life wasn't so intense. Getting called on a foul just added a little spice and gave the recipient a story to tell.

Pidge's legacy Catching a fly ball, Steve O'Dell of Chi Psi makes the final out of the game in a match against X-Club. Photo by H. Hughes.

Up for grabs In a Phi Delt versus X-Club game, Mark Carlin and Tim Broderson fight for the pass. Photo by A. Abril.

Is that legal? Jumping up in front of Clubber Rich Eustis, Phi Delt Joe Mahan tries to intercept the ball. Photo by A. Abril.

Fox Day

Back by popular demand

The sun was barely breaking the horizon when Francis Mendez rolled out of bed to answer his phone.

"Hello . . . "

"Francis! Get out of bed and meet us in the parking lot by my car," Deanna Furness screams, "It's Fox Day!"

Phones rang all over campus seconds after the bells in Knowles Chapel. If students decided to sleep through the early morning festivities it wasn't because they weren't notified. Ambitious ones shuffled over to President Seymour's office for balloons, doughnuts, coffee, and official Fox Day certificates. After that, some still in pajamas headed back to their rooms to regroup and head to the beach on the east coast. Some took the day to catch up on sleep or homework, but with all classes canceled and all the staff excused for the day, most did not study.

Later in the afternoon, there was a barbeque on the Mills lawn with a band playing in front of Gale Hall. Students and faculty alike sat, ate, drank and played football or frisbee until the sun went down and the fox was put away for another year.

Back in 1990 The fox gets wheeled back to President Seymour's office with the help of Brendan Contant and Rich Eustis after a successful afternoon celebration. Photo by A. Abril.

Early birds Inspecting the fox, Noelle Neilson and Amy Chinnery hold the balloons and certificates they got from President Seymour's office. Photo by H. Hughes.

Pledge duty Up and out of bed at the sound of the bells, the Chi Psi pledges gather around the fox on Mills lawn for photos and later, an early breakfast. Photo by H. Hughes.

Top 100 Sharing a joke outside President Seymour's office, Julie Sloan, Erin Foley, Gigi Collimore, Hillary Root, Barbara Povalski, and Emily Janec get Fox Day certificates, but weren't early enough for balloons. Photo by H. Hughes.

Historical event of 1527 Before the exam questions are handed out, Katherine Croydenberg and Mimi Herrington clear their desks for an 8:00 A.M. exam with Dr. Lemon on Italian art. Photo by H. Hughes.

The next best thing to a hangover Spaced at least one seat apart, Albert Perez and Melissa Burnside take their psychology final in the Bush building. Photo by H. Hughes.

Writing on The Dead Filling up blue books, Lisa Huffman and Kim Steinberg carefully write essays for Dr. Roy Starling's E204 class. Photo by H. Hughes.

Watching p's and q's Writing Center Consultant Annie Hall looks over a term paper and makes suggestions on improving it. Photo by H. Hughes.

The real hell week

Seven days that felt like a month

Bleary-eyed students shuffling out of the library at midnight or later generally indicated the worst days of the semester . . . final exams. The last days of the term, when what seemed like every assignment imaginable came due, forced students to the library in droves. Fortunate students were able to concentrate in the privacy and comfort of their dorm room, studying through the screaming, laughter, or blasting music of the hall.

Stress relief appeared in many forms for each student. Care packages straight from home arrived in the mail by the dozens while the Alumni office and Student Government Association also delivered fresh batches of study snacks straight to the dorm room of a weary student. Of course there was always Harper's, No Name's or any of the established spots on Park Avenue to soothe even the most strung out of nerves. The officially sanctioned midnight screams, where students went outside or stuck their heads out of windows and hollered to the high heavens as a study break, went over sufficiently loudly each night before an exam day. Nothing was in shorter supply during final week or the few days leading up to it than good, old fashioned sleep.

Whether they pulled all-nighters or prepared for weeks in advance, sitting for two hour mind-scrambling exams wasn't at the top of anyone's Christmas list, but they came around twice a year anyway.

For final-sized headaches Stopping to talk to Tracy Roller, Christine Faas walks back to her dorm with a bottle of Examprin sent to her by her parents. Photo by H. Hughes.

Last minute rush Books spread across the table and settled in for the night, Brandon Eyerly starts studying for a final two days away. Photo by H. Hughes.

Caped Batmen

Privately graduating the black

Under a clear sunny sky in the lovely Knowles Memorial Chapel Garden, family, friends, teammates and faculty gathered for a small graduation ceremony for the senior class members of the baseball team.

After winning the Sunshine State Conference, the Tars were on their way to Tuscaloosa, Alabama for the Division I College World Series of Baseball under Coach Boyd Coffie. This meant, however, that the seniors on the team would have to miss the regular commencement activities on Sunday, May 28 in order to go.

The ceremony was complete with mini-speeches from everyone who would normally speak on Sunday, including Valedictorian Kirsten Dellinger. The crowd cheered and applauded at the close of the ceremony with hugs and tears for all.

Senior section Listening to Dr. Hoyt Edge, Kurt Koehler, Doug Flynn, Mark Camille and Joe Bellini wait patiently through the speeches. Photo by J. Sloan.

Congratulations Athletic Director Gordie Howell congratulates Matt Meyer immediately after the closing of the ceremony. Photo by J. Sloan.

Four years later Just before receiving his diploma from President Seymour, Larry Pijnowski stands in front of Dean Steve Neilson and Dr. Barbara Carson. Photo by J. Sloan.

Tall, dark and tassled Walking into the Knowles Garden, Joe Bellini leads the way to the ceremony and waiting friends and relatives. Photo by J. Sloan.

I'll keep it short Kirsten Dellinger delivers an abridged version of the speech she would use at the regular commencement on Sunday. Photo by J. Sloan.

Peace of mine On the walk to the Enyart- Alumni Fieldhouse, Jesse Wolfe holds up a peace sign for a graduate a few feet down the procession from him. Photo by J. Chisdes.

Walk of Fame With the ceremony starting at 2:00, students lined up in alphabetical order in the Knowles Chapel and then followed in line to the fieldhouse. Photo by J. Chisdes.

Shake on it Up on stage, John Sanfacon receives his diploma from President Seymour in the fieldhouse. Photo by J. Chisdes.

ROLLINS COLLEGE

The President
Campus Box 2711
Winter Park, FL 32789-4499
407/646-2120
FAX #407-646-2600

May 28, 1989

As the Class of 1989 graduates from Rollins, we pass into a new era and a new century. You are the last link with our Centennial Celebration on November 4, 1985. That was in your freshman year, and no future class will remember the tintinnabulation of the Knowles Chapel bell tolling one hundred times or the thunder of the fireworks which exploded over Lake Virginia at one second after midnight.

You have seen the transformation of Rollins College, and you have yourselves been central to the process. The developments in the campus and its facilities, the national recognition for the quality and the reputation of the College, and the steady rise both in our applications and our endowment -- all signify the transformation of your alma mater from its young First Century to its confident and mature Second Century.

Commencement is always bittersweet. All of us are very proud of your achievements and grateful for your friendship. We join in congratulations, but we are sad to see you leave.

When you entered four years ago, I said that "Rollins will be a part of you for the rest of your lives." Now the "rest of your life" is about to begin, and I hope devoutly that you will stay close to Rollins and be the steward of its future welfare. I look forward to seeing you back on the campus soon and often.

Thaddeus Seymour
President

/cr

An equal opportunity / affirmative action college.

Bye-bye Sandspur Holding the flag in front of the Annie Russell Theatre, Lori Sordyl waits to take a seat in the Knowles Chapel. Photo by J. Chisdes.

4MY

Advertisements

The unexpected arrival of a $16,000.00 bill from the 1988 Tomokan staff buried the accounting balance of the budget for the Transformations under the line. Allowances by the Administration were generously made for a while, but towards the end Editor Julie Sloan and her staff took a few financial responsibilities on themselves. A little extra money was pulled out of the community to support a desperate yearbook. A handful of staffers armed with empty ad contract books went up and down Park Avenue soliciting ads from businesses, friends and relatives. In one unusual instance, an associated group of students actually approached Sloan about possibly buying a full page black and white ad. Letters were sent out to parents regarding little note spaces for their student or even a congratulations for their graduate, but the response was nil.

Bit by precious bit, ad money came in, funding film, developing and printing costs and shipping charges, however, it wasn't enough or in time. The difficulties faced near commencement, a broken laser printer, a $129.00 toner cartridge and $150.00 worth of shipping charges, made staffers resolve to at least double the size of the ad section starting in September of 1989. "We want groups of kids, five, ten, twenty, whatever, to get together and have a neat picture taken by a staff photographer for the ads section," said Mora Moran. "It would be great if this or that group of pledges, a bunch of freshmen or even two or three graduating seniors dressed up in 1920's style or whatever they want, went to an interesting location and had their picture taken for the yearbook. We even want to take photos at the businesses who take out ads and put students in them. There's a much bigger and better response to ads when it's done this way."

The search for a business manager for the Tomokan to handle bills and contracts, soliciting new advertisers in school and the greater community, as well as keeping track of publishing contract costs, was started in May without success. "The Marines are looking for a few good men. We only need one," said Tracy Roller.

The circumstances of the previous year left the staff leaving school for the summer still in the hole. A plan was in the works, but there was still unpaid bills left that wouldn't be taken care of until things were in order the following year. The ads section provided temporary relief, but not enough.

Tommy, the man, the legend Although not at every event, Tommy Tar, also known as Chris Lich, perks up the home crowd and irks the opposing team at a soccer game on the Sandspur. Photo by A. Abril.

Transformations

Polo Ralph Lauren

DANIEL J. PEREZ, Manager

130 NORTH PARK AVENUE • WINTER PARK, FL. 32789 • 407-647-6999

WINTER PARK TRAVEL
348 Park Avenue South
Post Office Box J
Winter Park, Florida 32790

No charge for our service
Telephone 645-4444

Perfumery on Park, inc.

Perfumery on Park, inc.
112 Park Avenue South
Winter Park, Florida 32789
(305) 647-4114

sharro

216 Park Avenue South
Winter Park, Florida
629-7270

Fourth Floor Ward

In review of a certifiable year, the resident maniacs hereby leave the following to each other: Emily, Emory, Janice, Prancer: a white guy who can dance, a card game you can win against Pete, more stwawbewy candy, looloolooloohoo and a bottle of Tuscany. Cathleen: a room of your own, an endless supply of Heineken, a day without shopping, a credit card at Caswell & Massey and a weekend at school. Kim: a "friend" that's not four states away, a date with your "cute neighboor," a day without buying make-up and permanent membership at the Gap. Vic: a roommate you can get along with, a guy who's not a scumbag, unlimited credit at Drug Emporium, a day without complaints and rose-colored beer goggles. Jamie: a steady boyfriend, permission to go formals, a frown, permission to waterski everyday and a relationship counselor. Teresa: a night out you can talk about, a place to keep your keys, someone else to be designated driver and a cute principal to date. Angie: thirty-something, a date with you know who, a drink, a night without a phone call from C and a day without shoulderpads. Cheri: a day without your shadow, "brains of a cantalope, "a night out you can remember. Tracy R: an athletic department of her own, an endless supply of vodka and a major you don't have to study for. Lauren: a minute without Scott, permission to be loud, a week without feeling sick, nachos from Down Under. Alyson: a Sig-Ep of your own, funds for a new elevator in Ward and a double date with your new neighbor. Christy: a thumper sign you can do in public and a green card for Ireland. Kristy: a day without sunning, a raisin to cuddle, an ex-roommate who'll still talk to you. Kiki: a pizza man to date, free storage for life. Julie: a hard man who's good to find, Mr. Right Now, a minute without yearbook, a key to the Captain Morgan's factory, "I said what last night?" and an uncomplicated love life — HT aloha!

KENNEDY STUDIOS

ROBERT G. JOCHAM, JR.
KAREN B. JOCHAM

Graphics and Framing

513 Park Avenue South
Winter Park, Florida
(305) 629-9129

Out-Bits

Flowers Plants Creative Arts and Crafts

Full Service Florist, Unique Gifts

Wire Services — Local Delivery
10% Discount on Flower Order with Valid Rollins I. D.
331 Park Avenue South 647-5127

GAMES PEOPLE PLAY

2716 Forsyth Road
Winter Park, Florida 32792

USA SCHO
S90M745-5

Gary Lambert

salon

517 Park Avenue South
Winter Park, Florida 32789
(407) 628-8659

ONE SOURCE COMMUNICATIONS
TELEPHONE INTERCONNECT SYSTEMS

BABBITT - DICTOGRAPH TELECOMMUNICATIONS

RALPH W. BABBITT, JR.
OWNER

4718 EDGEWATER DRIVE
ORLANDO, FL 32804
PHONE: 305-291-8815

Congratulations Cathleen

PARK AVENUE COMPACT DISCS
528 PARK AVENUE SOUTH WINTER PARK, FLORIDA 32789

STEPHEN & DENISE ALLEN — Owners
(407) 629-5293

HARTLEY GALLERY
202 Park Avenue Sauth Winter Park, Florida 32789 (407) 645-0234

TERESA H. DUDA JOSEPH L. CONNEEN, JR.

ΦM The # Pride is Back

SUN TRAVEL

Vacation/Leisure Travel Specialists

Individual and Group Tours
Cruises * Custom Ski Packages
Vacation/Break Planning * Weekend Get-Aways

Saturday appointments available

339 Park Avenue South
Winter Park, FL 32789
(407) 740-5252

Located on the corner of Lyman and Park Avenue across from the Winter Park Police Station

bangz Salons
Full Service
228 Park Ave. N. / Winter Park, FL 32789
ring 645-2264
32 E. Pine St. / Orlando, FL 32801
ring 425-4844

Doffy rap: Yo baby Yo baby Yo baby Yo! So, oh! You got on ego — No! Are you looking at me? No! You made bh the light of my life and sleeping on the top bunk something to be afraid of. I'll always remember the house of the golden ball where the men are men and the sheep are scared. One more year to go. We can fix the blue flash and terrarize Doffy and duck jr. Sputnik's in order, rising in bull territory. Consider yourself lucky that "Whussup" 's snapping fingers don't run in Russian blood — or do they? (No crabs here!) (scorpions either) I'm coming back packin — reach ya to knock a ring off a z at 20 paces partner. Catch a ride to miamO to see baby ma and do some damage to a family name. (And if we decide to do mach 1, we'll check and see if the pmup retow works first!) Special mention for Kip, Randy, Billy Ray, the tomato, I-4, Jenny, Kimberly, the Q-tip, Big Boy,I all gods, demi-gods & immortals, and especially Judy's 1 & 2 for making life interesting. Slam, jam, thank-you ma'am!

Saint Charles Borromeo Catholic School

Grades Pre-K Thru 8

Strong Academic & Sports Program

60 Acre Campus Which Also Houses Bishop
Moore High School
and
Morning Star School
(Special Education)

4005 Edgewater Drive
Orlando, Florida 32804
(407) 293-7691

Colophon

The 1989 Tomokan was printed on glossy 80 pound Bordeaux paper stock. The book has a custom embossed cover designed by Julie Sloan with Bingham Script type style, Cordova grain, and a cover board of 160 point weight. The custom endsheets were also designed by Julie Sloan. The Tomokan has 304 pages, a trim size of 9x12, 48 of which are in color, and 1400 copies in print at an estimated production cost of $30,000. The book was printed in Montgomery, Alabama by Herff Jones. Special thanks to a great Herff Jones representative, Doug Demaree.

Tomokan Staff 1989

Editor-in-Chief.....Julie Sloan

Opening Editor.....Halyn Hughes

Campus Life Editor.....Halyn Hughes

Sports Editors.....Kerry Beverly

.....David Stein

Organizations Editor.....Chip Tedeschi

Underclassmen Editor .....Deirdre O'Haire

Seniors Editor .....Tracy Roller

Faculty/Staff Editors.....Julie Sloan

.....Judi Chisdes

Photography Editors.....Winston Carney

.....Rebecca Peele

Advertisement Editor .....Halyn Hughes

Closing Editor .....Halyn Hughes

Staff: Cammy Chapman, Kim Colquitt, Cathleen Craft, Emily Janec, Susan Khan, Jamie McLennan, Mora Moran, Krisztina Mueller, Steffi Nelson, Teresa Scar, Miranda Stanfield and Victoria Wochna.

The 1989 Tomokan staff would like to thank Doug Demaree, Durinda Strock and Herff Jones in Montgomery, Alabama, Ruth Weiss, Andres Abril, Campus Security, K. O. Cine, Alvin Ross, everyone who loaned typewriters and all of our advertisers.

Send your friends a note! Congratulate a graduate! Put a fun photo of your friends or organization in the yearbook! Invest in your college memories—get an ad and personalize your yearbook! For more information contact the Tomokan at 646-2393.

Who is George? At the Victory '88 office in Orlando, local head quarters for the Bush/Quayle campaign, College Republicans help out stuffing envelopes. Photo by A. Abril.

Things were changing

Little by Little

Weeks, months passed by after the Summit, leaving students wondering what really happened and whether "the Summit in action was to be taken seriously or just as a catch phrase." Things were relatively back to normal with only minor rumblings of a long gone Summit. No one really expected student life to be miraculously transfigured overnight but, . . . there was a greater hope of more than resulted.

Thirty-six recommendations and suggestions were approved by a committee comprised of students, faculty and staff from the Campus Life Summit Steering Committee. The enthusiasm and excitement generated by the realization of the potential changes fizzled by the end of the year when satisfaction wasn't immediate, but what little was accomplished was a step in the right direction.

Mick, Keith and Bill Following an uncontrolable urge to sing, Mike Salmon, Todd LaSota and John Koestner jump on stage and jam with Derek and the Slammers at Octoberfest at Alfond Stadium, Photo by A. Abril.

007 ½ At an art show on Holt Avenue in October, Cedric Gaskin wanders around looking at the exhibits. Photo by A. Abril.

Queen of hearts On a sunny day too nice to sit inside, Beth Blakely and boyfriend, Mike Brewski, play cards out on the patio behind the Old Student Center.

. . . 3 . . . 2 . . . 1 Students and staff gather behind the boathouse to watch the early morning launch of the space shuttle Discovery from Cape Canaveral, Florida. Photo by A. Abril.

Jolly Rolly Colly

But first a school

Sure there were parties. Finished with class and studying, students headed every which way for a good time, a little music and comradery. During the days, the pool deck was splattered with oiled bodies skipping lunch and sometimes class to brown in the vibrant sun, when most areas were buried in the dead of winter.

Blowing off responsibility was always a part of student life, however, even as they grumbled for kegs on campus, they did not neglect looking beyond the sheltered boundaries of college life. Learning, about Shakespeare, the stock market, dealing with roommates and red tape, or whatever, was the principle focus of the student.

Extending past Holt Avenue to presidential campaign headquarters, students volunteered their time for a cause they felt worthy. Picking a day, arm bands were worn in remembrance of all victims of the Holocaust. Led by groups such as Greenhouse, they rallied over the environmental issues, rolling their eyes and shaking their heads at the miles of Alaskan shoreline destroyed by a negligent captain of an oil tanker.

The students that boasted of their school as being a four year vacation at the world's most expensive tanning resort with a $64,000.00 cover charge were more actively involved in a better education than many cared to admit. The attitude was changing, a little bit here, a little bit there, as each consecutive freshman class came in better than the last. The social priorities would never disappear or take a back seat completely, but it was a first a school.

Crowded house Sometimes when the library is noisy or the day is gorgeous, students like Peter Burrows find a nook and get to work. Photo by H. Hughes.

Having a world at your fingertips Before lifting it to treetop heights, Woody Nash and Beth Blakely paint a giant globe for an environmental awareness gathering on Mills lawn in April. Photo by A. Abril.

Made in the shade Up in the box on the Sandspur field, Todd LeSota and Gus Ramsey watch a Chi Psi/X Club softball game. Photo by H. Hughes.

One last look After a few hands of cards, Dana Hoffman and Brian Nolan play around for laughs at X Club's Casino Night. Photo by H. Hughes.

Transformations

Country Club
ROLLINS COLLEGE
FIAT LUX
WINTER PARK, FLA.
MDCCCLXXXV